PURCHASE OF LIQUOR NOW GREAT ISSUE

Request for High Court Ruling Adds to Congressional Interest in Bill

BOTH SIDES AROUSED

If Sheppard Proposal Becomes Law Court Must Decide Its Validity

BULLETIN

Washington — (AP) — Attorney General Mitchell said today a determination of the validity of the purchase of bootleg liquor could be obtained only through the arrest and conviction for actual purchase and then the carrying of the case to the supreme court.

Washington — Shall the actual intoxicating liquors be made a crime? The request of the federal prohibition administrators in Philadelphia that the department of justice obtain a ruling from the supreme court of the United States is likely to add to the interest which congress has already given the problem through the proposed Sheppard bill.

Doubt as to whether such a law prohibiting purchase of liquor would be constitutional because the eighteenth amendment makes no mention of purchase has been expressed by opponents of the bill.

While the circuit court of appeals in Philadelphia held that the purchase of liquor could not be penalized, federal judge Dawson of Philadelphia has instructed the grand jury to return indictments against the bureau of liquor.

Washington act says: "No one shall purchase any liquor without a permit to do so."

It is pointed out that the purchase of liquor without a permit is a crime under the act. If Senator Sheppard's proposal should become law it also would have to be interpreted by the supreme court of the United States before its validity could be determined.

The eighteenth amendment prohibits the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquor. The point is whether the word sale means to include only the seller and not the buyer or whether the word sale implies two parties.

The drys realize of course that logically they should make every effort to include the purchaser, because without this patronage the bootlegger would not thrive. The wets on the other hand are confident that if the word sale is literally interpreted and the thousands of people

800 PRESENT AT DINNER IN HONOR OF INVENTOR

Orange, N. J. — (AP) — Thomas A. Edison, making his first public appearance since his recent attack of pneumonia, was hailed by 800 friends and neighbors at a dinner last night commemorating the 50th anniversary of his invention of the electric light.

William H. Meadowcroft, secretary to Mr. Edison for almost half a century, was one of the speakers and told of his first meeting with the aged inventor. He had descended in a dingy cellar on the east side of New York filled with a "weird jumble of iron contraptions," he said, and there found Mr. Edison fast asleep on a pile of iron pipe with only his rolled-up coat for a pillow. He said he has been with him ever since.

Earlier in the day Mr. Edison said his first visit to his laboratory since he was stricken ill last August. He plans to leave on Friday for Dearborn, Mich., to take part in a golden jubilee celebration of the electric light there.

FEDERAL MEN NAB ARSENAL IN MANSION

Radio Station, 32 Men, Quantities of Liquor Seized During Raids

New York — (AP) — Foreign agencies in England and in Canada, were linked today by federal attorneys with the $1,000,000 rum smuggling syndicate whose fortified arsenal, radio station, and warehouses extending all the way from Highlands, N. J., to Atlantic City were simultaneously raided by federal agents and New Jersey state troopers last night.

Both U. S. Attorney Charles H. Tuttle and Assistant U. S. Attorney Robert Watts referred to the syndicate as "an international ring, with agencies in England, Canada, and elsewhere."

At the same time they revealed that the syndicate operated not only along the Jersey coast but practically controlled all illegal importation of liquor from Maine to the Virginia capes.

Mr. Watts said the ring had "financial connections with American banks" but whether this meant that the banks were actually engaged in financing its operations or merely carrying its accounts was not made clear.

"This ring not only was conducting smuggling of contraband on an enormous scale, with ramifications in England, Canada and elsewhere," said Mr. Tuttle, "but was, by practices which will be revealed in the course of prosecution, virtually monopolizing this business of illegal importations."

TO PUSH PROSECUTION

Mr. Tuttle said prosecution of more than a dozen premises arrested in connection with last night's raids would be carried forward at once.

Inquiry today at the local offices of the coast guard and the customs bureau revealed that neither office had been told in advance what the program of last night's raids was to be.

Six coast guard cutters, which worked during the raids in Pairs off Sandy Hook, city island and Montauk Point, were dispatched out of the New London, Conn., base, under sealed orders that had come from Washington.

The orders assigned the destroyed to assist 10 customs bureau speed

CANADIAN VETS BACK PREMIER FOR PEACE

Montreal — (AP) — Assuring Ramsay MacDonald, of the most sincere cooperation in his effort for world peace, Sir Arthur Currie, war-time commander of the Canadian corps, has sent the British premier a telegram extending a welcome to Canada on behalf of the Canadian legion, British Empire Service League, of which he is president. The telegram read: "The Canadian legion, British Empire Service League, gives you a hearty welcome to Canada. We offer you our sincere cooperation in your splendid efforts to secure peace among the nations. We know the meaning of war, with its horrors and its heartaches, its privations and its wounds and cheers and we speak of peace with the authority of service. We greet with joy the new spirit that is abroad in the world. We pledge ourselves as we shared our empire struggle for victory, so we will support every effort for everlasting peace."

Report 200 Slain As Russ Invade Chinese Village

Harbin, Manchuria — (AP) — There were reports here today Soviet troops yesterday raided the village of Urovoosk on the east side of northwestern Manchuria, killing 200 Russian and Chinese residents of the place.

"Tokio — (AP) — Russian forces apparently have withdrawn from central Manchuria after one of the most extensive raids in the history of the present Soviet-Chinese conflict.

Rengo dispatches from Harbin, Manchuria, today said the Soviet troops had retired to the Russian frontier after penetrating more than 100 miles inland along the Sungari river to near Hsin (Samsing) and Fugdin (also Fuchin).

Shen Hung-Lieh, commanding Chinese Sungari river forces, sent the following communique to Harbin:

"The Soviet force which occupied Linkiangshien on the night of Oct. 12, second the Sungari in overwhelming numbers, consequently gravely endangering Fuchin and Hwangchuan.

IRREGULAR HABITS HELP SPANISH KING, PHYSICIAN CLAIMS

Chicago — (AP) — King Alfonso of Spain is in "beautiful health," his personal physician, Viscount Aguilar, said today, because "he has never been a man of regular habits." Viscount Aguilar is attending the American College of Surgeons.

"My sovereign has never been a slave to regular diet, regular sleep, regular exercises, or regular anything else. He is not so stupid," the physician said. "Consequently at the age of 43 he is in beautiful health, and he has never had a serious illness in his life."

"The only worry he causes me arises from the fact he is so busy he does not get enough sleep—in my opinion. Even kings should sleep eight hours, but he only gets about six and a half."

"Perhaps it is his moderation in eating and drinking which counteracts the bad effects of insufficient sleep. He eats less than half the amount the average man does, and he drinks very lightly."

Jury Holds Schinke Is Not Guilty

Alvin Schinke, 1124 N. Richmond st., was acquitted by a jury in circuit court Wednesday afternoon of a charge of manslaughter in the fourth degree. The jury deliberated only 15 minutes, retiring about 4:15 and returning a verdict at 4:30.

Schinke was arrested after the death of Edward Gastrock in August, 1928. Gastrock died of injury to his bowels, resulting from a blast from a high pressure hose.

The accident occurred as Schinke was blowing lime dust from Gastrock's clothing. Both men were members of a work crew at the Riverside Fibre and Paper company. Schinke testified that they had been in the practice of using the air hose to blow the dust particles from their clothing after working in lime.

As he was blowing the dust from Gastrock's back, Schinke said, the former suddenly jumped. He complained of feeling ill to his stomach, and Gastrock said he got a glass of water for him. A short time later Gastrock's condition became worse and he was taken to the hospital. Peritonitis developed, and he died several days later. Schinke's arrest followed.

REPRIEVES CONDEMNED MAN IN FEAR OF RIOT

Denver — (AP) — Because he feared further trouble at the Colorado State prison in Canon City, where 13 men recently lost their lives in a convict riot, Gov. W. H. Adams has granted a reprieve to Eddie Ivie, condemned to hang this week for a murder in Denver. Warden F. E. Crawford told the governor that with 270 convicts housed in tents pending reconstruction of buildings burned in their riot, serious consequences might result from an execution in the prison. The reprieve is until the week of Dec. 2.

TWO REEDSBURG BANKS VOTE TO CONSOLIDATE

Madison — (AP) — The State Bank of Reedsburg, with assets of $2,000,000, and the Citizens bank there, with assets of nearly $1,000,000, voted Wednesday night to merge. Madison bankers revealed today. Conrad G. Wiesler is president and Victor H. Kansler, cashier of the Citizens bank and the State bank officials and Charles H. Stone, president and W. H. Hahn, cashier. The merger was strengthening of the unified bank financial institution, those who had heard of it here said.

ARMY AND NAVY GAME MAY BECOME REALITY

Annapolis, Md. — (AP) — Willingness to discuss completion of athletic relations with the military academy "at any time" was expressed by Rear Admiral S. S. Robinson, superintendent of the United States Naval academy today, after receiving a telegram from Major General William R. Smith, superintendent of the Army institutions, proposing a conference.

Former Navy Secretary's Assumed Blame in Conspiracy Hearing

Washington — (AP) — Testimony given by the late Edwin Denby, former secretary of the navy, taking responsibility for the awarding of the Elk Hills-Pearl Harbor contract to the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company today was read to the jury hearing the bribery trial of Albert B. Fall.

Fall is charged with having accepted $100,000 from E. L. Doheny for awarding the contract to the Pan-American.

Denby's testimony, as given in the Fall-Doheny conspiracy trial, was placed before the jury in its entirety. In it he had testified he asked the late President Harding to issue an order transferring jurisdiction over the naval oil lands to the department of the interior.

"I took the responsibility," Denby said, "and made the leases whether I wanted to or not."

An effort by government counsel to break down the testimony of Captain J. K. Robinson, retired navy officer, that the final Elk Hills lease awarded only half of the oil reserve to the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company was started today as soon as the Fall bribery case was resumed.

Robinson was a rear admiral in charge of the navy's bureau of engineering at the time the lease was negotiated. He was placed on the stand yesterday by defense counsel in its attempt to disprove charges that Fall accepted the bribe from Doheny for approving the lease.

Owen J. Roberts, for the government, confronted the witness with the lease which he argued awarded all of Elk Hills, except plots already leased, to the Pan-American.

"Frank Hogan, chief defense counsel, announced that Doheny would take the stand late today."

Robinson yesterday testified that Doheny agreed to bid on the Pearl Harbor project only after the latter official had sketched for him the horrors of a war that might come to the Pacific coast, and the necessity of having a fuel supply at Pearl Harbor.

RUMOR SEN. BRANDEGEE WAS VICTIM OF MURDER

Washington — (AP) — The Washington Evening Star says today that Senator Brandegee of South Carolina had received a letter expressing the belief that he had been murdered. The letter, which was dated Oct. 12, 1929, was received by the senator's family in Columbia, S. C. The letter stated that the senator had been murdered in a hotel in New York city on Oct. 12, 1929. The letter also stated that the senator's body had been found in a rooming house in New York city. The letter was signed "John Doe."

SEVEN BURN TO DEATH IN HOTEL FIRE

Twelve Other Persons Injured When Flames Sweep Through Building

Seattle, Wash. — (AP) — Trapped by flames, seven persons lost their lives and twelve others were burned or otherwise injured in a fire that swept through the Portland hotel here early today.

Firemen believed that all bodies had been recovered from the smoldering ruins. Several of the injured were in a critical condition and some were not expected to live.

The cause of the blaze was undetermined. Firemen said the seven who perished probably had suffocated while they slept. None could be identified at once. The building was an old brick structure.

John Fitzhenry, who turned in the alarm, said he saw the fire through a window of the hotel. He added that it looked as if it were burning on a stairway.

The hotel was operated by K. Majeda, a Japanese.

The dead were all white persons.

GUESTS ARE LABORERS

Virtually all of the guests of the hotel were laborers living in the Pacific northwest.

The wife of the Japanese proprietor was the first to be brought to the hospital. Panic-stricken and choked by smoke she opened a window on the third floor of the hotel and leaped to the street. An awning broke her fall but she suffered a broken leg and other injuries.

Seven firemen were overcome by smoke. There was very little blaze but the dense smoke made fire fighting difficult.

Firemen succeeded in extinguishing the flames in less than half an hour. The old building was said by police to be a fire trap.

CAFE AND GARAGE IN COOK-CO ARE BOMBED

Chicago — (AP) — The Golden Lily Cafe on E. Garfield-ave was bombed last night, the explosion driving patrons to the streets in panic. Shortly afterward an Oak Park garage was bombed. Damage was not great in either case.

The cafe bomb was thrown from an alley and exploded at the rear entrance. Police believed the recent supplanting of an orchestra of white musicians by Negro players provided a motive for the attack.

The two bombings brought the total for the year in Cook-co to 104.

BORAH OPTIMISTIC OVER TARIFF BILL

Expects Measure Acceptable to Hoover Will Be Passed This Season

Washington — (AP) — Senator Borah of Idaho said after a call at the White House today that he believed a tariff bill would be passed by congress in a shape which would be acceptable to President Hoover.

The Idaho senator is one of the group of Republican independents opposing the bill in its present form. His conference with the president only lasted a short while.

Borah later said at the capitol that the president had invited him to the White House but he did not feel he could with propriety divulge what took place at the meeting, except that it had to do with the tariff bill. It was recalled that it was Mr. Borah's first visit to the White House since before the debenture contest over the farm bill.

The Idahoan did say he thought the senate would pass the tariff measure this session, perhaps by Nov. 20, but believed final action on the conference report would be delayed until the regular session in December.

"We want to see a bill passed in the shape we want it and we think we can shape it," he asserted.

"Do you believe it will satisfy the farmer?" he was asked.

"I think it will if it ever passes," he replied. Borah reiterated that the western Republicans would do all they could to hasten action by the state.

$30,000 IN GEMS ARE STOLEN FROM DWELLING

Chicago — (AP) — Gem thieves stole $30,000 in jewelry from the Wilmette home of Albert E. Cross, grain broker, during the absence of the Cross family on Sept. 12, the suburban police have revealed. Police suppressed news of the robbery until today.

The robbery was the second on the north shore to be revealed within the past two weeks. The other was the theft of $12,000 in gems from the Highland Park home of Martin J. Insull.

FIRING SQUAD KILLS ELECTION DAY RIOTER

Pala, Italy — (AP) — Vladimir Gortan, one of the ringleaders of the Serbian group who were charged with having fired on lines of electors at Palsno last election day was executed by a firing squad today.

A special tribunal yesterday imposed the sentence of death after trial on a specific charge of "offense against the state," a most serious count in Fascist Italy. Four youths, his companions, were given terms of from four to thirty years imprisonment. All were members of the Yugoslavian society "Sokol."

FOND DU LAC RIVER BLAMED FOR ILLNESS

Fond du Lac — (AP) — The Fond du Lac river was blamed today for pollution in the city's drinking water which caused an epidemic of intestinal sickness.

The state board of health determined the source of contamination by pouring salt into an old abandoned well in the new river bed, after walling it with a concrete dam. The salt traces showed up in pumpage yesterday.

Two of Three Brothers Are Sent to Waupun After Years of Terrorism

Montello — (AP) — Blustering terrorism, pillaging, robbery and arson over a period of five years rivaling guerrilla days of Missouri were brought to light at Fond du Lac when two members of a brothers' gangster-triumvirate were sentenced to prison for from one to three years on eight counts in circuit court yesterday. Disruption of the gang, reputed to be the worst in Wisconsin's history, followed a fight over a woman.

The Mularky "mob" was headed by the three Luthario brothers, Gladwin, Kenneth and Clayton. According to sudden confessions of the latter two, the gang had several other members. For years they roamed Marquette-co at will, robbing when they pleased, burning property and otherwise terrorizing citizens who dared oppose them. The band was led, say the younger brothers, by Gladwin, who, after years of penitentiary cooperation, suddenly became a tyrant. Revolt followed.

Gladwin, they said, envisioned himself as a crime-autocrat. His rule, formerly shared by the brothers, was to become absolute. In defiance to the wishes of the younger duo, he planned to organize another gang with increased membership. They stated, to prey on banks and to enlarge their territories of conquest.

The open break came in August, and resulted in the arrest of the two and in their subsequent story to officials.

Women appealed to the three men. Their deeds of terror and their heavy bodies attracted dare-devil worshiping women. The bandit-trio's affairs had always been laughing, boisterous conquests, to themselves. That is, until recently. One woman attracted both Gladwin and Kenneth, said the confessions.

A fight over the woman, resulted in the arrest of Gladwin, who was fined $300 for carrying a gun on a warrant sworn out by his brother. Another fight resulted in the arrest of all three brothers and the confessions.

The sentencing yesterday of Kenneth and Clayton was accompanied by an arson charge against Gladwin, now free on a $4,000 bond. Other warrants are to be sworn out against him, officials say.

GIANT AIRPLANE OFF ON FLIGHT TO BUENOS AIRES

Washington — (AP) — The giant flying boat Buenos Aires of the New York, Rio and Buenos Aires line, took off from the naval air station here shortly before 6 o'clock for the first stage of a flight of which Buenos Aires is the ultimate destination.

Lieutenant William S. Grooch, first pilot, just before swinging the great craft out onto the Potomac for the beginning of its maiden voyage. Grooch is expected to make a stop at Rio de Janeiro, and take off immediately for Jacksonville, reaching the Florida city by night.

The 20-passenger flying boat with its load of four passengers, company officials and extra gear will not attempt to maintain a schedule but Nov. 10, has been set as a tentative date for its arrival in Buenos Aires.

The Buenos Aires was christened by Mrs. Herbert Hoover, shortly after its arrival in Washington two weeks ago, at a ceremony in which the heads of the diplomatic missions of 21 Latin American nations participated. It is the flagship of a fleet of 12 similar flying boats which are destined for passenger service between New York, Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires within the next year.

BINGHAM AND PROBERS IN VERBAL TILTS

BUT DEFENDS ACTION

Asked Manufacturers' Association to "Loan" Services of Expert

Washington — (AP) — One verbal clash after another developed between Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, and members of the senate lobby committee as the former related his employment of Charles L. Eyanson, an officer of the Connecticut Manufacturing association, to assist him on tariff matters at the time the tariff bill was before the senate finance committee.

Bingham said he "possibly made a mistake" in hiring Eyanson but insisted he saw nothing improper about it but Chairman Caraway argued Eyanson had been serving two masters, the government and the association. Replying, Bingham said Eyanson had turned back all money received from the government and the only reason he had been "used upon the pay-roll was so he would be under discipline of the senate."

Several times committee members insisted on "yes and no" answers by the Connecticut senator who at one juncture told Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, that if he would "not be so sarcastic" he would appreciate it.

Walsh explained he had asked the association to "loan" him an expert on tariff who understood the needs of Connecticut as he himself was not familiar with the situation.

QUOTES TAX FIGURES

Walsh estimated the "people of America will contribute by tariff taxes to the prosperity of Connecticut $622,000,000," under the pending bill compared with $256,000,000 under existing law.

The answer to that, Bingham said, was that Connecticut contributed more to the upkeep of the government in federal taxes than many western states.

The verbal exchanges between Bingham and the committee continued up to the time he was excused from the stand and Eyanson called. Eyanson testified his salary as assistant to the president of the association was $10,000 a year. During his stay in Washington, he said, nothing had been said about his salary but upon his return home he had received a check for $1,000 from the senator which he had not cashed.

"Why didn't you cash it?" he was asked.

"I did not think I was entitled to it and I did not want to take any money from Senator Bingham and I have intended to return it to him personally."

RETURNED CHECKS

In the course of Eyanson's testimony it was developed that he received two checks as Bingham's secretary while he was in the capitol, but that he had turned the first over to Bingham, and the second, at Bingham's suggestion, to the senator's regular secretary.

"How did you ever know Bingham wanted you to turn over your salary to someone else?" Walsh asked.

"It was just assumed," Eyanson answered. "Knowing the senator, I assumed he would give me the money to his regular secretary."

While he was in Washington, the witness said, communications he received from the president of the association were personal and urged his return to Connecticut.

Full responsibility was assumed by Senator Bingham, before the committee for his employment of Eyanson as a tariff adviser at the time the tariff bill was before the senate finance committee.

Bingham praised the work Eyanson had done and said "if anyone ever served a senator loyally, it was he."

"Except he was serving two masters," observed Senator Walsh.

"Senator Walsh, I don't think that is fair," replied Bingham. "He worked as hard for the fisheries as for the manufacturers."

"At the same time he was your aid and assistant. He was being paid by the manufacturers association," replied Walsh.

"Certainly, there is no secret of that."

Bingham then said if there was anything "wrong with it the fault is mine."

"Well, do you think there was anything wrong with it?" asked Caraway.

"Possibly I made a mistake," said Bingham, adding if he had known that it was "considered proper for government employees who were hired to do one job to be used by senators to help do another job," he probably would not have asked the manufacturers' association to "loan" him a man.

Farm Board Nominees Are Approved By U. S. Senate

Legge, McKelvie and Williams Confirmed After Considerable Debate

Washington—(AP)—The eight men appointed to the federal farm board by President Hoover today were formally and fully empowered to go ahead with their task of bringing prosperity to the American farmer.

Senate confirmation, the last obstacle to the administration's desire for a board of its own choosing to carry out a broad and significant program of farm relief, was today removed.

All were approved early last night after the senate had laid aside the tariff debate and devoted a full day to discussing their respective merits and qualifications for the important posts to which the chief executive had appointed them. Opposition to three of Mr. Hoover's appointees—Alexander H. Legge, representing the field of finance and business, Samuel R. McKelvie, spokesman for the wheat growing industry, and Carl Williams, cotton representative—developed but was unable to block their confirmation.

Democratic members for the most part joined with the administration Republicans in supporting the Hoover appointees. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, voted for all of them, and expressed the attitude of his party colleagues with an assertion that "responsibility must rest where it belongs," and the president be given the men he had asked to administer the act which he had sponsored.

INDEPENDENTS SPLIT
The group of independent western Republican senators, on the other hand, was divided in its attitude toward the chief executive's nominees. Borah of Idaho, supported Legge, but voted against McKelvie and Williams. Norris of Nebraska, voted against Legge and Williams, but, by unanimous consent of the senate, did not vote when the question of confirming McKelvie, a former governor of his state, came to a ballot. During the debate, however, he expressed himself as opposed to the wheat board.

The greater part of the opposition to Williams, the cotton spokesman, came from senators representing cotton states, Black and Benin of Alabama, Connally and Sheppard of Texas, George and Harris of Georgia, Smith and Blaise of South Carolina, Simmons of North Carolina, and McKelvie of Tennessee, all voted against his confirmation.

Roll call votes were taken on only the three appointees to which there was opposition and the count was 67 to 13 for Legge, 50 to 27 for McKelvie and 57 to 20 for Williams. The other nominees—Charles C. Teague of California, fruit; William F. Schelling of Minnesota, dairying; C. B. Denman of Missouri, livestock; Charles S. Wilson of New York, miscellaneous agricultural activities, and James C. Stone of Kentucky, tobacco—were approved without a record vote.

EIGHT BOYS AND GIRLS HELD AFTER ROAD DEATH

Chippewa Falls—(AP)—Eight Stanley boys and girls, none over 20 years of age, were in custody today as authorities investigated the death of Calvin Chamberlain, killed in an automobile accident.

Seven of them were passengers in the car that struck Chamberlain, an intimate of the Northern Colon and Training school here; the eighth was held as the driver and faced criminal charges. Six were students in Stanley high school.

Dale Stone, 16, is to be tried for failing to stop and give aid, probably under the new children's code which would carry a maximum sentence of two years.

The other members of the party were Leonard Skog, 19, who had taken without permission his mother's car; Oscar Delrich, 18, Elmo Korn, 18; Mabel Eystad, 15; Helen Berse, 16; Evelyn Hatfield, 15, and Aeco Johnson, 15. Whether they will face any charges was not made known.

AMERICAN LEGION TO SPONSOR FILM

Motion Picture to Be Shown at Two Local Theatres Next Week

Oney Johnson post, American Legion, in cooperation with the Elite and Majestic theatres, will show a motion picture film next in an effort to reduce accidents at railroad crossings, according to Leslie Smith, post commander. The picture will be shown at the Elite theater from Oct. 21 to 23, and at the Majestic theater from Oct. 24 to 26 inclusive.

It will portray some of the most common causes of accidents at crossings and will show the proper methods of approaching a railroad crossing. The American legion has been active in the state during the past few years in trying to prevent accidents on highways.

Practically every city and village in the state has been provided with road signs to protect children from injury by automobile. The showing of this film is another effort on the part of the legion to reduce accidents to a minimum.

ROB MEUSEL IS SOLD TO CINCINNATI REDS

New York—(AP)—Bob Meusel, veteran outfielder who has been with the New York Yankees since 1920, has been sold outright to the Cincinnati Reds after all clubs in the American league had waived on his services. It was announced today at the office of the Yankees.

Meusel, the oldest member of the Yankees in point of service, is the second American league veteran to be sent to Cincinnati in as many days. Harry Hellmuth, Detroit heavy hitter, was released to the Reds on Tuesday as the first move in Dan Howley's program of reorganization at Cincinnati.

Although always a good hitter, Meusel was benched into this season in favor of young Sam Byrd. His passing as a member of the Yankees occasioned little surprise, but it had been expected that if he was to go he would be used in a trade calculated to strengthen the former champions for the next campaign.

SARGENT WANTS CUT IN CORPORATE INCOME TAX

Chicago—(AP)—American industry will be handicapped in world trade unless the federal government grants a substantial reduction in the corporate income tax rate, Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, told the Illinois Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting today.

After citing that manufacturing and transportation corporations paid 74.99 per cent of the total income tax, Sargent declared that, although substantial income tax reductions have been granted to other classes, corporations have been benefited since the war by a reduction of only one-half of one per cent.

Sargent asserted that the government, by spreading the domestic debt over a long period of years, could afford to reduce taxes and put American industry into a much stronger position.

A. A. L. TRUSTEES WILL MEET FRIDAY MORNING

COURT ANNULS WEDDING OF KIMBERLY RESIDENT

George H. Fickie, 23, Kimberly, was granted an annulment of his marriage to Mrs. Cleo Fickie, 28, by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning. Mrs. Fickie now resides in San Antonio, Texas, where the couple was married Dec. 14, 1926. They separated Jan. 2, 1927. Mrs. Fickie did not contest the suit.

CHIPPEWA FALLS BOY WINS HONORS AT DAIRY EXHIBIT

Norman Rada and Ohio Girl Are Chosen "Typical" 4-H Club Members

St. Louis—(AP)—Norman J. Rada, 20, of Chippewa Falls, Wis., and Miss Bertha Cain, 19, Montgomery, Ohio, were chosen from 600 members of the 4-H clubs attending the National Dairy show as the "typical" 4-H club boy and girl last night.

Rada, six years in club work, has realized a net profit of $2,200 on his project, while Miss Cain, with three years experience, has cleared $800 and realized $200 in premium money at dairy shows.

The Missouri College of Agriculture's dairy judging team captured first in judging Guernsey and Holstein breeds and third in Ayrshires to become sweepstakes winner of the students' National Dairy contests. However, two members of the team, Verane L. Gregg and Kenneth L. Turk finished behind W. F. Carpenter, of the University of Tennessee, for individual sweepstakes honors.

The third member of the Missouri team was Robert Head, twenty-seven agricultural colleges in the United States and one in Canada had entries.

Ohio State university carried off honors in judging of dairy products through its team of Willard C. Boyer, Gale R. Kastler and Luther Mindling.

Judging of the Jersey and Holstein breeds today with the Guernsey entries to be finished. Grand champions have been named in both the Brown Swiss and Ayrshire breeds as well as the grand champion Guernsey bull.

VIRGINIA HORSE WINS
Tea Caddy, winner of the grand national championship at the Madison Square Horse show in New York, was crowned champion of five-year-olds at the St. Louis National Horse show last night. Tea Caddy won $2,500 for Mrs. R. J. Goodman, of Bluemont, Va., his owner, and also will compete Sunday night for the grand championship and another $2,500 stake. Chief of Longview, champion five-gaited stallion, and Joanna Jones, champion five-gaited mare, are the other entries in the grand championship, through victories in their class Monday and Tuesday night.

Awards in National Dairy show for Guernsey cattle included: J. F. Rueping, Fond du Lac, Wis., fifth and seventh; bull calf under one year, third, bull one year and under two; third, bull two years and under three; fifth, heifer calf under one year; second and fourth, heifer one year and under 18 months; eighth, heifer 18 months and under two years; H. K. Knopmiller and W. F. Goddard, Barris, Wis., eighth, bull calf under one year; Gottlieb Gonsky, Comstock, Wis., ninth, bull three years and under four.

Awards in Brown Swiss cattle included: N. C. Schmid, Monroe, Wis., sixth and eighth, produce of cow; two animals, fourth and sixth.

Awards in National Poultry show included: Herman J. Herziger, Sheboygan, Wis., second, cock and cockerel; second and third, hen; second, third, fourth and fifth, pullet; partidge Wyandotte bantam.

WATER COMMISSION MEETS TO ORGANIZE

Name Joseph Plank Chairman and A. C. Remley Secretary

Reorganization of Appleton water commission was effected at a meeting at the city hall Wednesday afternoon. Joseph Plank was elected chairman for the coming year, and A. C. Remley was named secretary.

The chairman named the following commissioners to take charge of the various departments: W. H. Timm, plant; John Lappen, distribution system; and A. C. Remley, commission offices. George Beckley and Joseph Plank will act as representatives to the common council.

It was decided to instruct A. J. Hall, superintendent of the city pumping station and filtration plant, to secure prices on signs which are to be placed on the standpipes at the fair grounds.

Murderous Elephant "Put On Spot" By Circus Pals

Kenedy, Texas—(AP)—"Taken for a ride," by his own herd mates and "put on the spot" by his human friends of the circus lot, Black Diamond, rogue elephant who Saturday killed a woman at Corsicana, Texas, was executed here yesterday.

Short machine guns like those employed by gangsters were employed by his executioners.

With Black Diamond's death the circus lost between ten and fifteen thousand dollars, but rid itself of an animal which, according to its former trainer, had killed three people.

Circus elephant men who conducted the execution yesterday took no chances on a repetition of Saturday's tragedy, in which the elephant, with no apparent provocation, seized and crushed to death Mrs. Eva Donohue, a spectator.

When a huge grave had been prepared in a cow pasture about two miles from town, the elephant's handlers gave him the familiar rallying cry for the parade and he lumbered into position as he had been accustomed to do for years. Three of his herd mates were yoked to him with chains to make certain he would not stampede. A queue of circus people and curious townspeople followed him in his lumbering death march.

The elephant, a magnificent 31-year-old bull, one of the tallest in captivity, was a dramatic figure as he went unsuspectingly to his death and many of his old friends had tears in their eyes.

Near the grave Black Diamond was firmly chained to three trees and Hans Nagel, director of the Houston zoo, and Adrian Hines, a taxidermist who wished to save the head for the Houston institution took charge.

The first burst of lead fired into the body of the nine-ton pachyderm seemed to puzzle the animal. Another burst made him groggy. He rolled over slowly and took another fusillade in the body. The executioner then gave Black Diamond the "coup de Grace," a single well directed shot in the brain, and the circus had done with him. After the head had been removed workmen tugged and hauled at the huge body until it rolled into the grave.

According to the theory advanced by H. D. Pricett, Black Diamond's trainer before he left the circus to work for Mrs. Donahoe, jealousy and a long memory were responsible for the tragedy Saturday. In his hospital bed in Corsicana, where he is recovering from injuries received when he tried to save Mrs. Donahoe, he said the elephant saw Mrs. Donahoe with him when he said goodbye to it and to the circus. Pricett believed the elephant remembered and charged the woman because he had seen him leave with her. The former trainer had gone to the railroad yards as the show pulled in and had been allowed to lead his old charge to the circus lot. It was on this trip that the tragedy occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bunks and children have returned from a ten days' trip to Chicago.

SOUR STOMACH FETID BELCHING NAUSEA HEARTBURN

A sour stomach, accompanied by offensive belching, is the result of fermentation of undigested foods. Fermentation is caused by improper functioning of the digestive organs. Temporary measures of relief have no effect in warding off recurrent attacks. You know this, if you are one of the many thousands who are afflicted with acid, indigestion, stomach trouble, and the like.

To obtain permanent relief the whole digestive system must be put in order. This can only be done by an effective corrective. ZINSEP Compound is such a remedy. It combines all the elements of an Antacid, Gas Eliminator, Stomachic, Carminative, Gastric Sedative, Internal Antiseptic and gentle Laxative in one complete stomach treatment.

In other words, ZINSEP Compound is not just a digestant, like most stomach remedies which merely relieve momentarily stomach distress, but attacks and removes the actual cause of the derangement, thus permitting Nature to restore the stomach to normal health.

Really, you'll never know what you have missed in stomach comfort until you have taken a consistent and thorough course of ZINSEP. Try it. Buy a bottle TODAY. You money back, if you're not helped.

Sold and guaranteed by Schlitz Bros. Co., and all other good drug-gists everywhere.

PARK BOARD AND COMMITTEE WILL VIEW STREET PLAN

Extension of Levi-st Is Referred to Groups by Common Council

A report of the street and bridge committee recommendation extension of E. Levi-st from N. Durkeo to N. Drew-st was referred to the committee and the park board by the common council Wednesday night. The action followed receipt of a communication from the park board opposing the extension.

Although several aldermen sought immediate action on the committee's recommendation, Mayor A. C. Rule urged the council to give the park board's communication serious consideration. It was he who suggested that the committee and the board investigate the matter jointly.

Aldermen Vogt and Kenke pointed out that the opening of the street between N. Durkeo and N. Drew streets, bordering Erb park on the south side, is necessary, as traffic now must go six blocks out of the way to get around Roosevelt Junior high school and Erb park.

WOULD SUPPORT BOARD
Alderman Thompson believed that nothing should be done with the street until Erb park is plotted.

"I don't believe it advisable to combat the opinions of the park board," Alderman Thompson said.

A. C. Bosser, city attorney was instructed to draw up an ordinance placing lot 3 in the first ward in the commercial and light manufacturing district.

Another recommendation of the planning commission regarding placing part of Wisconsin-ave east of N. Superior-st in a business district was opposed by the council. A report of the finance committee authorizing borrowing of $10,000 was adopted.

A recommendation of the street and bridge committee that the Pettibone Peabody company be permitted to construct an arch over the sidewalk on N. Appleton-st was adopted.

A resolution submitted by Alderman Vogt of the Sixth ward proposing construction of a sidewalk on the north side of Circle-st between Meade and Union-sts was adopted. Another resolution submitted by Alderman Vanderheyden requesting installation of a catch basin on the northeast corner of Franklin and Bennett-sts was referred to the street and bridge committee with power to act.

A resolution by Alderman Vogt that the sidewalk on S. Outagamie-st south to Pine-st be corrected was introduced. It was brought out that when the sidewalk was originally planned a mistake had been made by engineers, and that construction of additional walks now would necessitate a job on the stretch south of Pine-st.

Alderman Stohbauer moved that the present sidewalk be left unchanged and that when additional walks are proposed there, they be constructed properly. His motion was carried.

The council adjourned to Friday evening, when a report on the completion of the new Brewster-st storm sewer will be heard.

FARMERS TO MEET AT MARSHFIELD

First Conference of State Council to Be Addressed by Well Known Men

The first annual farmers' get-together conference, arranged by the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture, will be held at Marshfield Oct. 21, 22 and 23, according to word received by Gus Sell, Outagamie-co agent. Officers of the council are: P. G. Twoboda, general chairman; George Jelson, president; W. H. Hutter, vice president; Herman Ihde, secretary; and Clifford Huppert, treasurer.

Announcement of the meeting by Mr. Sell points out that the Marshfield gathering "is in line with the aims of the federal farm board to help solve the farmer's problem by cooperative effort. Speakers of state and national reputation in the cooperative movement will tell what has been done and what there still is to be accomplished."

Among the speakers scheduled to talk at the conference are W. F. Chilling, Washington, D. C., member of the federal farm relief board; Professor H. E. Hubbard; H. M. Knipfel, agricultural commissioner; Governor Walter J. Kohler; Herman V. Ullsperger, Sturgeon Bay; and J. J. Kavanaugh, Green Bay.

Stolen Car

RELIEF FROM CURES OF CONSTIPATION

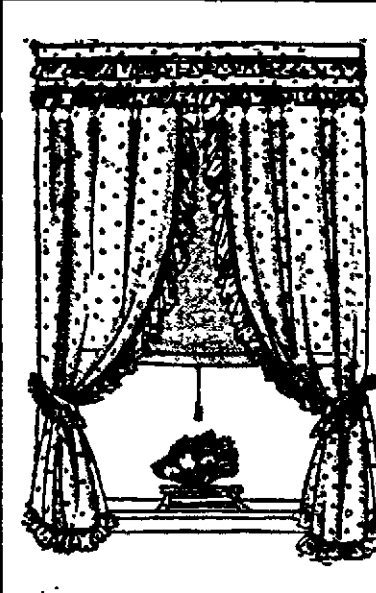

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuated bowels, called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough movement without forming a habit or increasing the dose. Stop suffering from constipation. Buy a Rexall Orderlie at night, next day bright. Get 24 for 25c to-day at Downer's Pharmacy, adv.

Council Moves To Offer Ravine As Postoffice Site

MAYOR NAMES COMMITTEE TO VISIT OWNERS

Group Will Submit Report at Next Meeting of Aldermen

A move to offer the W. College-ave ravine property to the federal government as a site for the new postoffice to be erected in Appleton was launched by the common council Wednesday night.

A committee of three, appointed by Mayor A. C. Rule, was appointed to confer with the property owners to determine whether they would consider sale, and their price. The committee will submit its report at the next council meeting.

The ravine is owned jointly by the city and several Appleton men. It is located on the north side of College-ave about three blocks west of Oneida-st.

The committee consists of Aldermen George Packard, chairman, W. H. Vanderheyden, and George Richard. L. Schindler, city engineer, and A. C. Doss, city assessor, will work with the committee.

Appointment of the committee was made upon motion of Alderman Vanderheyden, following his suggestion that the property be donated by the city to the federal government.

Aldermen Priebe, Brautigan, McGowan, Vanderheyden, Refke, and Richard voted for the committee. Negative votes were cast by Aldermen Earl Packard, Steinhauer, Thompson and Vogt.

OPPOSITION IS STRONG
Opposition to the move was expressed by Aldermen Steinhauer, Vogt and Thompson. Alderman Thompson maintained that the city council should not meddle with federal plans.

He believed such action would prove detrimental to the city. His arguments were supported by the other two aldermen.

"I see no reason why the council should meddle in such an affair and act as real estate agents for the ravine," Alderman Steinhauer said. "The city owns but 80 feet of frontage on W. College-ave, and it would be impossible in the first place for the council to donate property which belongs to taxpayers."

"Other sites considered by the council and offered to government investigators proved to be unfavorable, and it would show a lack of consistency on the part of a city governing body to offer this land to the government."

Erection of a postoffice on that site would mean an additional cost, probably about $15,000, because of the deep alley," Alderman Thompson said.

He added that the government originally appropriated $60,000 for a site, and said it would be impossible to secure an additional appropriation for excavation inasmuch as federal appropriations were considered for many weeks before they were allowed by the treasury department.

"Were the new postoffice to be erected on the W. College-ave site, the council would be carrying out one of the most public minded programs they possibly could do," Alderman Vanderheyden said.

"Location of the postoffice on College-ave would be a boon to the city. It would eliminate the eyesore of the dirty rat ravine, and would give the citizens a real building on their main street."

POSTPONE OPENING TRY-OUT FOR PLAYERS
Failure of play books to arrive on schedule caused the postponement yesterday of tryouts for "Outward Bound," Sunset players production, which were to have been held under the direction of F. T. Cloak, head of the dramatics department of Lawrence college.

The players reported they would be informed that the trials would probably be set back until next Monday.

"Outward Bound" will afford Lawrence dramatic stars an opportunity for excellent character work, as there are comparatively few "straight" parts in the mystery drama. Its weird atmosphere, which is cleverly captured by Sutton Vane, its author, is expected to attract many spectators to Memorial chapel evening, Nov. 21.

Announcement of the complete cast will follow the trouts.

CHARGE NAVARINO MAN GAVE WORTHLESS CHECKS
Robert Onson, Navarino, was arraigned in municipal court this morning before Judge Theodore Borg on charges of issuing three worthless checks, for $78.53, $52.29 and $30.21, to the G. C. Electric company here. Following a preliminary hearing Onson was bound over for trial Nov. 6. He was unable to furnish $500 bond and is being held in the county jail. The checks were drawn on the bank at Navarino and were given in exchange for articles purchased by Onson. Hubert N. Northrup, manager of the electric company, is the complainant.

OBSERVATORY AT COLLEGE IS OPEN THURSDAY NIGHTS

Brilliant planets which are to be observed during autumn nights may be seen this evening from the Underwood observatory at Lawrence college, which is open every Thursday evening under the supervision of Dr. A. J. Longman of the physics department. The observatory will open at 7:30 o'clock.

Jupiter, a huge bright planet hanging above the eastern horizon is in plain view this month, and the last few nights have seen a moon ripe for student observation. There are several interesting constellations which may be observed this evening, according to the director.

BAND TO PLAY AT GYM DEDICATION

Lawrence College Musical Organization Practicing Regularly

When the formal opening of the new Alexander gymnasium at Lawrence college takes place Monday, Nov. 4, participating in the program will be the college band under the direction of E. C. Moore, which will be making its first public appearance of the school year. The band is holding regular practice periods in preparation for the event, which will be at the same time one of the most important to take place on the Lawrence campus in recent years.

Thirty-five students make up the present personnel of the musical organization, including nearly all the students who played last year plus some new material which entered school with the freshman class. The director regrets that some good upper class material was lost because of conflict with other activities, but he is insistent that the conflicts have in no way injured the band.

A concert by the Lawrence band is planned for Memorial chapel Wednesday, Nov. 13, and the organization has already started preparations for this event. The concert will be played in the afternoon, but Director Moore looks forward to next semester, when he hopes to bring his band on the Memorial chapel stage in a full evening concert. The date for this evening of band music, which is expected to attract musical patrons from all over Appleton as well as from the Lawrence campus, has not been set.

KIWANIS HEAR TALK ABOUT REFORESTATION

Reforestation by private individuals and corporations rather than by the state was recommended as a means of saving Wisconsin forests by E. A. Morse, Antigo, who spoke to the Kiwanis club Wednesday noon at Conway hotel. Mr. Morse is a former congressman.

He cited as examples of accomplishments the work the Sawyer-Goodman Lumber company is doing and the Nekeosa-Edwards Paper company. The latter organization recently received considerable publicity in its efforts to keep the pulp supply unlimited through reforestation.

Mr. Morse also told the Kiwanians that residents of Langlade county favor development of power sites on the Wolf river because of the advantages they would bring to the county and Antigo.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL IS OPENED WITH 10 CLASSES

Increased enrollment this week is expected in the Appleton Religious Leadership school, which opened its ten week session last Monday in Mah Hall on the Lawrence college campus. With 115 attending classes this week, an increase in all courses is expected before the school meets again Monday.

Ten classes, as outlined by the International Council of Religious Education, are being given by eight instructors: Dr. M. H. Small, principal of Wilson Junior high school; Dr. Wilson S. Naylor, dean and professor of biblical literature in Lawrence college; Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor of the first Methodist Episcopal church; Dr. J. R. Denyes, professor of religion at Lawrence college; Mrs. Joseph Koffend, Jr.; Mrs. J. R. Denyes; Dr. J. W. Wilson, district superintendent of the Congregational church; and Rev. W. W. Sloan, director of religious education, First Congregational church.

DEVELOP TWO SKATING RINKS AT JONES' PARK

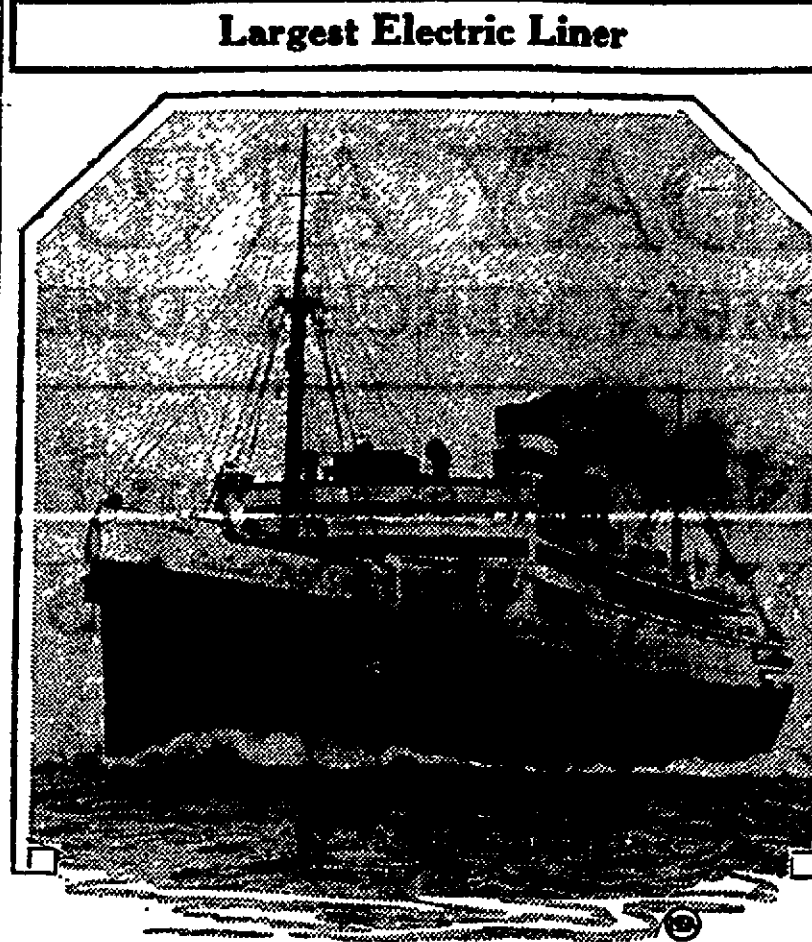

Two skating rinks, including a rink for hockey tournaments, are being developed in Jones' park. A steam shovel has removed dirt from the north side of the park which has accumulated there when the ravine was filled in. The dirt was used to fill in the park for the rinks. The fence which formerly stood on the south end of the old skating rink has been removed.

Largest Electric Liner

Here's the world's largest electrically-driven commercial vessel and the largest steamer ever built under the American flag, the new electric liner Pennsylvania. It was built at Newport News, Va., and for coastwise service between New York and San Francisco, cutting the time to 13 days. The liner is of 33,375 tons displacement, 24,000 net tons, and 613 feet long.

Lamp Lighter Of 50 Years Ago Sought For Ceremony

Detroit—(AP)—A lamp lighter who half a century or more ago went about the streets of Detroit with a torch, leaving a feeble light at each corner, is being sought by the committee arranging for the celebration here next Monday for Thomas A. Edison's invention of the incandescent lamp.

If one can be found he is to be given a conspicuous part in the ceremony that will be featured by the presence of President Hoover and Mr. Edison's re-creation of the original lamp.

The actual reconstruction of the first light will be in the same laboratory, now in Henry Ford's historical village at Dearborn in which Edison conducted his original experiments at Menlo Park, N. J. Because of the very limited space available in the laboratory, actually witnesses of the reconstruction will be confined to members of the presidential party, the Edison and Ford families, old Edison employees who participated in the original experiments, two or three of the Ford and Edison families and a radio announcer.

The several hundred invited guests will have to content with hearing his car and assaulted her twice. He is being held for trial under $5,000 bond on this charge. Another charge pending, against him involves a young girl who claims she is the unwed mother of his child. On this point he is being held under bonds of $1,500.

NOTE BELIEVED FROM LOST OCEAN AVIATOR
Kinkawage, Donegal, Irish Free State—(AP)—A penciled note reading "going down in midatlantic, engine trouble" found off the Donegal coast in a rusty tin yesterday is believed here to be that of Lieutenant Commander E. C. MacDonald, who was lost in an unsuccessful attempt to fly from Harbor Grace to London just a year ago. The note has been sent to Mrs. MacDonald for possible identification.

British officers at Fort Lennan and civil guards who have seen the note declared they were satisfied as to its authenticity.

Lieutenant Commander MacDonald left Harbor Grace in a tiny motor plane Oct. 17, 1928. He was last seen about 700 miles out at sea after his take-off, apparently all well.

The note found yesterday was written on the leaf of a diary from which the date had been obliterated. It was signed by what appeared to be "MacDonald."

New York police had turned over to them late in last October a note found near Staten Island which read "down off coast of Ireland. Captain MacDonald." They considered that message a hoax.

MORE NICE WEATHER COMING, PREDICTION

Indian summer will continue for at least another 24 hours, according to weather forecasts. The outlook for Friday is continued clear skies with a slight rise in temperature.

Conditions throughout the entire midwest are the same as in Appleton, with moderate temperature prevailing. At 6 o'clock Thursday morning the mercury registered 44 degrees above zero and at noon it showed 62 degrees.

SEYMOUR MAN CHARGED WITH GAME LAW OFFENSE

William Stewart, Shiocton, is to be arraigned in municipal court Tuesday afternoon on Friday morning on charges of trapping muskrat on season, and of trapping a wood duck. Stewart was arrested after Louis Jesse and Joseph Hassman, game wardens, and Charles Steidl, county motorcycle officer, found 52 muskrats furs and a live wood duck on his farm. The wood duck had been caught in a trap and was being held in captivity according to Game Warden Jesse.

JAMES WOULD CHECK UP ON U. S. DEFENSE ACT

Washington—(AP)—Inquiry by the house military committee of the war department's interpretation and application of the national defense act and of the army's five year air expansion program will be sought by Acting Chairman James of Michigan, when congress convenes in December.

He said he was satisfied information brought out at hearings would result in a revision of both developments since the passage of the defense act and adoption of the five year program necessitate changes to meet modern conditions, he said.

FIND NEW CLEW IN MURDER OF KENOSHA GIRL

Man Accused of Assault Now Is Suspect in Kleszczewski Slaying

Racine—(AP)—Authorities of Racine and Kenosha today were working on a theory which they hoped would solve the slaying of Mary Kleszczewski, 19-year-old Kenosha girl, whose partly decomposed body was found in a ditch near the intersection of the Birch Lake road and Highway 15 last Aug. 23.

Suspicion today was directed at a 29-year-old man who is under arrest here on a statutory charge preferred by a 16-year-old Racine girl and a charge made by another girl.

With publication of his arrest, a mother of a 15-year-old Racine girl told E. C. Baker, chief of police here yesterday, that on May 14 her daughter had been picked up by the suspect and beaten and assaulted on the Birch Lake road, a short distance from the spot at which the body of Miss Kleszczewski was found.

The mother said she had intended to keep the alleged assault upon her daughter a secret but decided to reveal the affair when she learned the man had been arrested.

Authorities view her story with significance inasmuch as the suspect is alleged to have induced her daughter to go for an auto ride with him after the girl had attended a dance at the Surf ballroom. It had been established that Mary Kleszczewski attended a dance at the same ballroom on the night she disappeared.

NEAR MURDER SCENE
Detectives Charles Yanney and Sam Nelson took the 15-year-old girl to the Birch Lake road yesterday where she pointed out the spot of the alleged beating and assault. District Attorney Morris Barnett of Kenosha, was notified and he has in his possession a sworn statement of the girl telling the location of the spot. The alleged assault took place about 30 feet from the place at which the body of Miss Kleszczewski was found.

The man was arrested here Monday after a 16-year-old girl told police he had ordered her escort away at the point of a gun, taken her into his car and assaulted her twice. He is being held for trial under $5,000 bond on this charge. Another charge pending, against him involves a young girl who claims she is the unwed mother of his child. On this point he is being held under bonds of $1,500.

Mary Kleszczewski's body was found by a surveyor who was laying out a line for a railroad. The coroner said the body had been in the ditch, hidden by tall grass, for more than four weeks.

TROLLEY WIRE DOWN; STREET CARS TIED UP

Breaking of two support wires which dropped almost a block yesterday afternoon tied up trolley traffic on the College-ave. pavement between Durand and Morrison-sts. and another break in the wire at Drew-st. interrupted street car traffic on E. College-ave. for about an hour Wednesday night shortly after 9 o'clock.

Police officers and pedestrians directed traffic off the avenue until Wisconsin-Michigan Power company linemen arrived to repair the wire. One automobile driven by an unidentified driver brushed by the men directing traffic and into the wire. No damage resulted, however, as the contact did not ground the wire.

KAUKAUNA SHIPPERS TO HEAR ABOUT DRIVE

The drive to improve Outagamie county roads will be discussed by Gus Sell, county agent, at a meeting of the Kaukauna Shipping association at Forester's hall, Kaukauna, Saturday night. Mr. Sell will tell the group of the plans already underway for the drive and the program which will be carried out in the county from Nov. 4 to 9. William Heindl is secretary of the Kaukauna group.

SELL WILL ATTEND COUNTY-AGENTS MEET

Gus Sell, county agent, will attend the annual conference of county agricultural agents of the state at Madison from Oct. 23 to 25. The meeting of the Wisconsin Agricultural agents association will be held in connection with the conference. Experts will address the farm workers, who will conduct open forum discussions.

DISTRIBUTE NEW SCHOOL DIRECTORY

New public school directories were distributed Thursday morning by B. J. Rohan, city superintendent of school and his assistants in the various educational institutions of the city. The directory includes addresses and names of teachers. Members of the school administration, and the institutions with which they are affiliated.

OBSERVE CANDY DAY HERE ON SATURDAY

Saturday has been designated by wholesale and retail candy dealers as National Candy day and will be observed throughout the country by dealers. The day was set aside several years ago by a national confectioners' association, and has been observed annually since that time. It is known as "the sweetest day of the year."

LAWRENCE COEDS SPEAK FRENCH AT DORMITORY TABLE

The French language has been perfectly at home at one table in Russell Sage dormitory, following the establishment of a "French table" in the Lawrence college girls' dormitory by Miss Helen Holton, instructor in the language. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays of the past two weeks advanced students in French have been sitting at one table, where the English language is completely outlawed.

More students have signified their interest in the French language, and arrangements are being made to accommodate them at the special table.

RUM RUNNERS PLY FROM HOLLAND TO SCANDIAN COASTS

Danish Smugglers Sell Spirits at Low Prices in Norway, Sweden

Copenhagen—(AP)—The rum-running season in northern waters is in full swing and Danish authorities are combating what they describe as a great onslaught of the law-breakers.

Danish smugglers buy spirits in Holland at low prices and sell in Norway, Sweden, and other countries where either government monopoly or prohibition reigns supreme. The Danes' authorities know the most flagrant offenders by name but are powerless to deal with them as long as they keep outside Danish territorial waters.

The light northern summer nights are unsuitable for the rum business, so consequently the bootleggers rest during the summer months in fashionable watering places or in their continental chateaux. In August the dark nights begin to return and the smugglers get ready for their winter job of refilling the empty cellars of wealthy law-breakers.

Most of the exchange is done on Herthas Flak, a tiny island in the Kattegat belonging to no one. On this tiny island are stored large quantities of spirits. Some of the contents a litre in Holland and resold in northern prohibition countries for as much as two dollars.

The most daring of the runners was King Bremer who is languishing in a Norwegian prison, and while serving his term, is writing his memoirs.

CHINESE GIRLS TO BECOME PREACHERS

Three Women Enroll in Nanking Seminary, Formerly for Men Only

Nanking—(AP)—The feminist movement in China, extending rapidly to the realm of education, has reached a new milestone. Three women have enrolled in the re-opened Nanking Theological Seminary as regular students. Heretofore the halls of this institution have been for men only.

The Nanking incident of March, 1927, when foreigners were attacked by Chinese soldiers, forced the closing of the seminary, not only foreign members of the faculty being driven away, but also some Chinese teachers. Since that time various teachers have been gradually drifting back here awaiting the time until the school could be reopened. Until a few weeks ago the buildings were used as military barracks.

The Nanking authorities finally managed to force the military from the buildings and the school reopened. There was an encouraging enrollment of 200 new students, and among the latter came the three young women. All of them are college graduates, desiring a religious education before they themselves begin teaching in missionary schools.

As a result of the enrollment of the feminine students which has been received as an innovation by the men rather than with opposition, it was expected it is planned to attempt to attract additional girl students and thus launch a new chapter in the rapidly changing and developing educational procedure in China.

SENTIMENT IS FACTOR IN MOVEMENTS OF OLD

New York—(AP)—International bankers are having to reckon on sentiment as a factor of increasing importance in gold movements.

Artificial economic laws are supposed to govern shipments of gold from one country to another. But national sentiment in England at the present time, is believed to be exerting considerable pressure on private owners of gold to check the flow of metal to Paris and New York.

Under present conditions of exchange, bankers say, England normally would be exporting much gold. The fact that she is not, is attributed to the unfriendly publicity that attends such activities on the ground that they tend to weaken England's gold position.

NEENAH GIRL NAMED KINDERGARTEN MENTOR

Miss Mary Tauber, Neenah, has been appointed kindergarten assistant to Miss Viola Noll, director of Franklin school. It was announced Thursday morning by B. J. Rohan, city superintendent of schools. Miss Tauber succeeds Miss Helen Argyle, who was married recently. Mrs. Heilf and Mrs. Arthur Zschaeche have been substituting for Miss Argyle.

BOSS OF TEXAS LANDS GETS LESS THAN CLERK

Austin, Tex.—(AP)—It is a long road to the top in the Texas land office, and men lose money when they finally attain it. By becoming commissioner W. J. H. Walker lost $300 a year. His salary, fixed by the constitution, now is $2,500 a year. As chief clerk, he received $3,300.

Aderholt Widow On Stand In Textile Murder Trial

Charlotte, N. C.—(AP)—A widow's sobbing story of her husband's dying words closed evidence and left remaining today only attorneys arguments and Judge M. V. Barnhill's charge in the trial of Seven Textile union members who, the state charges, were responsible for the death of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police. Second degree murder verdicts are asked.

Mrs. Aderholt was on the stand as the state brought its rebuttal testimony to a close. Weeping softly, she answered, sometimes incoherently, the questions asked by Clyde Hoey, prosecution attorney.

She told of going to the hospital the night of June 7 after receiving word her husband had been shot as he was with three other officers entered the grounds of the tent colony maintained by the National Textile Workers union for Lorry mill strikers.

Then she told of her last moments with him. "What was the last thing he said to you?" Hoey asked.

"He said, 'I don't know why they shot me in the back I've always tried to keep the peace.' She broke into sobs.

"The state rests, your honor," came announcement from the prosecution. The defense waived cross-examination of Mrs. Aderholt.

In fixing time limits for arguments of the primary evidence, the state announced that each side would be permitted six hours to plead its case.

T. A. Adams was announced as the opening speaker for the defense with J. F. McCall, Tom Jamison and J. Frank Flowers, chief of defense counsel, as the other attorneys to address the jury in behalf of the defendants.

Clyde Hoey, former congressman from North Carolina, was named as the opening speaker for the prosecution. Jake Newell, E. T. Conslar and Solicitor John G. Carpenter complete the state's speakers.

LOWDEN WANTS MORE AID FOR SMALL SCHOOL AREAS

Ames, Iowa—(AP)—State or federal government participation in the cost of the primary education of the youth of the United States was held out as the solution to the increasingly severe burden of schools on rural districts, in an address prepared for delivery here today before the annual conference of the American Country Life association by Frank C. Lowden, former governor of Illinois.

Existing methods of local taxation have made good rural and modern schools too heavy a load for the rural communities to bear, Mr. Lowden said. With reference to roads, the local taxing method formerly was logical, with practically all roads local in use, he said.

"There is now, however, a constantly decreasing number of purely local roads. As motor cars multiply, even the leafy lanes in the remote country-side is invaded by the country-side of cars. We are recognizing this change in conditions by putting an increasing share of the cost of roads upon the federal and state governments. This is a wholesome tendency and should go on progressively, thus relieving in a measure the burden of taxation upon the farms."

"We have not, however, been so wise with our country schools. The largest single item of taxation upon the farms is usually for the support of schools, and yet the country school has fallen far behind in the march of progress."

HOLD MAN ON CHARGE OF JUMPING HOTEL BILL

Charles Wisniewski, Milwaukee, was held by police this morning pending his arraignment on municipal court charges of absconding a hotel bill. Wisniewski was arrested yesterday by Oshkosh police and held on a warrant secured here by Charles Ender, manager of Conway hotel. He was brought back to Appleton by Sergeant Mathew McGinnis and Officer Albert Delting. It is alleged that Wisniewski left the city without paying a bill of $88.25 which he owed the Conway hotel for the period from June 12 to July 5.

WOMANS CLUB REPORTS ON MONEY CAMPAIGN

The financial campaign of the Appleton Women's club is proving a success, according to reports submitted at a 6 o'clock dinner Wednesday night at the club. Twelve workers reported at the meeting. The sum of $1,680 has been received up to the present time. There will be a dinner at 6:15 Friday night at the Women's club, at which more reports will be submitted, and workers will be appointed to begin work on the membership campaign.

SERVICE STORE MEN FETED AT DINNER

Service store owners were entertained at a dinner at the home of W. Wellen Wednesday evening. Following the dinner a business meeting was held. Plans for a series of events for grocers were discussed.

DEATHS

MRS. MARGARET ROONEY
Mrs. Margaret E. Rooney, 53, wife of Francis J. Rooney, 413 S. Walnut-st., died Wednesday evening at her home. She is survived by her husband; one daughter, Margaret E. Rooney, and two sons, Francis T. John, Jr. and George W. all of Appleton; one sister, Mrs. Mary Stack, Fond du Lac; five brothers, William T. O'Connell, Republic, Wash.; Andrew L. O'Connell, Beachwood; Dr. D. C. and Dr. J. E. O'Connell, Milwaukee; and Francis E. O'Connell, Holbrook, Ariz. She was a member of the Christian Mothers society of St. Mary church, the Catholic Daughters of America, and was president of the Green Ray society, the Missionary Association of Catholic Women. The body will be taken from the Schnorrer funeral home to the residence at 413 S. Walnut-st. Thursday afternoon. The funeral will be held at 8:30 Saturday morning from the residence with services at 9 o'clock at St. Mary church. Burial will be in St. Mary cemetery. The Christian Mothers society and the Catholic Daughters of America will meet at 7:45 Friday night at the residence to recite the rosary.

INSPECT HOME FOR INVALIDS AT KENOSHA

B. J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, T. H. Ryan, Frank Younger, principal of Mc Kinley Junior high school, and Dr. C. Reineck will inspect the home for crippled children at Kenosha Friday. They expect to return Saturday.

TEST OIL BURNERS TO FIND VALUE FOR HEATING BOILERS

Amount, Character of Un-burned Combustible Also Studied

Comprehensive experiments with domestic oil burners, designed to provide information of value to users, have just been completed. It was stated Oct. 5, by the Department of Agriculture. The description of the tests follows in full-text:

"A Study of the Oil Burner as Applied to Domestic Heating" is the title of a publication just issued by the Department of Agriculture as Technical Bulletin 109-T. This bulletin gives the results of a series of tests made with several types of burners supplemented by a study of many domestic installations and illustrates the performance that may be expected from these burners, the adaptability of existing heating plants to oil burning and the cost of operating such plants.

RELATIVE MERITS OF OILS

A study was also made of oil fuels used for domestic heating and the bulletin gives some information regarding oil fuel specifications and the relative merits of different grades of fuel oils.

The tests were conducted with two principal objectives in mind: (1) To determine the performance characteristics of representative burners installed in boilers and (2) to study the general effects of intermittent operation and determine the amount and character of unburned combustibles. The results of the efficiency tests are shown in a series of efficiency curves.

Rum Cargo Nabbed in Battle

of carbon dioxide. The basic data from the tests are given in extensive tables. A brief discussion of the effect of boiler design on the efficiency of oil burners is included.

COMPARATIVE COSTS OF HEATING

The bulletin also presents a brief discussion of the relative costs of heating with oil and with gas.

Department circular 405-C entitled, "The Domestic Oil Burner," based on these investigations, was issued some time ago. This circular was prepared to meet the demand of prospective purchasers of the oil burner for reliable information of a nontechnical character.

Copies of either of the publications may be obtained free from the Office of Information, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., as long as the supply lasts.

Add Turnips, Onions To Diet, Society Advises

Madison—The lowly turnip and the onion were given a rank in the food diet high above the fancy cakes and salads, by the health committee of the State Medical Society today. Some old-fashioned vegetable dishes would become popular if the medical profession had its way.

"Don't despise the turnip and the onion when picking your food," declares the statement in announcing a number of rules for healthful eating. Fearing that suggestion might not be sufficient the health committee added:

"Adopt a cosmopolitan menu—become acquainted with goulash, Irish stew, pig's knuckles and sauerkraut, and a ragout with vegetables."

The statement declares that many people eat continuously the same things with little variation, and point out that some of the symptoms of a lack of appetite come from a "monotonous diet." It declares that so far as health is concerned, "the cheaper cuts of meat cooked with vegetables are better than a diet of steaks and chops."

"One of the evils of the present day eating is to depend too much on quick cooking," continues the bulletin. "Good health will not last with one minute meals."

"Many people are so fond of meat that they will eat no vegetables or other foods while meat is at hand. Meat contains a considerable number of the really strong bodies. But it is not a complete food. The common types of meat in America are lacking in some of the vitamins and in some of the minerals which go to make sound teeth and bones, and which form part of our resistance to disease. These vitamins and mineral salts are furnished by the plant foods, particularly the fruits and the green vegetables.

"The vegetarians have become so much interested in these values of plant foods, that they have overlooked the necessity for meat, or at least for eggs and milk. These dairy products are good substitutes for meat in many cases. A true vegetarian eats no milk or eggs, since these are animal foods. A strictly vegetable diet is not an adequate diet for growth or even for full vigor of most people. Too large an amount of these foods often causes great distress and sometimes genuine disease in high tension Americans. There are thousands of persons today whose intestinal linings are too sensitive to the irritation of raw fruit and vegetables. They need foods which have been softened by cooking. The proportion of vegetables and fruits to other less stimulating foods must be carefully regulated."

FORD BUILDS SAWMILL IN BRAZILIAN WILDS

Tampa Fla. —(P)—Henry Ford is building a hardwood sawmill at his rubber plantation on the river Tapazos, 600 miles by water from Para, Brazil, according to Capt. K. E. Pdenz commander of one of the Ford steamers.

Captain Prenz said the region abounds in wood of various kinds which is so hard that woodworking tools were useless against it, and which withstands attacks of weather and insects.

"Mr. Ford evidently thinks the wood valuable, since he is establishing a huge sawmill on the site of his rubber plantation," Prenz said. "We furnished electrical power for construction work until a plant was set up ashore using the machinery we carried there from Detroit."

CASTLE'S FATE A PROBLEM

Can a castle under water be a landmark, is a question puzzling Ayrshire people. When the level of Loch Doon is raised to provide electricity for the Galloway district of Scotland the old fortress will be submerged under the surface of the lake. Under provisions of an ancient charter, the castle must be preserved for all time as a landmark. A schoolhouse on the site will be submerged, but Ayrshire officials are arguing the castle question.

You're out-of-date without an Eight!

Informed motorists say, "Buy an EIGHT"

The informed demand today is unmistakably for the Eight. The swing of public preference is developing with unprecedented rapidity. Nobody can predict what chance a Six will have in next year's used car markets.

Consider the facts: During the first seven months of this year, in 43 states,* registrations of new cars over $1000 showed a 94 per cent increase in Eights—and an 18 per cent decrease in Sixes. Every high-priced American car is an Eight. The finest models of such foreign aristocrats as Bugatti, Bianchi, DeDion-Bouton, Isotta-Fraschini, Mercedes-Benz and Renault are Eights. Today over 41 per cent of all American makes of cars are Eights.

And Studebaker, enjoying its seventy-seventh successful year in business, sells more Eights than any other manufacturer in the world.

So why pay as much or more for a Six when you can have a champion Eight by Studebaker—holder of 11 world records and more American stock car records for speed and endurance than all other makes combined? A Studebaker Eight, brilliant with the power, the smoothness, the flexibility that only an Eight can deliver. An Eight as economical as the thriftiest Six. And styled with a notable smartness all the way through.

Remember what happened to the Fours in the medium and high priced fields. Sixes today are succumbing to Eights the same way. Now that it costs no more to own and drive one—get an Eight—a champion Studebaker Eight!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Never again need scientific research grope in darkened cellars behind doors bolted against torture. AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has swept before it the ignorant barrier which stupidly impeded men of genius and science marches proudly on.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation-No Cough.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

NAVAL CONFERENCE

France, Italy and Japan have accepted the invitation of Great Britain to attend a five-power naval conference in London in January. Although their views touching disarmament may not coincide with those of Great Britain and the United States, who have initiated the conference, they had no alternative but to respond favorably. Undoubtedly differences will present themselves not related to those which London and Washington are seeking to adjust, and which are essential to the success of any plan of disarmament.

It is understood that exception will be taken to the proposition that future disarmament is predicated on the Kellogg treaty. Both Ramsay MacDonald and President Hoover have subscribed to this principle, which means in brief that the determination of naval defense rests primarily on the pledge renouncing war as an instrument of national policy. This is quite a different starting point from the old one which assumed that wars both defensive and offensive had to be provided for. The most that need be considered now is defense, and that in a limited degree, provided nations engaged in fixing armament limitations subscribe to the theory that they are not going to fight.

Whatever the position of Italy, France and Japan may be on this thesis, the most that can be hoped for in the beginning is its limited acceptance. This is what the United States and Great Britain are endeavoring to bring about. If they succeed they expect that it will lead gradually to further disarmament down to the point of nominal military defense as the result of universal peace-mindedness and peace expectancy.

Another question to be settled at the January conference, in which the views of the three smaller powers are likely to be opposed to those of the two major powers, is abolishment of the submarine. It is said both France and Italy consider the submarine as vital to their national defense. Obviously its use would be contemplated principally against Great Britain. Nevertheless, it is an effective branch of the military establishment of both England and the United States, and if they can do without it other nations can also. The submarine is not the first line of defense of any nation nor is it of even secondary importance. It is conceivable that it could be abolished without harm to any nation and with benefit to all. The three minor powers are likely to ask for a different ratio of strength in the categories other than those covered by the Washington conference, which confined itself to battleships.

All of these questions are capable of solution. They are no more serious than those which have kept Great Britain and the United States apart for a number of years. Indeed, they will all have to be adjusted and they all will be adjusted because disarmament is necessary and inevitable.

FORGET WAR-TIME ANIMOSITY

The decision just won by an American architect against Belgium officials may be sound legally, but it looks pretty poor otherwise to thoughtful Americans.

The architect who designed the rebuilt Louvain library, destroyed by the German army in 1914, planned originally to inscribe on the balustrade Latin words meaning, "Destroyed by German Madness—Rebuilt by American Generosity."

Belgian authorities, preparing to dedicate the restored building, wanted the inscription to read "Destroyed in War; Rebuilt in Peace." After much argument, the building was finally dedicated in 1928, with the place for the inscription left blank. A long legal fight has now won the architect the right to place there his original inscription.

German madness and American generosity are terms which might have been acceptable during the World War or immediately afterward. Today they sound crude and bitter. A truly generous giver does not want his generosity memorialized in such an inscription. Truly enlightened men and women, whatever they think of the guilt of Germany's war leaders, know the injustice and folly of cutting the German madness phrase into enduring stone.

Having won his legal victory, the architect would do well to change his inscription or let it go entirely. He will win greater fame and respect by such an omission than by carrying out a project conceived in the heat of war-time animosity.

SENATORIAL LOBBY PROBE

Washington dispatches indicate that the senatorial lobby investigation is going to be worth while. The preliminaries only are in motion, but the way witnesses are being handled would lead us to believe that the committee is determined to get to the bottom of activities by all special interests concerned with legislation. During recent years frequent references have been made, both in and out of congress, to the increasingly extensive and intensive work of lobbyists. It has been openly charged that groups of interests sponsoring or opposing legislation were spending very large sums of money. We do not refer particularly to organizations like the Anti-Saloon League, but to the efforts of commerce, industry and finance to control making of laws for profit. The recent investigation of Mr. Shearer's performances at Geneva brought out incidentally the fact that shipbuilding companies had maintained a lobby at Washington which spent approximately $150,000 to promote government aid to a merchant marine.

There is no doubt that the tariff beneficiaries keep lobbyists at the national capital most of the time, and that they are there in force whenever tariff revision is before congress. The amount the protected interests have expended to maintain and increase duties would be surprising if it were known, but it probably goes farther into the millions of dollars than the public imagines. There are countless lobbies at Washington all the time. Many of them get what they want and all of them get something in the aggregate or their employers would get tired of coughing up.

There is no way to determine how many of the laws on the statute books as well as bills kept out of the statutes, are due to the pressure and influence of lobbying, but it may be accepted as certain they are extensive in both fields. The game of obtaining favors and assistance to this and that project along with the killing of others, is an enormous enterprise. High priced lawyers, ex-officers and politicians make up the small army that constantly camps on the trail of congress and the various administrative departments. We do not know how close the senate committee can get to the full truth of lobbying, but if it gets anywhere near to the bottom it will be a revelation that will startle the country. The press should give the committee all possible assistance and moral support.

MECHANIZING THE FARMS

The way in which the engine is replacing the horse on American farms is strikingly illustrated by figures recently issued by the Department of Commerce.

In 1918 American farmers owned more horses than ever before—more than 21,500,000. By 1928, however, this total had shrunk to 14,541,000—a decline far too great to be explained simply on the basis of the agricultural depression.

In the same time the use of tractors increased amazingly. In 1920 there were only 229,332 tractors in use in the American farm belt. Last year this figure had risen to 781,745—and it's still going up.

This is a significant trend. Increasing mechanization may yet do much to lift the farmer back to his old position of economic independence.

It is estimated that the United States consumes 297,485,000 barrels of gasoline yearly, or 76.2 per cent of the world's total consumption. All of North American accounts for 310,655,000 barrels, or 79.54 per cent. Europe consumes slightly more than 14 per cent.

Seen And Heard
In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—The race to put up the tallest office building having been projected, on paper, to the 100-story stage, architects are frowning over the elevator problem.

The shaft space, cable weight and speed have to be considered, and probably such ingenious arrangements as double-deck cabs. The population of the Woolworth building is about 10,000. Bigger buildings will, of course, house many more who must be transported to new heights as expeditiously as possible.

Another limiting factor is the capacity of the average human ear to withstand vibration in an elevator cab traveling at a speed of more than 1,500 feet a minute. Whether people can become accustomed to the sensation of faster service remains to be determined.

Less than a century ago, engineers recall, doctors of a German city prepared a weighty professional protest against the proposal to bring a railroad to their city. They feared for those unfortunate citizens whose health might be injured by observing the trains as they raced through the countryside at the fantastic speed of 20 miles an hour.

OFFICE-HUNTING A-WING

The tendency to rear taller buildings probably has no connection with aviation, none of the plans as yet including landing platforms or mooring stations.

But a landlord reports an interesting incident. A man called up to rent an office, "high up."

"How about the thirty-fifth floor?" asked the rental agent.

"No," said the caller. "I want one in the forties. I flew over the building yesterday and I like it up there."

SPECIALISTS

Society's advertised endorsement of certain products apparently is giving way to another form of salesmanship culture.

One Fifth avenue store has hired the Grand Duchess Marie of Russia as advisor to its clientele. This was followed by another establishment importing a Parisian princess who, for $300 or more, will take over any woman and attempt to enhance her cosmetic beauty with the right clothes.

TRAGEDY, WITH SOUND

A novel specialist reports that domestic difficulties and divorce often are traceable to irritabilities caused by the city's noise. This reminds me of a story passed around by several Park row reporters.

The news men were regular diners in a certain restaurant situated amidst the commercial noise of downtown. They began to notice an old couple that came to the restaurant every day.

The wife was sweet and motherly and her husband was a typical gentleman of what is called the old school—kindly, dignified and courteous. It was obvious that each was fond of the other. The man ordered for his wife with tender care and treated her with unflinching chivalry.

But as the weeks went by, the reporters observed a gradual change. The old gentleman became gruff and quarrelsome, the wife became petulant and peevish. The constant din had roughed their velvet manner. One night they had words and the husband left in a huff. The next day the old man appeared alone. The woman never came back. They had separated.

Today's Anniversary

BURGOYNE SURRENDERS

British General Burgoyne's campaign into New York state from Canada ended disastrously on Oct. 17, 1777, when he surrendered with about 5,000 men to American General Gates at Saratoga.

Burgoyne landed in America early in 1777, having been placed in charge of a powerful expedition of about 10,000 men with orders to penetrate into New York state from Canada, march south along the valley of the Hudson and join General Howe's forces, so as to divide the American confederacy in half.

The British general captured Ticonderoga on July 5, but on Aug. 15 a detachment of his army was almost annihilated. He was decisively defeated at Stillwater and surrendered on Oct. 17. Burgoyne's surrender was an important victory for the colonists and has been termed the turning point in the revolution.

Washington permitted Burgoyne to return to England, but he was refused an audience with the king and was denied court-martial. The British general went over to the Opposition party and resigned his appointments; but on a change of ministry at the close of the American war he was appointed commander-in-chief of Ireland.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

HOW DARE YOU HAVE A COLD?

Altho some readers will not concede it, a great fault of mine, as a health authority, is that I am inclined to overestimate the intelligence of the general public. Experienced newspaper people have warned me against this failing time and again. Nevertheless I am constrained—and I believe any one who knows my style as a newspaper writer will take this for what it is worth—I am constrained to credit the general public with a fair degree of intelligence.

I base my estimate upon the general character of the letters I receive from all classes of readers everywhere. Of course I know, and often deplore the abysmal ignorance of the great majority of laymen in respect to physiology, hygiene and health, and accordingly I do try to talk down to the level of intelligence of my readers about these subjects. But so far as ordinary matters of life are concerned, the character of the letters I get convinces me that the general public is not so dumb as my colleagues would have me think.

Even in respect to hygiene or the ways of health it seems apparent to me that there is a steadily increasing popular intelligence. This may not yet make itself obvious in the public health records, but I have no doubt whatever that it is actually accountable for what no public health regulation can effect, namely, a reduction in the prevalence of cold, croup, influenza and other respiratory infections in the early stage before the nature of the illness or indisposition is definitely known yet when the infection is most readily spread, in a majority of cases.

Regardless of the attitude of the public health authorities on this important cause of disabling illness, or one might even say their reactionary efforts to sell the public the unfounded "colds" so called are at other than infectious origin or character, I venture to say that the time will come, if it is not already here, when no responsible person will dare to pretend to have "just a cold" and to keep at his usual work or play, a menace to all who happen to come within his or her spray range. As things are now in some of our large industrial or commercial establishments, the low grade workers, or underlings scarcely dare pretend to have a "cold," but the drivers in the next higher grade, the people who so fondly class themselves as "executives" reserve the privilege of continuing at work when they have "slight colds."

This sort of abuse is only one of the evils which we must ascribe to the weak and vague policy of our present public health authorities. They don't know where they're at, in the prevention of the respiratory infections; and running around in circles they manage to impede as much as possible the growth of popular intelligence in regard to the question, with their subsidized "intensive" research programs in quest of the cause and nature of the mysterious ailment they call "the common cold" but carefully refrain from defining so that any one may know what they are talking about.

If you wish to be honest and fair about it, the only name you can properly give your indisposition at the onset, when of course you don't know yet just what it is going to be, is, cold. If you don't wish to play fair—call it "a cold" and you will have some support and assurance from the old fogey health authorities in your plot to spread the infection.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—Another star has "descended" from the heights of grand opera to lend his talents to those lowly movies which were once, in their cradle days, scorned by the actors of the stage.

And Don Jose Mojica (pronounced Moheeka) has a story refreshingly different from the tales of hard struggle and woe told by most actors as the history of the upward climb.

For Don Jose, a young man heralded in press agency as possessing "the grace of a Valentino and the voice of a Caruso," seems to have had a fairly godmother watching over his career.

"I have always been fortunate," he says. "Always good luck has followed me, and everywhere I have gone I have found good friends who helped me. It seems that in whatever I have tried to do my path has been open and free. I never have had anything to complain of or to be bitter about."

LURED BY FARM

Don Jose was born in Mexico, of a family whose ancestors came from Barcelona, Spain, more than a century ago. He was educated in Mexico City and attended the National School of Agriculture there intending to be a farmer.

But he discovered his voice and turned to music, singing in amateur opera when he was 15 years old. Professionally he began his career with the Chicago Civic Opera company, with which he remained eight years, singing leading roles with such stars as Mary Garden, Galli-Curci, Hewpel and others.

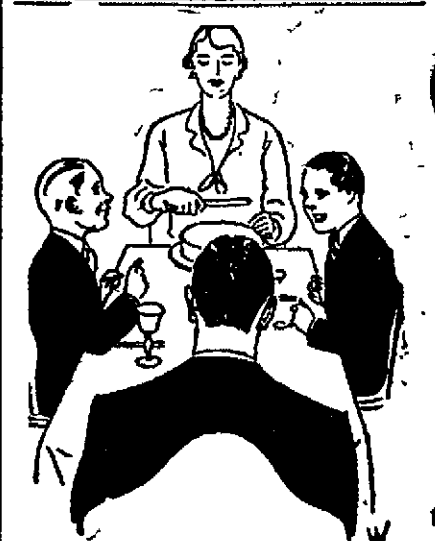

His talkie debut, by the way, does not mean he will forsake his operatic career—he has reserved the right to return to opera and concert for a period every year.

The sales of Mojica's phonograph records, especially in Latin-American countries, run in the thousands. His first talkie is to be a Spanish romance, yet untitled, with a special version for Spanish-speaking countries in which all the songs will be sung in that tongue.

PATENT OWNED BY R. C. A. IS UPHELD BY HIGH TRIBUNAL

Independent Dealers Drop Fight When They Lose British Decision

Copyright, 1929, By Cons. Press
Washington—The relentless attack of the independent radio manufacturers against the patent holdings of what they term the "radio trust" suddenly checked with the decision of the privy council, Great Britain's highest tribunal, sustaining the Alexander patent, radio frequency patent, owned by the Radio Corporation of America, as against the Schenck-Von Bronk device, seized by the United States from Germany during the war.

These devices, entirely similar in function, are the very heart of every radio receiving set used today. The independents have centered their case against RCA and its affiliated interests on the claim that the Von Bronk patent, held by the United States Navy, anticipated the RCA owner Alexander patent.

Aggression through one of its committees began an investigation of this, and means to continue it. A high ranking officer of the army charged that the government had defended its claim in this controversy in "a sort of jettisoned way" and believed that the RCA patent was illegal.

RCA announces receipt of a report from London that the privy council, in appeal has upheld its own patent. The supreme court of Canada previously had ruled that the Von Bronk was the prior one, and in this case reversed the decision of one of its lower courts which had sustained the Alexander patent. In the United States there have been two cases involving these patents, both of which were decided in favor of RCA.

This patent case has stirred the entire industry. The RCA, under its cross-licensing arrangement, licenses its patent along with many others, to more than thirty of the leading receiving set manufacturers, for which it receives 7-12 per cent of the revenue of these companies.

HELD BY NAVY
The Von Bronk patent, on the other hand, was seized by the alien property custodian, and turned over to the navy. The navy, under a licensing arrangement, licenses this patent, and other seized radio devices, to the industry, under a "reciprocal" arrangement, which the navying because of the instability.

Last May, the senate interstate commerce committee, during the course of its hearings on the Coughlin bill to create a federal communications commission, heard flagrant charges regarding the tuned radio frequency and other patents. Col. H. H. Knipfel, in charge of patent work in the army, said that in his opinion the Von Bronk patent was not being properly defended by the government.

Col. F. Schuette, executive secretary of the Radio Protective Association, representing radio independents, made similar charges. The committee then decided it would pursue an intensive investigation of the entire radio patent situation.

Added significance is given this decision of Great Britain's highest court, in view of the current conditions within the radio industry. There are rumblings of giant mergers of set manufacturers, some of which already have materialized. The general belief is that these manufacturers, with their patent resources thrown together, may be able to manufacture sets without the use of patents held by others. The creation of the General Motors Radio Corporation, to be 49 per cent owned by the RCA, is seen as a movement which will force other mergers in the industry.

TRY "TRUST"
In direct response to the announcement of General Motors' entry in the radio set field, Mr. Schuette, on behalf of the independents, has asked the justice department to prevent the "combination" as a violation of the Sherman law, and demanding an investigation of it. In a telegram to Attorney General Mitchell, Mr. Schuette said the "alliance of General Motors with Radio Corporation, General Electric and Westinghouse interests, emphasized by interlocking directorate, violates Sherman anti-trust law."

Under the reciprocal patent agreement, whereby General Motors could use RCA radio patents, Mr. Schuette contends, General Motors interests "acquiesce in the alleged validity of illegal patent pool" of the RCA and its affiliated companies, "thus eliminating the one powerful technical organization that would be in a position to oppose the patent claims of the 'radio trust'."

RECORD POTATO CROP IS FOUND AT EAGLE RIVER
Madison —(P)— Oscar Gunderson, immigration superintendent for the state department of agriculture and markets believes Amos Radcliffe, near Eagle River, has probably the greatest potato crop in Wisconsin this year. He raised over 30,000 bushels of certified potatoes on 170 acres of land. The potato farm on which this acreage was part is thought to be the largest in the state, also. Farmer Radcliffe is also harvesting a "tremendous" crop of Idaho clover seed. Mr. Gunderson said.

Hotbed Boosts Scope Of Gardener's Work

BY D. VICTOR LUMSDEN
A hotbed greatly increases the scope of the home gardener's operations and enables him to have flowers and vegetables at an earlier date than he can expect if he does not have one.

Placing a hotframe over the hotbed confines the warmth to a limited space and gives conditions for growth which approximate the ideal outdoor conditions for growth which generally occur later in the spring.

The heat for a hotbed frequently is furnished by a layer of decaying manure in a pit underneath the soil used for the crop. The glass sash which cover the frame confine the heat given off by the manure and furnished by the sun. The sash serve further to maintain a humid condition in the frame desirable for growth.

For the home gardener fall is a good time to make a hotframe. The standard sash used to cover such frames measures six feet by three feet; hence the frame should be six feet wide and any multiple of three feet long. The frame may be of wood, concrete, or brick. Planks two inches thick make a substantial frame, but one inch material can be used where a less permanent frame will serve. Make the frame 10 inches high in front and 18 inches high in the rear; this gives an eight-inch slope to the sash when they rest on top of the frame.

A pit 30 inches deep is required, as 24 inches of manure and six inches of soil must be placed in the excavation. After settling, the level of the bed will be a little lower than the surface of the surrounding soil, which is desirable.

In a well constructed hotbed the frame should extend to the bottom of the pit, but good results are obtained where the frame extends only a few inches below the surface of the soil. In the latter case the frame can be built before the pit is dug, but the excavation should not extend to the limits of the frame and thus weaken its foundation. Also, a firm soil is essential in this method.

The frame should be built so the long dimension of the sash will slope eight inches and to the south. Full sunlight throughout the day is desirable. If the back side of the hotbed is located three feet from and to the south of a fence or building, this protects the frame from cold winds and also gives a reflection of sunlight to the hotbed.

After the frame is made and the pit dug, put the sash on the frame to keep out the snow and rain of the winter. Early in the spring put the manure and soil in the pit. The good

BETTER INDUSTRY TO HELP FARMERS, REALTORS ADVISED

Encourage Industry to Locate in State, Commissioner Suggests

Madison —(P)— Development of industry in Wisconsin as an aid to the farmer was advocated before real estate agents of the state today by H. H. Knipfel, one of the new commissioners of agriculture.

Outlining the Wisconsin crop situation, as now prevailing, Mr. Knipfel presented for the realtors the problem of cut-over lands, of the north.

"Agricultural development these is not profitable now and in my judgment will not be for many years to come. If any one thinks that a wonderful period of agricultural prosperity is just around the corner and a great portion of the good land will be sold for agricultural purposes, in a few years, they are badly mistaken," he said. "It is also quite certain central and southern Wisconsin are not going to subsidize the north. Wisconsin needs development of a sound forestry policy and I believe it will be made."

"Township and county governments of the north need to make a quick but complete economic survey of their conditions as to schools, further development of roads, recreational facilities and possibilities for merging of townships and county governments, moving of isolated settlers and abandoning some school districts in order to keep going.

"Our department will do all it can in cooperation."

Mr. Knipfel again stressed the need of consolidation of farm organizations, for economical marketing.

Real estate men, holding farm property, he said, have a real problem, solvable in time, but requiring real statesmanship to formulate a program.

"Wisconsin has much to offer to people from the outside. Industry must be encouraged. It will help make agriculture more prosperous. You realtors have far more to offer here in Wisconsin than in many states, but yet such places as southern Texas are getting money that should be invested in agriculture in this state."

Mr. Knipfel opened his address with the optimistic statement that "contrary to the thought of many people that Wisconsin agriculture is in dire straits, it is recovering and is in as good or better position now than since the immediate post-war period, in my opinion."

He then told of Wisconsin's advantages in balanced agriculture and agricultural leadership.

BRAMWELL BOOTH'S DAUGHTER SENT TO REMOTE ARMY POST

London — (AP) — Commissioner Lucy Booth Helberg, youngest daughter of the founder of the Salvation army, left today for South America to take up one of the smallest and most isolated posts in the army service.

With her departure she leaves behind in England and in Sweden all she holds dear, including a home and child. Her husband is buried in Stockholm.

Weeping and with a broken voice she told an audience of the Salvation army last night at London how it had come about.

Shortly before his death General Bramwell Booth appointed her a traveling commissioner for the army in Europe, with her headquarters at her home in Stockholm.

She was very happy with this in prospect but recently was told that General Higgins, the new commander-in-chief, had canceled the first appointment an ordered her to South America.

Mrs. Helberg, who is 61 years old, said she carried her problem to her husband's grave and prayed for aid in its solution and decided there she must not create an act of rebellion against this new army regime.

She wrote on the grave a letter of acceptance of the new post to her army superiors. Concluding her address, she held up an army flag and reconsecrated herself with tears to the service of the organization.

MORE PERJURY CHARGES SEEN IN PANTAGES CASE

Los Angeles — (AP) — Intimations by District Attorney Byron Fitts that perjury charges will be filed against more witnesses in the case of Alexander Pantages heightened interest today in the trial of the theatre magnate on charges of criminally attacking Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer.

Fitts' statement came after a day of startling turns in the trial, featured by the indictment of Garland Biffle, first defense witness for Pantages, on a perjury charge.

Biffle, who was arrested Tuesday after he testified he had overheard Miss Pringle say to Nicholas Duneau, a writer, just before she visited the theatre man's office on the day of the asserted attack, that Pantages "would be sorry" if he did not book her vaudeville act. The state contends that Duneau was not in the theatre at the time referred to by Biffle.

During a court room argument over the Biffle testimony Fitts asserted that in all his experience he had "never seen such cold-blooded, deliberate attempts to suborn perjury as have been made by Alexander Pantages and his son, Rodney, in this case."

HONOR MEMORY OF REV. FR. BONDUOL

Antigo — (AP) — Late in October of 1852, a band of Menominee Indians paddled up the Wolf river, bringing with them the missionary, the Rev. Fr. Florimund Bonduel.

Within a few days, the anniversary of that trip will be celebrated as hundreds gather to attend the 77th birthday of the Keshena Catholic mission.

The memory of Fr. Bonduel, who is credited with having obtained for the Indians their present reservation, will be honored at special ceremonies.

"ACCIDENT" SERIES BRINGS COURT FINE

Milwaukee — (AP) — The first time H. L. Snyder backed his car into Harry McLawrence's machine, it was an accident. The second time, it was not. Snyder was fined $25.00 on the ground of malice.

DEPUTIES CAN'T BE BOUNCERS AT DANCES

Milwaukee — (AP) — Decees the Milwaukee co. board of supervisors: Deputy sheriffs who insist on picking up extra money as "bouncers" in county roadhouses will be bounced. The board took this action in a meeting yesterday, holding up Sheriff Charles Reichenbach, who suspended several men.

HE TALKS TOO MUCH, HELD IN DEATH CASE

Milwaukee — (AP) — Being too smart was the reason why Frank Koput, 19, was in jail today facing manslaughter charges. He convinced police he wasn't the driver of a car that killed a woman; then went from jail and told others how he had "foxed the cops." The police rearrested him and obtained a confession.

PALM BEACH BUSY PROTECTING ITS AESTHETIC VALUE

Palm Beach, Fla. — (AP) — In order to protect the "aesthetic value" of Palm Beach, as the town council expresses it, sundry enterprises ranging from blacksmiths to bull fights, have been forbidden.

A new ordinance affects tourist camps, barbecue stands, bed-springs and mattress factories, blacksmith shops, junk yards, bull fights, bowling alleys, poultry raising, dry cleaning establishments, signs, beer boilers, ice plants, livery stables and landing places for airplanes.

Operators of such businesses will be given ten days notice to close shop or be subject to a fine of $500. The tax collector is empowered in the ordinance to refuse occupational license.

THINKS BODY NOT THAT OF COMPANION

Paris Art Student Not Permitted to See Body of Man Found in River

New Orleans — (AP) — Nothing daunted by the working assumption of authorities that the body found on the levee below New Orleans with a bullet through the heart was that of her companion, Jack Kraft, New York writer and adventurer, Jone Ord, Paris art student, today held a belief the body identification was erroneous.

"I don't believe the body taken from the river was Jack's," she said in her prison cell, "they won't let me see it."

The girl, held as a material witness in the investigation of the puzzling disappearance of Kraft from the steamship Creole in the Mississippi river, 55 miles below New Orleans, since her detention has maintained that her companion either jumped or fell over the ship's rail.

Last night a deputy sheriff of Plaquemine Parish met the steamship Creole at the mouth of the river on its return trip to New York and attempted to remove from it second Officer John McGouldrick, wanted by District Attorney Leander Perez for questioning in the matter.

Captain E. W. Sundstrom declined to honor the subpoena to appear on the ground that the ship could not proceed without its second officer.

Miss Ord and Sam Epstein, the latter the steward of the Creole, are being held as material witnesses in the New Orleans parish prison.

According to their stories, they, with McGouldrick, were on the deck of the ship late one night about a week ago when Kraft, with whom the girl was traveling, from New York to New Orleans, came up and suddenly leaped overboard.

The attempt to hold McGouldrick was made after a letter to him from Miss Ord, apparently indicating a strong personal relation between the two had been intercepted by authorities. Since the investigation started have been working upon a jealousy theory in trying to build up a murder case. Previously the girl admitted Kraft, on the night of his disappearance, had slapped and choked her for being too attentive to Epstein and McGouldrick.

MEXICAN GOVERNOR WINS IN FIGHT WITH COURT

Mexico City — (AP) — Dispatches from Ciudad Guzman today indicated that Acting Governor Francisco Alameda had gained a complete victory in his conflict with the state supreme court and part of the state congress.

The correspondent of El Universal said congress had rejected a petition to oust Alameda and call new state elections and thereafter had ousted three congressmen who had "slandered" the governor.

The El Universal dispatch added the president of the superior court, Antonio Sarabia, had been removed from his post, by a majority of congress, who upheld the acting governor's contention that Sarabia had overstepped the bounds in proceeding contrary to the governor's will against members of former state administrations on charges of embezzlement.

The dispatches said troops continued to surround the state congressional hall and the three ousted congressmen had wired President Portes Gil asking protection against possible violence.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Fair tonight and Friday; rising temperature Friday and in west and north tonight; frost tonight in southern portion.

GENERAL WEATHER

A deep "low" over the New England states this morning, causing general showers in that district and the north Atlantic states, with snow reported from Buffalo. Fair and cooler prevails in all sections between the Appalachian and Rocky Mountains, due to a high pressure area over the upper lakes and heavy frost over the country between Wisconsin and upper Michigan. Another "low" is moving in over northern Montana, bringing unsettled and warmer to the northern Rocky Mountain states and the upper Missouri Valley. Continued fair, with rising temperature, is expected in this district tonight and Friday.

Briefs About Badgers

"WITCH MURDER" CASE IS DRAWING NEAR END

Kalamazoo, Mich. — (AP) — Two contradictory character pictures of Mrs. Pearl Burgess were before the jury in circuit court today as her trial on a charge of slaying Mrs. Fairchild, 76, neared its end. A belief that Mrs. Fairchild had cast an "evil eye" upon the Burgess family has been attributed to the defense.

Mrs. Burgess was described by her counsel as a "good mother who broke under the strain of a troubled household." By the prosecuting attorney she was characterized as a "slender slayer" who "calmly plotted a snide slaying and just as calmly sought to evade punishment." The case is expected to go to the jury some time today.

Counsel for Mrs. Burgess declared her confession was an "attempt of a wife of 30 years to shield her husband from the crime she knew he had committed." Burgess, accused jointly with his wife, killed himself in the county jail here three weeks ago.

Additional testimony bearing upon Mrs. Burgess' reputed belief in witchcraft was presented yesterday. Dr. Rush McLean, physician to the Burgess family for 30 years, said Mrs. Burgess came to him last April and told him "evil influences" were everywhere about her. In her conversation, the physician said, Mrs. Burgess accused Mrs. Fairchild of exerting an evil influence over her 17-year-old daughter, Eugene.

J. P. MORGAN CHOSEN HARVARD ALUMNI HEAD

Cambridge, Mass. — (AP) — J. Pierpont Morgan, Harvard, '89, and head of the New York banking firm of J. P. Morgan and Company, has been elected president of the Harvard Alumni association for the current year in succession to John Burr, '89, of Boston it was announced today.

His election took place this week at the annual meeting of the alumni directors, who selected as the two vice-presidents, James M. Morton, '91, of Fall River, United States district judge in Massachusetts, and Albert A. Sprague, '97, of Chicago.

BISHOP NEAR DEATH

Peoria, Ill. — (AP) — The Right Rev. Edmund M. Dunne, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Peoria, was reported to be slowly sinking today after losing much strength during the night. Artificial respiration was resorted to by attending physicians. Bishop Dunne was stricken with paralysis last Saturday and has been unconscious since then, except for brief intervals.

DENIES AUTHENTICITY OF REPORT IN RUMANIA

Bucharest, Rumania. — (AP) — Count Caramanescu today denied the authenticity of an alleged interview with Queen Marie published in the newspaper Universal regarding the regency question.

The interview quoted the queen as accusing Premier Maniu of trying to minimize the influence of the royal family on the regency council to which a new member was recently appointed after the death of Garfore Buzdugan, former president of the supreme court of justice.

Many quarters expressed doubt concerning the authenticity of the interview as soon as it appeared and Premier Maniu, was reported

DEATH THREATS ARE MADE TO HALT MILK FLOW IN STRIKE AREA

Two Trucks Stopped, Milk
Dumped and Drivers' Lives Threatened

Kansas City — (AP) — Sabotage and threats of death again gave an ugly aspect to the Kansas City milk strike today, less than 48 hours after leaders of the striking milk producers assured Sheriff Jefferson D. Smedley of their cooperation in stopping vandalism.

Dumping of 200 gallons of milk from two trucks broke a peace which had ruled the strike for two days. F. Fitzgerald, driver of one of the trucks, said that after his supply of milk was poured in the road by a band of six men his life was threatened if he made further efforts to run the highway blockade which has forced most of the distributing plants to transport their milk from distant points by railroad.

No weapons were displayed in sight of either driver, but both said the men who stopped their trucks appeared determined to stop transportation of milk from Kansas City at all costs.

The two incidents brought the amount of milk so destroyed since the strike was called by the milk producers association of Kansas City on Oct. 7, to more than 3,000 gallons.

Civic service clubs and commercial organizations of several suburban towns have pledged their cooperation to the producers. E. P. Mulligan, president of the producers association, said today the strike is becoming more effective daily. Emergency sources of supply which have prevented a shortage of milk in the city are being eliminated through an association membership campaign, he said.

Meanwhile, the Kansas City Consumers' league, an organization of women, launched a new attack on milk inspection methods of the city health department and asserted that milk was being sold which was far below specifications of city ordinances.

Laboratory tests conducted by the league according to its officers, showed that only two of the ten largest distributors are selling pasteurized milk with a bacterial count as low as is required. In one test, the league report showed, a count of 500,000 per cubic centimeter was found, whereas the city ordinance calls for a maximum of 40,000.

O. C. Murphy, city commissioner of sanitation and inspection, said counts of his own department showed only one plant was below standard. He admitted milk was coming into the city from uninspected sources but explained that more frequent tests were being made of the milk itself.

MARKETING INSTITUTE TO BE HELD AT FREEDOM

Plans are being made by Gus Sell, agricultural agent, for a marketing institute at Freedom Dec. 11 and 12. Mr. Sell has arranged for the institute at the request of conference of farmers which met here this week. Marketing experts from the state department of agriculture will address the institute on phases of modern marketing. Co-operative marketing will be stressed by the speakers.

EXHIBITION OF MILK TESTING TO BE GIVEN

ALL OLD BORGER OFFICERS RESIGN

Last of Former Civic Officials in Martial Law District Now "Out"

Borger, Texas. — (AP) — The new broom had swept clean here today and all of the county and city officers, suspended when Gov. Dan Moody sent troops here to apply martial law after the assassination of District Attorney John A. Holmes, had resigned.

The last of the county officers under the old civil regime, Constable C. M. Cummings, quit his office late last night. Cummings was not suspended by Governor Moody's proclamation of martial law but was disarmed by state ranger when it became effective.

In sending the troops here the governor charged that a deeply entrenched criminal ring existed and later his representatives announced that martial law would not be lifted until the county and city administrations were in the hands of men approved by Clem Calhoun, new district attorney.

With all of the old officers out and most of them replaced by men approved by Calhoun, the troops were expected to return to their homes tomorrow or Saturday.

C. O. Moore, a Texas ranger, was made sheriff of the county yesterday by the county commissioner's court and Albert Mace, police chief at Macon, Texas, was made chief of police here. Mace took over his job at Macon in 1923 when the troops left there after quelling a lawless situation similar to the one which existed here.

Preparations for the departure of the troops were expected the moment the county commissioners rounded out their appointments. Two constables remain to be appointed here, as well as a justice of the peace. In addition to these a complete set of

Rural Child Healthier, Examinations Indicate

The farm boys and girls have grown and changed the bit over the mile or two mile trudge to the little red schoolhouse, but at last it shows its reward. The country school child is healthier than the city pupil, declare the physicians who have been making the school children physical examinations, and the vigor is attributed to more fresh air and the long walks to and from school.

City children, the doctors state, live too close to their schools as a rule, and too often they are driven to school when walking would do them good.

The deplorable lack of smallpox vaccinations among school children is becoming more and more apparent as the examinations proceed, more than half of the city children being unprotected against the disease. The situation makes local doctors fearful of the consequences should a smallpox epidemic strike Appleton, and they are constantly urging parents to see that their children are made immune to the disease.

Examinations have been completed in Franklin, Columbus, Jefferson, Washington and St. Mary schools, assistants to the new sheriff must be approved.

The district court continued to grind away today at its criminal grist. George W. Hoff, whose trial for possession of liquor was the first criminal trial in the county since the declaration of martial law, won an acquittal. A similar case against L. W. Rook was immediately taken up.

No indication had been given as to the course of the grand jury's deliberations, but it was supposed the jurors were studying every scrap of evidence bearing on the assassination of Holmes.

SALE of "Puppy Dogs"

FRI. SAT. MON. TUES.
A "PUP" is the slang phrase by which a Sticker or hard selling item is known by our salespeople. We're not making any excuses for this Sale — And we're not trying to convey the idea that you are getting something for nothing. As a matter of fact, you usually get just about what you pay for, wherever you buy.

We make a straight from the shoulder confession that every store buys certain goods — which seem at the time to be imbued one hundred per cent with "It," but which later prove slow sellers. These items prove the rule so out they go at the prices we believe you'll pay. Including merchandise from our wholesale department.

Your best plan, of course, is to come and examine — see for yourselves, and weigh the prices. The prices are ridiculously small in each instance. You'll agree, when you've seen the values, that we've tied a can to the "Pups" tail by a very short string indeed!

You'll not be persuaded to buy this merchandise. It must sell itself. As far as we can see it's nothing to "bark" about — because we've looked at it so long — but Prices Considered.

Boys' Blazers Fancy patterns. Last year's numbers and some salesman's samples. Regular $2.50 — $1.50	37 SILK DRESSES $1.75 Not many women want summery dresses now, but we don't either. We suggest they are a good buy at this price for house or general morning wear. Values to $10.00.	CHILDREN'S VESTS AND PANTS Styles of underwear have changed — most women and children now wearing Rayons or something else other than knit goods. These children's items worth 59c. Now— 19c
MEN'S JUMPERS Here's a few numbers that we're tired of looking at. So out they go. Regular $3.75 — $1.75	56 SILK DRESSES $5.00 You wouldn't believe we could sell these lovely dresses for only $5.00, and we couldn't ordinarily. They should have brought $10.50 each. But alongside our smart new Fall Frocks they're not so "hot." Tomorrow we'll say good-bye to them.	LADIES' VESTS AND UNIONS Qualities are as good as ever but here we offer Unions and separate garments, cotton and mixtures at way below cost. Values to $1.00, special 39c
MEN'S FLANNEL SHIRTS A "pup" because they are only in a few sizes, so out they go. Regular $3.00 — $1.65	CHILDREN'S Wool STOCKINGS Fine quality ribbed hose in black and camel only. The mill stopped making them so we don't want them either. Regular 59c — 39c	RAYON UNDERTHINGS Our Wholesale Department is loaded with silk underthings. Many of these garments were made to sell for $1.50. Make this a Xmas item — 69c
MEN'S WOOL PANTS Somewhat shabby from their long stay in the stock room. We don't want to see them again. Regular $4.75 — $1.65	MEN'S FANCY HOSE Fancy patterns, and of fine quality Silk and Wool. But nevertheless they are not selling so out they go. Regular 50c — 23c	SHOPPING BASKETS We bought these because of their wonderful 79c value. But our trade didn't, and that's the test of good merchandise. We're satisfied to take our loss now — then try something else . . . 29c
BOYS' LONGIES We bought a lot and sold a lot, but there are some left. You'll get $2.75 values in this clean-up tomorrow for — $1.65	MEN'S GOLF HOSE Jacquard and stripe patterns, and of finest wool. Hardly Pups for they are good looking. Regular $2.00. Special— 95c

LAUNCH MOVE FOR SKATING RINKS

Women's Study Club Backs Movement Started in Petition to Council

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Plans for three skating rinks for New London children have been launched by the Women's Study Club. A petition to the city requesting that these parks be established and maintained by the city in advantageous locations recently was tendered to the council. The matter was referred to the board of public works. Women of the club and other similar organizations feel that the skating on the river is not safe for little children and wish the aldermen to provide amusement parks where skating may be safely enjoyed as soon as the skating season begins.

SPOONER PHYSICIAN TESTING CATTLE IN CALUMET-CO AREA

Reports Percentage of Reactors Low; Results to Be Found Saturday

Forest Junction—The Calumet-co area test for tuberculosis in cattle has progressed, to the vicinity of this village, where Dr. E. D. Schrock of Spooner, made the injections Wednesday morning. The results are to be determined Saturday morning. Besides the Edward Freitag herd, there were only three individually owned head of cattle to be treated within the bounds of the village.

Dr. Schrock, who is applying the test throughout the town of Brillion, had covered all of the territory north of Highway 10 when in the village Wednesday morning. This is estimated to contain approximately one-half of the herds in the township. The percentage of reactors has been low, and no cases in the town have so far been discovered where an entire herd has been affected.

Twelve students are working throughout the county, and it is expected to complete the test in about two weeks.

The village residence of Layman Stanelle, route 1, occupied until recently by Mrs. Charles Keller as tenant, is being remodeled. Workmen this week have been engaged in making basement alterations, and the main section of the one-story cottage is being reconstructed into a two-story dwelling.

Striven suddenly with appendicitis Monday evening after a period of basketball practice at Brillion, where he is attending high school, Alfred Broehm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Broehm, is recovering at St. Vincent's hospital at Green Bay following a surgical operation performed early Tuesday morning.

CHILTON WOMEN ATTEND FOND DU LAC SERVICES

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton—Mrs. William Scheafer and Mrs. G. M. Morrissey were in Fond du Lac Monday afternoon to attend the funeral of Louis Ammel, 74, who died at the home of his daughter Mrs. William Boose at Poyssippi on Friday. Other survivors are two sons, Claude of San Diego, Calif., and Harland of Fond du Lac. Mr. Ammel was an uncle to Mrs. Morrissey and had visited in this city frequently.

Mrs. Edward Bonk is ill in a hospital in Chicago and is undergoing treatments there.

Mrs. John Huntz is in Marshfield where she is visiting her brothers Henry and Fred Kamp.

Mrs. Elizabeth Groetinger entertained the Past Matrons club at her home on Wednesday afternoon, twelve being present.

Miss Cella Hipke of New Holstein is visiting at the home of her brother Arthur. On Tuesday next she leaves for Florida to spend the winter with her sister Ludmilla.

Mrs. J. Dittes and son of Sheboygan are visiting at the home of the former's brother William F. Stauss.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben-Mapes visit friends in Milwaukee Monday.

Mrs. Anna Osthoff entertained the county council of Women's clubs for Calumet-co at her home on Wednesday afternoon, 12 being present. This council meets twice each year, and this was the regular fall meeting.

Matters pertaining to Woman's club work were discussed, and the necessity of having a county nurse was pointed out. Those present were Mrs. Otto Zander, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. A. F. Paustian of Brillion; Mrs. George Leverenz, Mrs. Herman Tiedjens, Mrs. R. Schilling, Mrs. M. V. Jones, Mrs. Bruno Griem, and Mrs. Nora Boege of New Holstein, and Mrs. Anna Osthoff, Mrs. H. F. Arps and Mrs. Frank Tesch of Chilton.

Officers elected for the coming year were Mrs. Anna Osthoff, chairman; Mrs. Zander, vice-chairman; Mrs. H. F. Arps, secretary; Mrs. Jones, treasurer.

An adjourned school meeting on Monday evening was well attended. Business transacted was the reading and adoption of the report of the committee appointed to work in conjunction with the school board in securing necessary information to provide the proper school accommodations for this district.

The committee visited various schools and held conferences with architects, all of whom advised against building on the site upon which the present school building is located. This was the third adjourned meeting held since the annual meeting on July 9.

THIS SPEECH RETURNS

Durham, England—James Richardson, who lost his voice in the World war, had it restored to him in an odd way. He was walking across the street when a motorcycle bore down on him. He jumped and at the same time cried, "That was a close one." He thus found his voice and proceeded to sing all his favorite songs to convince himself.

Mary Didn't Want it Bobbed, But —

How do you like Mary Brian with bobbed hair? Well, it was a shame that this charming young movie star had to part with her lovely long tresses, but the part she has in a forthcoming production is that of a child—and the bob, which she had held out against, was inevitable. Above, Mary is shown as her hair was cut by Nellie Marie Manly. The inset shows Mary's bob.

CABLES ARE FAST COMING INTO USE THROUGHOUT U. S.

Hundred Million to Be Spent in Next Five Years by Telephone Line

BY DEN G. KLINE
(Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press)
San Francisco—Telephone and telegraph communications in this country, which growing business prosperity and nationwide interest in the securities markets have been stimulating to record growth during the last few years, are fast getting on a cable basis.

Right now if the wife sends a cable message home for funds it does not mean, strictly speaking, that she has some broke at Monte Carlo or Paris. She may be merely telephoning from a nearby city. Cables, originally used for trans-oceanic communications, are growing at a much faster rate on land than under sea.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, West coast unit of the monopolistic Bell system, has announced a program of expansion which calls for the expenditure of more than $100,000,000 during the next five years. More than half this amount will pay for cables to replace open wires and expand existing facilities. The longest land cable in the world, from Canada to Mexican border, with two separate routes between San Francisco and Los Angeles, will be the main artery of a system linking centers of population in five far West states and connecting with trans-continental routes.

Expansion plans call for eight routes between East and West, with cables now being laid protecting the wires through mountainous regions. Radio, telegraph and telephone use these trans-continental circuits, and whether the wires are being utilized for a nationwide broadcast of a baseball game, a long distance telephone call of the instantaneous transmission of stock exchange quotations, the demand is for trouble-free circuits, which old fashioned lines strung on poles cannot guarantee.

Modern scientific wizardry has increased the use of a single pair of wires, from 16 to 200 of which are carried in lead cables of the different sizes, to an extent almost unbelievable. "Give me a circuit."

A single pair of wires now can provide four telephone circuits and two telegraphic circuits, or one telephone circuit and 38 telegraphic circuits, or other combinations as needed.

PHANTOM GROUP

Two pairs of wires associated as a phantom group and properly transposed can provide nine telephone circuits and four telegraphic circuits, or three telephone and 16 telegraphic circuits. Over a cable average talkers can speak 30,000 words a minute. Telephone wires now are virtually wired radio carriers, with messages by voice or code on various wave lengths.

Thought lead cables are largely storm proof, especially if placed underground as they are through mountainous country, and are five-fold freer from troubles than open wires, they have their enemies. Underground, gophers and rodents of various other sorts occasionally gnaw into them to get at the expected juicy kernel, and in the air in California they are attacked by an insect known scientifically as the Scabiosa delves and to the men who climb telephone poles as the "short circuit bugs."

Science hasn't determined whether the short circuit bug is like the Boll Weevil, "lookin' for a home," or is merely hungry, but the result of his boring is a leak to let in moisture and trouble for the maintenance crew. He is a native of this state

GRACE PAUTZ BECOMES BRIDE OF JOHN GREY

Clintonville—Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Rose Catholic church in this city Miss Grace Pautz, daughter of Mrs. Anna Pautz of this city, became the bride of John Grey, son of Mrs. Thomas Grey, also of this city. The Rev. Fr. Dieckrich was in charge of the ceremony.

The couple were attended by Miss DeVera Bohman and Matt Dahm, Jr. of this city. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to immediate friends and relatives at the home of the bride's mother on Ninth-st.

After a honeymoon the young couple will make their home at Madison where the groom is representing the Four Wheel Drive Auto company of this city. The bride has been employed at the Folkman Department store for a number of years.

The Central division of the Dorcas society, Congregational church met at the home of Mrs. E. G. Van Heuklom at the Ward hotel on Wednesday afternoon. Routine business was transacted.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Spiegel on Tuesday morning, Oct. 15.

The Clintonville Woman's club will entertain the teachers of the public schools at a reception to be held at the Library on Oct. 21. The following committees have been appointed: Refreshment: Mrs. J. E. Long, Mrs. C. R. Kant and Mrs. Donald Russell.

Those on the entertainment committee are Mrs. T. A. London, Mrs. Russell Hill and Mrs. B. Stanley.

FORMER STOCKBRIDGE RESIDENT SUCCEUMS

Stockbridge—News was received here of the death of Harriet E. Norris, daughter of Jasper and Jane Norris, former Stockbridge residents, which occurred at the home of her brother, Emery C. Stevens, at St. Paul, Minn., on Sunday morning. She was born in Plattsburgh, N. Y., in the year 1846, and came to Stockbridge, when very young, accompanied by her grandparents. In later years she lived with relatives at Eau Claire. She is survived by three brothers, Emery of St. Paul, George and Sylvester of Eau Claire.

Funeral services were held from the chapel in Forest Hill cemetery at Eau Claire, at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Services were conducted by the Rev. E. S. Genung of Baldwin. Interment was made in the Forest Hill cemetery of that place.

A daughter was born Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hemauer.

Mrs. Mary Hostettler entertained at a family dinner Sunday afternoon in honor of the silver wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merlen Hawley. Besides the immediate family present were Mrs. Molly Hawley of this village and Mrs. M. V. Fargo and Mrs. Nellie Smith of Fond du Lac.

Mrs. Bernadette and Gertrude Hertel and Mabel Olg, who attend St. Mary's Academy at Milwaukee spent the weekend here.

Versailles—(AP)—Versailles, second only to Paris in the number of tourists whom it entertains, has only recently been recognized officially as a tourist city. The recognition came in a decree establishing a "Chamber of Tourist Industry" and authorizing collection of a tax from every hotel patron.

When BABIES are upset

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them.

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

ells How Tourists May Read History In Scenery

Albany, N. Y. —(AP)—Tourists of coming summer may read in the famous scenery some of the discoveries of geology. How fast or slow that piece of al beauty grew.

See discoveries are summarized in a paper for the American Association for the Advancement of Science by O. D. von Engel, professor of physical geography, Cornell University.

A gorge downstream from the falls are the open books from the history of the falls now be read. If these gorges have perpendicular banks that about the same width as the m above the falls, the carving scenery has been done by a fire process. But if the gorge side of sloping wooded or grassy bluffs, lining a stream not teably wider than the river above the falls, the creation is the handiwork of one of time's slowest processes.

Describing the processes whereby the retreat of the falls upstream forms the gorges, Dr. von Engel says:

"Such breaking back results from two sets of processes. The pounding and swirling of the waters, using sand and boulders as tools at the base of the fall, develop a pool in the weak underlying rock."

"As this 'plunge pool' is enlarged, its upstream widening undermines the capping layer of strong rock. Deprived of support the edges of the capping rocks break off and the falls recede. The other means is the effect of the weather. The underlying shale rock, moistened by spray from the falls, is dissolved, is split by frost, is oxidized and by these different agencies caused to crumble. Again the cap rock is deprived of foundation and crashes down.

"Where the retreat of the falls crest is due chiefly to plunge pool development, the recession is comparatively rapid; where due chiefly to weathering it is correspondingly slow. A direct consequence is that the gorge below a falls retreating through plunge pool excavation has vertical walls extending for some distance below the falls site. Niagara is the outstanding example.

"Contrariwise, the gorge below a falls, the crest of which retreats chiefly through weathering, will have sloping sides commonly blanketed by a considerable thickness of loose rock fragments and soil. The reason is that in the second case the weathering of the gorge walls will proceed nearly as rapidly as the weathering which undermines the falls crest.

"The gorge below the plunge pool will be much wider than the channel of the stream above the falls. But the gorge below the weathering process will be much wider than the channel of the stream above the falls."

BIG INDIAN TORSO FOUND HEREDITARY

Find Development Follows
Outdoor, Hard - hunting Life of Redmen

Cambridge, Mass. —(AP)—One definite heritage of the outdoor, hard-hunting life of the American Indian —extra weight due to superior development of the torso — is identified in a study of racial mixture just finished at the Peabody Museum of Harvard University by A. R. Kelly.

The study was made under the auspices of the division of anthropology at Harvard and the Massachusetts State department of mental diseases.

The subjects are a group of more than 300 Mexicans, ranging from Spanish blood to Indian, but with no other racial crosses. The Spanish belong, for the most part, to the short, slight, brunet long-headed race of Europeans, the Mediterraneans, and in marked contrast to the tall, vigorous and robust Indians of northern and central Mexico. Many of these Mexican tribes of Indians are famous runners and athletes.

In all cases, Mr. Kelly finds that the highest weight goes with those with the larger proportion of Indian blood. As the amount of European blood increases, the weight drops progressively. All the differences are small, confined within an average of 10 pounds, but are quite significant statistically.

He accounts for them by the tendency of the Indian type to have a larger-sloped, barrel-shaped chest. The more mixed and more "European-looking" hybrids have both shallower and narrower chests, and narrow shoulders.

Mr. Kelly searched for indications of a new racial type emerging from the Spanish-Indian union, but he found none.

WOMAN COAL EXPERT LEARNED IT AT DESK

Ada R. Tibbitts Follows Colorado Mining Industry Since 1899

Denver Colo. —(AP)—Behind a desk in the state capital sits a modern Lady of Shalott whose mirror has revealed the story of the coal industry of the state to make her an expert, although a stranger to the underground mines where day never dawns.

The progress of the coal industry in Colorado is mirrored in the tales and narrower chests, and narrow shoulders.

Mr. Kelly searched for indications of a new racial type emerging from the Spanish-Indian union, but he found none.

bles and records on the desk in the state coal mine inspector's office behind which sits the gray-haired figure of Ada R. Tibbitts.

Mrs. Tibbitts, in whose veins flows the blood of the Prussian nobility, knows the coal industry of her state from tittle to hearth, but wouldn't recognize a safety lamp if she saw one, she says. She is the chief clerk of the office and has followed the state mining industry since 1899.

Her work is largely statistical, but in conversation she drifts outside her realm of figures to comment on the changes wrought by machine methods. Although she has never frequented the inner workings of a mine, she knows the best producing areas, the kind of coal mined and its markets.

Mrs. Tibbitts was born in Davenport, Ia., 72 years ago. Her father was Baron Roll du Rosey, a Prussian nobleman who followed Carl Schurz to America and fought in the union army during the civil war.

TRADERS BELIEVE STEEL FORECASTS OTHER BUSINESS

Bears Work on This Basis in Effort to Pound Market Downward

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press
New York—Slowly but surely Wall Street is coming back to the opinion that the business outlook for the fall and winter can be forecast best by study of developments in the steel trade. It is this new recognition of the barometric character of the iron and steel industry that is being capitalized by the bear party in the steel market when they endeavor to unsettle sentiment by depressing the steel stocks, and in particular U. S. Steel.

Credit stringency has been abandoned as a talking point in favor of the supposed reaction in steel. For that reason the weekly reviews of the trade which come out on Wednesday were, closely scanned today. These analyses of the situation made two points, first that the falling off in business of the steel producers is due primarily to retrenchment by motor car manufacturers and second that the bright side of the picture is the heavier demand from the railroads.

HEAVY REDUCTION
The Iron Age, however, speaking of the lower demands from the automobile industry, says that "the reduction from this major customer of the mills has been too drastic to be offset by the heavier requirements of the railroads, impressive as they are." With regard to this railroad demand, the Iron Trade Review declares that "October is developing into the best railroad freight car buying month in five years." It figures the week's awards at more than 10,000 cars and says that an additional 10,000 cars are pending.

The extent of the setback in the iron trade, therefore, depends on the outlook for a revival of automotive demand. Ford is the important factor in the problem. Announcement of changes in the Ford model is being awaited, according to reports by competitors, and that situation will have to be cleared up.

STILL FALLING
Meanwhile Ingot production has fallen off further. The Iron Age estimates the steel corporation's average at 80 per cent, the rate for the industry in the Chicago district at 85 per cent, Pittsburgh 80 per cent, Youngstown 75 per cent, and Wheeling 65 to 70 per cent of capacity. The composite prices of the Iron Age for steel and for pig iron are unchanged on the week but the composite used by the Iron Trade Review shows a decline for the fourth consecutive week.

ARNEKE ACCOMPANIES LYRIC MALE CHORUS

The lyric male chorus of Milwaukee, including 100 male voices under the direction of Alfred Hiles Bergen, which is to open the 1929-30 community artist series at Lawrence Memorial chapel, will have as its accompanist Arthur Arneke, former professor of organ at the Lawrence conservatory. Arneke's presence with the celebrated group is expected to attract many of his friends in Appleton Tuesday evening, Nov. 12.

Bergen is considered to have outstanding ability as a teacher, and in addition to this the leader is known as a vocalist of the highest rank. Choral singing under his direction has earned for the Milwaukee organization a world-wide reputation in its chosen field.

MUST INSTALL NEW MAIL BOXES AS OLD WEAR OUT

Although the federal postal department has changed its regulations to provide for a larger type of mail box on rural routes, it is not necessary to install the new boxes until the old ones are no longer weatherproof and serviceable, according to word received by W. H. Zuehlke, acting postmaster here. The regulation providing for the new type of mail boxes went into effect July 1. The department points out that serviceable boxes may be moved by their owners from one location to another although new patrons installing new boxes must procure the regulation kind.

Miss Pearl Felton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Felton, 522 N. Garfield-st. has gone to Los Angeles, Calif. where she will spend the season in study with Lazar S. Samoiloff, internationally famous voice teacher.

During the past year Miss Felton has been under the tutelage of Florence Lamont Hinman, director of the Lamont School of Music in Denver, Colo. Mrs. Hinman has produced three national prize-winning students within a year, one of them being Miss Agnes Davis, winner of the first Atwater-Kent Audition of 1927.

Mr. Samoiloff, who accepted Miss Felton as a pupil after he heard her sing at the Lamont school, is the teacher of artists such as Rosa Raisa, Julia Claussen, Claire Dux, and Kurt Taucher. The Russian teacher characterizes Miss Felton's voice as "one of the most exceptional lyric-coloratura voices which I have ever heard."

Miss Felton was graduated from Lawrence college with a degree of Bachelor of Music in 1923. She majored in voice under Dean Carl J. Waterman, and in piano with Miss Gladys Ives Brahmard. She is a second degree member of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional musical fraternity for women.

COMPLICATION QUICKLY ENDED BY NEW KONJOLA

Lady Suffered Intensely for Six Months; Super-Remedy Was First to Benefit Her

MRS. MARY LUGIN
"For the past six months I suffered from a complication of ailments that related everything," said Mrs. Mary Lugin, 410 Main street, Dubuque, Iowa. "Stomach trouble was my main complaint. I did not enjoy a meal because of the intense suffering I had to endure afterward. Splitting headaches became a part of my life. Finally nervousness resulted."

"It did not take Konjola very long to end my suffering. Two bottles was all that was necessary to regulate and cleanse my stomach. My nerves have been quieted and soothed so that they never bother me. Not only has Konjola benefited me, but it has also helped my husband. Both of us endorse Konjola as the master medicine."

Konjola is sold in Appleton at Schlicht Bros. drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Retailers Fail To Keep Credit Data Up-To-Date

Although loud in its praise of Appleton and Fox river valley merchants for cooperation in making the merchants credit information bureau of the chamber of commerce, a success, chamber officers have recently discovered merchants are inefficient in keeping names and addresses correct.

Every month the chamber sends out a credit information bulletin to members, the bulletin containing information relative to changes of addresses, death, marriage, removals and the like. But apparently the business houses receiving the bulletins fail to note the corrections the chamber reports.

Just this week the chamber started looking over the cards and found numerous errors. The errors cannot be laid to clerical work but rather to carelessness on the part of merchants, it was said.

For instance, there are numerous cards in the chamber filed for the same man, perhaps listed under certain initials in one case, under his first name and initial in another, and under entirely different initials but at the same address.

Again, there are cards for women who apparently are single but who since have been married. The bulletin makes note of the marriage yet the merchants fail to change their records. The same is found to be the case with divorces.

"If chamber members fail to keep their records up to date, the credit bureau's files soon will be cluttered with numerous cards that mean nothing," Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the chamber, said. "Too many minutes are lost looking up cards where names or addresses are incorrect unless merchants keep their lists straight the time lost will soon become so great a liability action will be necessary to correct the trouble."

Paper yarn from wood-pulp is now being woven into carpets.

FARMERS WARNED OF PASTURAGE DANGERS

Outagamie-co farmers were warned this week by Gus Sell, county agent, to be careful when they pasture their cattle on alfalfa or red clover, particularly when the cows have empty stomachs.

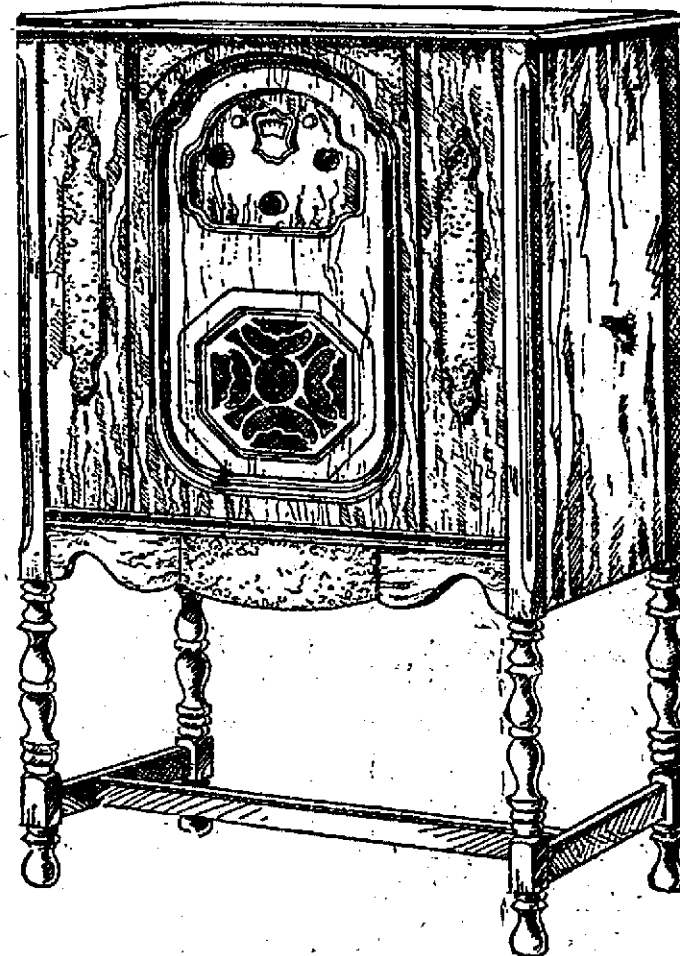

Mr. Sell pointed out that several farmers have lost valuable animals this fall as a result of bloating, due to feeding on alfalfa or red clover at the wrong times. Other cattle have developed pneumonia following cases of bloating.

Many farmers believe that bloating follows the pasturing of cows early in the morning when there is dew on the pasture but this is not right, Mr. Sell said. He pointed out that usually bloating results when the cattle eat too fast because they are very hungry. This condition usually exists when the cattle are first turned into the pasture in the morning and therefore, since most cases of bloating occur at that time, many farmers form the opinion that wet pasturage is responsible for the bloating.

LIQUOR PURCHASES GREAT DRY ISSUE

As purchase liquor are definitely passed as law violators, the resentment against the Volstead law and the eighteenth amendment will be further increased. Experience with all political reforms is that if sufficient irritation is stirred up by any law, it tends to accelerate modification or repeal. The number of sets would probably vote for Senator Shepard's bill on the theory that it would lead to a definition of the issue.

MAY BE TURNING POINT
It may well be that the question of purchase will provide the whole turning point in the prohibition controversy or if the court should determine finally that the purchase of liquor is legal, the trade of bootleggers will probably increase to such an extent as to make enforcement almost impossible. If on the other hand purchase is declared illegal, the movement toward modification of the eighteenth amendment itself will have allies that it never had before, for up to now the drive has been against the Volstead act much more than against the language of the amendment.

Believing on the other hand that the big impetus behind the prohibition movement will always come from the conscience of the individual, there are many dries who feel that when once purchase has been declared a crime, thousands of persons will conform to the law, who have hitherto felt no personal obligation to adhere to the spirit of the Volstead act. There is the possibility, of course, that individual purchasers would be prosecuted and that this would clog the courts with trivial cases. Just as the government has only occasionally arrested the carriers of hip flasks, so it is likely that all efforts will be concentrated in the future on exterminating the ring-leaders of the commercial traffic in intoxicants. But the mere fact that an individual could be prosecuted for purchase would, it is believed by the dries, act as a powerful deterrent. The subject is attracting more and more interest here every day and when the tariff bill is out of the way it is likely to command even more attention.

Chippewa Falls—Continuing their drive to dry up Chippewa Falls, police arrested Joe Fourchette, proprietor of the Rex Bar, a downtown saloon. Yesterday, along with two other alleged violators, he was fined in municipal court.

Study Reveals New Data On Old Eskimo Culture

BY OSCAR LEIDING

Washington (AP)—Another chapter in present-day knowledge of a "golden age" of Eskimo culture, more than a thousand years old but newly discovered, was added today by Henry B. Collins, Jr., Smithsonian scientist, on his return from a five-month exploration of northern Alaska.

Buried in an artificial "mound" of refuse, built up 20 feet in the centuries of existence of a thriving village in the southeast end of St. Lawrence island, he found rich material of the most ancient and highly developed Eskimo culture known. Thousands of specimens of ivory and bone implements, weapons, ornaments, pottery, and wooden artifacts were also found.

Centuries ago a village had been reared on the flat tundra of the beach, he said, and, as kitchen refuse accumulated, old dwellings were abandoned and new ones raised on the artificial foundation.

How long the process kept up no one knows. The "mound" now frozen solidly for its total depth, grew higher until, in 1878 and 1879, famine and epidemic wiped out the native population.

Through the 20-foot layer the scientist traced the old culture, an art discovered in 1926 by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, noted Smithsonian anthropologist, and Diamond Jenness, of the National Museum of Canada.

Implement and ornaments are distinguished by graceful, sweeping lines of decoration, an art that makes modern Eskimo work mechanical in comparison. Some objects are so old that their use is unknown to the present-day native.

"It is a peculiar and rich culture," Collins said, "strange because the farther back we drive, the richer it gets. Modern Eskimo art, in contrast, is in a degenerated state. The ancient materials suggest strongly that the original home of all Eskimo culture lies in the west, in Alaska or northeastern Siberia. The culture is distinctly older than the oldest found in Canada and Greenland, a significant fact."

"We are after the ultimate origin of the ancient art. There is no explanation for its fading out, except perhaps the introduction of the use of iron, with which the later and afternoon by the pupils of Fernwood rural school, town of Freedom, under direction of their teacher, Miss Elizabeth O. Barska.

The children will be given an impromptu demonstration illustrating the things they learned in a study of citizenship last year. This exhibition was given at their schoolhouse last year and witnessed by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. Mr. Meating praised the work of the teacher and students and decided to have the class put on the work again before the county meeting of teachers.

The students illustrate various features of citizenship and all conversations are made up as they go along, bringing out the things they learned in their study of the course.

FARM LOAN TOTAL PAID OUT SO FAR NEARLY $700,000

Applications Have Totaled
Approximately $700,000,
Legge Reports

BY FRANK J. WELLER
Washington — (AP) — Applications for loans from the federal farm board totaled approximately $700,000, September 30. Chairman Legge reveals in a statement to the senate committee on agriculture.

Of that amount, the chairman says, $57,000,000 tentatively has been approved by the board. Only $686,000 actually has been called for. Interpreted according to the board's policy of making loans, the amount "called for" represents the sum cooperatives have qualified to receive. The $57,000,000 is approved, providing the cooperatives seeking to borrow it can satisfy the board's demands in regard to organization, previous acquisition of loans from the federal intermediate banks, and security.

"In by far the larger number of cases," Mr. Legge explains, "instead of sending in a definite request or application for a loan, individuals or groups representing cooperatives have appeared before us to find out just how to go about it."

"In some of these cases, such as applications for loans on farm land, we have advised the applicants that we did not feel they were within the scope of our activities and have referred them to the federal farm loan board."

"In many cases the discussions developed the fact that the cooperative had not had an audit of its business for a considerable period of time, or in the case of plant facilities, that had not been appraised in recent years."

Elsie Janis Goes "Back Stage" To Help Work Out Ideas For New Screen Revue

BY ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood — (AP) — Elsie Janis has gone "back stage."

The vivacious musical comedy and vaudeville star is now working out ideas for a new screen revue, but all her work will be behind the scenes.

Not even to give one of her famous impersonations will she go before the cameras and microphones.

"Does her reluctance mean a permanent retirement from the footlights?" Hollywood wonders. Some of her friends believe so. Miss Janis herself "would rather not say."

"I want to rest, and acting as well as helping in the creative end would be too strenuous."

Strange mode of rest Miss Janis has. Her studio associates say she seems unable to adopt the leisurely pace of Hollywood life and wants to be "doing something" every minute.

A few months ago she was near death in a Paris hospital.

Miss Janis entered the movies (or re-entered, for more than a decade ago when she starred in several pictures), after an agreement last year with a prominent production executive. Under it she was to begin virtually at the bottom as a title writer.

First she sailed for Europe for a season there, intending to return to Hollywood in such a capacity. Stricken ill during a Paris engagement, she fought her way back to health after physicians had despaired of her life.

She returned then to a Hollywood which the talkie craze had transformed almost overnight.

Title writers were out of date. The demand now was for sparkling dialogue, clever situations, snappy and tuneful songs, wit and humor.

In her the "boss" now saw a commanding officer instead of a mere private; in short, an "idea man," so to speak, for a musical revue.

Miss Janis and her mother, whose sharp repartee rivals her daughter's, have moved into a Beverly Hills home.

It may be Elsie will become a Hollywood fixture. She loves California. If she retires as an actress, the stage will lose one of its most brilliant figures, a star consistently since her early teens. Almost since babyhood she has been of the stage.

"The Vanderbilt Cup," her first

Elsie Janis, famous as an entertainer now is an "idea man" behind the scenes in Hollywood. The picture of Miss Janis in the chair was taken when the actress was recuperating from a serious illness in Paris last spring.

starring vehicle, was followed in steady succession by musical comedies which kept her at the top.

Most of her later productions she wrote, planned and directed personally. She has attained not as a writer of song lyrics and short stories, several of which have been filmed.

To thousands of American dough-boys, Elsie Janis will be remembered chiefly as "Sweetheart of the A. E. F." When the world war came she went abroad with her mother as a volunteer entertainer at the front, braving hardships and dangers to bolster the soldiers' morale.

CIVIC COUNCIL WILL MEET MONDAY NIGHT

The October meeting of the Civic Council will be held Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. The council will hear reports on plans for a crippled children's school in the city and on crippled children's work recently surveyed by the council.

Nebraska's apple crop will be about $90,000 bushels this year, double last year's crop.

PREVENT SPREAD OF WEEDS WITH CARE

Farmers Told by County Agent How to Eliminate
Farm Pests

Spread of noxious weeds such as Canada thistle and quack grass can be avoided, to a large extent, by exercising care in handling, selling, and buying seeds, says County Agent Gus Sell.

Wisconsin farmers have access to a state seed laboratory which gets seed from various parts of the state. At the laboratory, legume and grass seeds are tested to determine their germination percentage as well as their weed seed content, according to A. L. Stone, state seed and weed commissioner.

During the months of March, April and May the seed laboratory is extremely crowded with work, and considerable time lapses before results of seed analyses can be returned to the growers and sellers of seeds.

To avoid unnecessary delay in receiving final reports and to have the seed ready for early marketing, Stone suggests getting samples into the laboratory at as early a date as possible.

Early testing of seeds, he points out, adds both farmers and dealers in deciding upon their purchases of seed for the season's planting. Once a farmer has definite information regarding the purity and viability of his seed he can proceed to find an early market for it, says Stone. Knowing exactly what he has to offer, inquiries from prospective buyers can be honestly and accurately answered. Due to the buyer's increased faith in both the seller and his seed, Stone feels that an earlier sale will take place than would otherwise be the case.

As a result, seed will be turned in to ready cash more quickly, and storage losses will be decreased, he states.

3 NEW RURAL SCHOOLS NEARING COMPLETION

Construction of three new rural school buildings in the county is rapidly nearing completion, according to A. C. Meating, county superintendent of schools. They are River Bend school, town of Liberty, cost $5,000; Cedarvale school, town of Dale, cost $6,000; and Fernwood school, town of Freedom, cost $7,000.

At present all the schools are meeting in the old school buildings which will be abandoned as soon as the new ones are completed.

Two schools, Sunnyhope, town of Greenville, and North Osborn, town of Osborn, underwent extensive repairs during the last summer. Basements were excavated under the buildings; new heating systems and new lavatories were installed.

The town council of Buckle, Scotland, is protesting against a proposal to build a hospital in a cemetery.

People who take excellence for granted naturally turn to the new all-electric screen grid

Eveready Radio

THE PRECISION INSTRUMENT

THERE ARE many fortunate people in this world to whom good taste is second nature. They live pleasantly, yet not ostentatiously. They dress well, yet without extremes of style. Every possession of theirs bespeaks an admirable and tempered attitude toward living.

And quite naturally these are the people who are buying the new Eveready Radio. For there, too, just as in their houses, their clothes, yes, even their friends, they take excellence for granted... a radio which brings the smartest dance-orchestra into their living-room... which takes them to the sidelines of the big games... which places them ten feet from the speaker's table... this is the sort of reception they expect, and get—from this remarkable radio receiver.

But such people—those who are buying the new Eveready Radio—look for something more in their material possessions. They want permanence. This radio receiver is built to last. It is precision-built. Each part is put together with as much care as if an aviator's life depended on the winding of a coil. The assumption is that Eveready Radio users want a fine instrument, as fine in its way as all their other material possessions.

Mystifying technical names, new accoutrements, devices and mechanisms bore the buyers of this radio. They know they have the best. They know that improvements will be added from time to time as the large scientific organization which makes this receiver tests and uncovers their merits. But they leave the details to the experts. That is their attitude towards radio... houses... motor-cars... life in general.

And so, if you are interested in effects and take the causes for granted, if you order your life according to this principle and to the point, you will want the new Eveready Radio. See it. Hear it. Note how beautiful the cabinetwork is. Ask for the explanation, if you like, of its "weather-proof" principle; but remember that the effect is this—even on muggy nights the reception is remarkably clear.

GERMAN JUNKERS READY TO ASSAIL PEACE PACT TERMS

British Cheer at Settlement but France and Germany
Do Not

London — By bringing about an equitable division of the reparations Germany is to pay the Allies and by effecting the withdrawal of Allied troops from the Rhine, Chancellor Brüning has won the approval of the British people. It is not so sure that the governments of France and Germany are going to have so pleasant a role. Some time early this fall Premier Briand will have to face that assembly of wild men, the French Parliament, and it is not certain that he will be able to secure a majority which will approve his actions. There are embittered partisans in the Parliament who will see in the withdrawal of French troops from the Rhine a total surrender to Germany, a giving up of the only sure means of bringing pressure to bear upon the former foe.

Briand is sure to receive a fearful verbal drubbing from them. But this, the veteran, is a bonny lighter himself and is pretty sure to give as good as he gets.

An even warmer time is assured when the question comes up in the Reichstag. The Reichstag has a bunch of chronic kickers who happen also to be enemies of the republic and of the parliamentary regime. They are headed by Herr Hugenberg, the leader of the extreme German Nationalists, and allied with the Stahlhelm, that militarized body which contains all the fathead junkies of the Reich.

They cannot attack the great fact that the Rhineland is to be cleared of all Allied troops by next June, but they can snarl that too high a price is being paid for it.

Theodor Wolff, editor of the 'Berliner Tagblatt', gives a smashing answer to Hugenberg, whom he dubs a profiteer of the inflation period. He says it is quite fitting that he and his pals should measure everything by monetary standards. And then he contrasts the attitude of some Germans today with that of the French after the war of 1870.

When the Germans beat the French in that war, they laid upon them what was considered a 'huge indemnity'. Until that was paid German troops would remain in occupation of French soil.

M. Thiers, the premier of that time, appealed to his people, the peasants dug down in their stocking savings bank, the money was raised and paid, and the Germans left. In Parliament, regardless of parties, Thiers was hailed as 'Liberator of French soil.'

On the same lines, Herr Wolff says the German Reichstag should hail the late Herr Stresemann as 'Liberator of German soil.' But he says this will not happen. He predicts that all the small-souled partisans in the Reichstag, instead of cheering and applauding will snarl and snap and growl.

They will refuse to pay tribute to the accomplishment of the feat for which Germans have so long been praying—the clearing out of occupation troops.

HOLD CONFERENCE ON CHILDREN'S CODE

American Legion Represented on Social Workers' Committee

Three regional conferences on the new children's code are to be held in the northern and western parts of the state. It was announced Tuesday by Marshall C. Graff, state commander of the American legion.

Conferences will be held at Antigo Oct. 22, at Superior Oct. 29 and at LaCrosse Oct. 30.

The conferences will be similar to the one recently held in Milwaukee which was attended by more than 250 persons from the southern and eastern sections of the state.

Circuit court judges, county and municipal judges, district attorneys, county officials, children's institution heads and hospital authorities in the various districts and all interested citizens are being invited to the conferences.

The American legion is keenly interested in the children's code and is cooperating with the children's code committee of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Workers in its activity. The legion has two representatives on the committee.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even to those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar or syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germs and phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

BANKERS DISCOURAGE NEW LIVESTOCK DEALERS

Fort Worth —Southwestern bankers, as a rule, are caring for their old customers or for experienced men in the cattle business but are discouraging new ones from entering livestock raising. This is due to temporarily curtailed buying in the range country. A dry summer hand-capped feeders and few are stocking up for the winter. Much feeding, most of it expensive, will have to be done to make up for the short grass crop. Improved conditions and better prices are expected with the first fresh grass in the spring.

NEW ORLEANS ESCAPES EARTHQUAKES, REPORT

New Orleans —(AP)—A city built on mud has its advantages. New Orleans cannot have skyscrapers, as other large cities do, because it sits on "1,100 feet of mud," but J. E. Pasquet, in charge of the seismograph at Loyola university here, says the city has never been known to feel the tremor of an earthquake.

Berlin — On Wannsee, famous lake near here, a traffic cop rules teamsters and pleasure boats that ply its waters. He is dressed in a rubber suit, inflated belt and propels himself to his station in the waters with paddles. He also uses the paddles to give signals.

"They work while you sleep"

No Harm in Pure Cascara

Whenever a coated tongue, bad breath, disordered stomach or general "run-down" feeling tell you Nature needs a little help in promoting normal elimination you can take a Cascaret without any fear of unpleasant after effects. Cascarets are a pure vegetable product, made from Cascara Sagrada, a substance which unquestionable authorities say actually strengthens the bowel muscles.

That's why you can take these pleasant-tasting tablets as often as you please—and give them freely to children or old folks. They are not habit-forming, like so many laxatives; they make it unnecessary to use violent purgatives that upset the system and soon call for more.

Cascarets are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with licorice; you simply eat them like candy. Then sleep right on while they are preparing your intestinal tract for a thorough cleansing in the morning. Cascarets never cause discomfort or that nauseous feeling usually associated with laxatives.

The next time you have that bilious, headachy, dejected feeling that comes from a disordered stomach—or for any reason you suspect liver and bowels are not functioning just right—take a candy Cascaret.

STILL OPERATORS ARRAIGNED BEFORE U. S. COMMISSIONER

Frank Lerona of This City Found Guilty of Conspiracy in Liquor Raid

A piece of cardboard bearing a diagram of several vats in a distillery room as well as instructions for running them off, Wednesday barred the way to freedom for Frank Lerona, Appleton, just as effectively as a jail cell, when he appeared before U. S. Commissioner Harry L. Kellogg in Milwaukee with five other men arrested several weeks ago when federal agents, working under the direction of Frank Cunningham, Milwaukee, raided a large liquor manufacturing plant on the Henry Van Handle farm on the French-rd, four miles north of Appleton.

The card was found in Lerona's car, according to testimony brought out in the hearing. Commissioner Kellogg ruled this was sufficient evidence for belief that Lerona is involved in the still operations.

Four of the six were held to the grand jury. They are Lerona, Ralph Lyons, Henry Van Handle, owner of the farm, and Joseph Saxe, described as the driver of a truck which transported liquor between Appleton, Milwaukee and Chicago. Charges against John Derkes, Little Chute, and Dr. Howard Slat, Appleton were dismissed. The commissioner ruled they were innocent bystanders without complicity in the case.

HIT AND RUN DRIVER KILLS PROMINENT CHICAGO CLUBMAN

Chicago — (P) — Julius Thompson Benedict, son-in-law of the late Dr. John B. Murphy and well known in Chicago society and club life, was killed by a hit and run motorist late last night. His woman companion, Mrs. Wava Rex Hyde, a divorcee, was severely injured. Mrs. Benedict made the identification of her husband's body. The couple have two adopted children.

Mrs. Hyde said she and Benedict were crossing Cottage Grove-ave to the Granada cafe after having parked his car at the curb. An automobile tore down upon them. Mrs. Hyde was knocked down, suffering a broken arm, scalp wounds and possibly spinal injury. Benedict's body was carried a considerable distance before it dropped from the front bumper and was run over. Physicians believed he might have escaped death if the motorist had made an effort to stop the car.

Accompanying Mrs. Benedict to the morgue where identification was made was her brother-in-law, Edward N. Hurley, Jr., son of the former chairman of the United States Shipping board.

Benedict's marriage in 1912 to Miss Cecile Murphy, daughter of the world-famous surgeon, was a social event. Both were prominent in south shore society. Benedict at the time was vice president of the A. Plamondon Manufacturing company. More recently he has served as treasurer of the Post Electric company. He was 50 years old.

SEEK APPLICATIONS FOR PLAN DIRECTOR

Madison — (P) — The state's new regional planning director, an office that grows out of the highway commission office having the same title, but which now covers a wider field of country-side as well as highway planning, will soon be picked by the personnel board.

Applicants for the place, a $5,000 per year job, will submit their applications by Oct. 24 and will submit to examination Oct. 23. The civil service law allows that the place may be filled by promotion, reinstatement, or transfer, however.

Candidates will file an application outlining in detail educational training and practical experience, with a medical certificate. Candidates will be assembled at Madison for an oral interview.

Qualifications include an education equivalent to that represented by graduation from an engineering college of recognized standing with specialization in civil engineering or landscape architecture; at least five years experience of such character as to demonstrate a knowledge and ability to perform important civil engineering work; proven ability to do research work, make investigations and surveys, and judgment and good physical condition.

200 MEN EXPECTED AT K. C. ROUND TABLE

Milwaukee — (P) — The annual get-together of the state officers and district deputies with the grand knights, lecturers and financial secretaries of the 74 subordinate councils in the Wisconsin State Council, Knights of Columbus, is expected to attract nearly 200 men here Oct. 20.

The meeting was called by state deputy Richard J. Hennsey, Milwaukee, pursuant to authorization given at the last state convention.

The purpose of the meeting is a general round table discussion of council activities and work of the order in general.

Saturday evening, Oct. 19, the state deputy will preside at a meeting of the district deputies from over the state.

Utilities Delay Sending Reports To Commission

Washington — (P) — The Federal Trade commission considers that its survey of the financial organization of public utility power companies is being impeded by the failure of some corporations to furnish it with important information, particularly data on mergers.

This factor and a shortage of funds, the commission said in its current quarterly report to congress, is proving a serious obstacle in its effort to carry out the task given over to it by the national legislature.

The commission is particularly anxious that the questionnaires which it sent to power-holding corporations be returned promptly and asserted in its report that large concerns of this nature had failed to submit these reports although in many instances they had actually been prepared by subsidiary companies.

The task of tracing the growth of capital assets has grown "laborious," the report, which was submitted to congress late yesterday, said, because of the "numerous complicated mergers and consolidations effected through the use of intermediaries and syndicates, together with the lack of uniformity and the complexity of holding company accounting methods and the employment of numerous subsidiary companies."

Describing the work of the last three months, the report went on to say that a study of the method of issuing certificates was in progress together with a survey of fees and bonuses paid and of the banking departments organized by a number of holding companies to handle the securities of "sub-holding and operating companies."

In connection with an effort to assemble information as to the public value of holding corporations, the commission revealed that it was making an inquiry into properties, rate policies, and operating costs as they might be affected by the holding companies and also into the services they render and the economies they effect.

With its statement that funds are running low, the commission said that to expedite its inquiry a larger staff of accountants will be necessary and that under present appropriations, its force of workers cannot be increased.

HEARING IN FATAL ACCIDENT SET FOR FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Victor Diestler, Hortonville, Charged With Manslaughter
After Crash

Preliminary hearing on a charge of manslaughter against Victor Diestler, Hortonville, was set for 2 o'clock Friday afternoon following Diestler's arraignment in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Wednesday afternoon. Diestler was arrested Wednesday morning by Sheriff Fred W. Giese.

His arrest followed an automobile accident on Highway 28 near New London about 7:56 Sunday evening, in which Alvin Schuelke, 20, Milwaukee, was fatally injured when he was struck by a car driven by Diestler.

Schuelke had stopped at the side of the road to change a tire. Diestler claimed he was blinded by the lights of an approaching machine.

Bonds of $1,000 were to be furnished by Diestler.

Send Us A Name for this SHAMPOO

This Offer Open to Everyone!

It makes no difference who you are, or where you live, we want you to send us a name for this new and unusual Shampoo. Whoever sends the most suitable name will win $1000.00 — nothing else to do. Just write or print the name on any kind of paper; neatness don't count.

Nothing to Buy—Nothing to Sell

To Win the $1000.00 or $1100.00 if Prompt

The names of people, flowers, trees, birds, etc., may be submitted for a name, or you can send a coined word, or a word made by combining two or more words, such as "Sun-Gleam," "Youth-Glow," etc.; or your name might suggest the handy new container, our latest sanitary tube from which the Shampoo is simply squeezed out. No bottle to break, leak or spill. No cake of soap to lie around and collect germs. Nothing safer or more sanitary and convenient for travel. There is nothing to buy or sell, simply the person sending the most suitable suggestion for a name will receive $1000.00 Cash, or if prompt, $1100.00 in all.

Any Name May Win

It makes no difference how simple you think your suggestion is, you cannot afford to neglect sending it at once for any name may win. Remember there is no obligation, and duplicate prizes will be given in case of ties.

To get quick action we are going to pay the winner an extra $100.00 for promptness, or $1100.00 in all—so send your suggestion AT ONCE!

Contest Rules

This contest is open to everyone except members of this firm, its employees and relatives. Each contestant may send only one name. Sending two or more names will cause all names submitted by that person to be thrown out. Contest closes April 30, 1930. Duplicate prizes given in case of ties. To win the promptness prize of $100.00 extra, the winning name suggested must be mailed within three days after our announcement is read.

Prizes Worth Winning

Big cash prizes like the ones we are offering are certainly worth going after quick, as you might just as well have one of these big cash prizes as any one else and if you are keen enough and prompt your opportunity is just as good as any one's. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose. It costs you nothing to send a name. Do it today. The very name you think least of may be the winner.

East Makes Strong Trade
Bid in S. America

Washington—(AP)—The charge that European influences are attempting to arouse enmity against the United States in Latin-American countries in an effort to discourage growth of commerce was made today by Representative Cole, Republican, Iowa, who recently returned from an extended tour of South and Central America.

Cole was a member of the American delegation to the Pan-American conference at Rio de Janeiro.

"The Latin-Americans hold no prejudice toward North Americans," he said. "America's greatest enemies are the southern republics are Europeans and other foreigners who dislike to see us extend our foreign trade in regions they have sought to dominate. The South Americans are aggressive and have adopted many North American business and professional practices."

Pointing out that other countries had secured trade in Latin America by superior merchant marines, Cole said completion of the Inter-American highway would do more to promote business between the north and south continents than any one thing, he United States, he said, would do to lend its best efforts to a speedy completion of this project which would connect Texas with a highway system that would extend through Central and South American countries.

Lacking sufficient railroads and means to build more of them, he said, the Latin-American governments realize the importance of motor highways, Cole said, several telling him, we must build roads or our civilization will perish for want of a means to dispose of our products."

In Richland Center Sunday Blue Law Fight

These are the central figures in the Sunday blue law fight at Richland Center, which has developed into a bitter row and divided the town into two factions. The town's ministerial section is determined that Jack Eskin, lower right, shall not operate his Orpheum theater on Sunday and had him arrested for so doing. Eskin paid a fine of $10. After preaching a vigorously satirical sermon Sunday on the subject, the Rev. James H. Wilson, left, Baptist pastor, marched up and down in front of the Orpheum theater singing "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" Eskin declares he will fight the blue laws. The ministerial association has turned the matter over to the legal department of the Lord's Day Alliance, according to the Rev. E. T. Aldrich (upper right).

Percy G. Kammerer, Episcopal, dean of Trinity cathedral, Pittsburg, is of the opinion that where there are no children there is no reason why a divorce should not be granted by mutual consent. He gave his views in an address before the synod of the Province of Washington.

FARMHAND SENTENCED FOR MANSLAUGHTER
Menominee, Mich. —(AP)—The end of a 30-year friendship is death for one man and prison for another. For fatally injuring his farmhand "Buddy," Louis Treadeu, William Bauschek of Powers, Mich., was convicted of manslaughter by a circuit court jury here yesterday. Testimony at the trial developed that jealousy was one of the motives which led to the fist fight in which Treadeu's skull was fractured. They had been employed on separate farms near Powers. Then last year the employer of one hired the other. Jealousy and a break developed, climaxing in a fight.

Rome —(P)— Protestant clergymen and Jewish rabbis will hereafter enjoy the same privilege as Roman Catholic priests in being able to plead "the professional secret" when declining to give testimony before the Italian courts. This is made clear in the second portion of the new Code of Penal Procedure issued by Minister of Justice Rocco.

As the code will be introduced in the Senate and Chamber next autumn as a government bill and since the Fascists have an overwhelming majority in the upper house and a practical unanimity in the lower, it should pass without question. What it will do is to secure to non-Cathol-

The code's text says the new disposition is in strict accord with the Lateran treaties. The text specifically exempts from giving testimony on religious matters "the ministers of the State religion, the priests, maintaining also the guarantee for the ministers of those cults permitted in the State." It is further added that the privileged position obtained by the Roman church, owing to the Lateran concord, corresponds to the Lateran accords, does not signify "a diminution of the liberty and guarantees" enjoyed by other sects.

Cardinals, under the new code, have a peculiar privilege. If they are called as witnesses in legal action, they are exempted from taking an oath, their dwelling, since the Lateran

YOUNG BOB DENIES ATTEMPT TO DELAY ACTION ON TARIFF

Coalition Merely Wants to Express Views

BY RUBY A. BLACK (Washington Correspondent of the Post-Crescent)

Washington—"Old Guard" Republican leaders will not be allowed to "get away" with their efforts to blame the Democratic-Insurgent coalition for slow progress on the pending tariff bill, declares Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr. of Madison, Wis.

"We have no disposition to delay the tariff bill," Senator La Follette says. "The record shows that we have never used any obstructive methods. We ask only time to present legitimate arguments on every aspect of the bill."

"If we had wanted to filibuster, we had an excellent opportunity to do so when the resolution for Philippine independence came up. We could have talked a week on that without discussing anything not pertinent to the resolution. Yet those of us opposing certain aspects of the tariff bill refused to be drawn into a debate on this question, and voted without having given the resolution the full consideration it deserves, simply because we wanted to get through with the tariff bill before taking up this other question, intervened as it is with the tariff."

Control of the time taken in debate has been entirely in the hands of the majority members of the Finance committee, Senator La Follette pointed out.

WON'T CURTAIL DEBATE
The senatorial group with which he is affiliated, which has been the majority on most aspects of the tariff bill so far, refuses to consent to any effort to curtail debate at this time, however.

"We ask only enough time to bring out everything pertinent to the discussion," Senator La Follette said.

Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, chairman of the Finance committee, issued an acrimonious statement attacking Senator William E. Borah of Idaho for stating that the bill could be passed in 10 minutes if the committee would eliminate all but the agricultural schedules.

An effort will be made by Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma to have the bill referred back to the committee with instructions to eliminate all but the agricultural duties, but the parliamentary situation is such that the Senate would have to vote on each industrial schedule anyhow, even if such a move should succeed. Therefore it is believed that the progressive group will give little attention to this method, and will concentrate upon seeking to eliminate or reduce the industrial duties by amendments to be offered on the floor.

Senator La Follette was one of the leaders in two of the successful amendments offered by the insurgent-Democratic coalition—the elimination of the flexible tariff provision and the elimination of most of the customs censorship of literature. It will lead to the fight against increased duties on sugar when the rates are reached.

BLAINE IN FIGHT
His speech on the flexible provisions was long, recounting the history of the tariff commission, but his speech on censorship was short. In both cases he made shorter speeches than did Senator Smoot on the same question, however.

Senator John J. Blaine of Escobedo made a short speech on the flexible tariff specializing on its effect upon the dairy industry, and his speech on his amendment to bar the products of forced or indentured labor, adopted Monday, took only about half the two hours spent in the discussion.

When the rates are reached, Senator Blaine contemplates offering various amendments to reduce duties on manufactured products used in the operation of farms. He believes that the most effective "farm relief" would be reductions in the duties on commodities necessary to the operation of the farm.

Senator Blaine's only speech during the tariff discussion which was not on the subject of the tariff and which took considerable time was a speech on labor injunctions made in connection with an investigation to be made by a sub-committee of the Senate Judiciary committee of which he is a member. He obtained the consent of the administration leaders to make this speech at a time when some of their tariff speakers were not prepared.

Senator La Follette says that the shortest time taken by the Senate on a tariff bill in recent years was four and a half months. The Senate has spent only a little more than a month on debate so far, having begun right after Labor day.

The only important feature in the administrative section of the bill yet to be discussed is the debenture, which Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska will offer as an amendment. Under this plan, which the Senate once approved as a part of the farm relief bill, farmers would be given bounties on farm products sold for export, the bounties to be taken from customs receipts, the "debenture" to be approximately equal to the tariff duties on the product if imported.

Both Wisconsin senators will support this amendment, which President Hoover so vigorously opposed when it was adopted by the Senate in the farm relief bill. The debate on the debenture will take several days, possibly a week, so that it may be November before the rates are reached.

WESTERN INDIANS PAY HONOR TO DEAD CHIEFS

Needles, Calif. — (AP) — Colorado river basin Indians gathered here today for their most important ceremony, the Knew-Mech-Cha-Vow, a memorial to departed tribal chiefs.

From Arizona, Nevada and California the Chinlehuvi, Mojave, Havasupai and Yuma tribes came to this great tribunal, devoted especially to honoring the memory of Chief Ach-Ach-Avara of the Mojave tribe, who died here last May.

Across the Colorado river from Needles the tribesmen erected an altar of logs, for mourning, chanting and eulogizing ceremonies, beginning today. Much time is spent in recounting the deeds of chiefs.

The ceremony starts with the approach of the Indians to the bower. They take stations under it, half singing and half chanting their rites for a period of 24 hours. At the climax of the ceremony the altar is set afire.

The tribesmen then run to the Colorado river to cleanse themselves of evil spirits in its muddy waters.

ITALIAN FLIERS HOP ON ENDURANCE JAUNT

Montecello, Italy — (AP) — The Italian aviator ace, Major Maddalena, hero of the Italia rescue, took off at 7:22 a. m. (122 a. m. E. S. T.) in his Savoia Marchetti S-64 to establish a new endurance flight record. He was accompanied by a fellow pilot, Cecconi.

Major Maddalena had with him a few pounds less than eight tons of fuel. He rose easily after a run of 5,000 feet. The plane carried a special variable wing arrangement permitting flying with lessened power and take-off with an abnormal load. Cecconi will accompany Maddalena on a trans-Atlantic flight attempt in November.

LABOR INJUNCTION FIGHT IS AIDED BY RULING OF JUDGE

Philadelphia Jurist Forbids
Union to Do Any Organizing Whatever

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington — A federal judge in Philadelphia who has ruled that unions must not attempt to raise Philadelphia wage scales to the levels prevailing elsewhere probably has more than anyone else to blame for the passage of a piece of the various anti-injunction legislation which has been languishing in Congress for some time.

In the opinion of Judge William Kirkpatrick of the U. S. district court against the right of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers to organize workers in Philadelphia is upheld by higher courts it will apparently mean that labor unions can be prevented from functioning in non-union territory at any time and under any conditions.

ALL ORGANIZING BARRED
The Amalgamated, one of the oldest unions in the country, went to Philadelphia to clean up sweatshop conditions and raise wages. It is now marked success. On Sept. 10, however, Judge Kirkpatrick issued an injunction against the union, forbidding it from doing any further organizing work.

The union continued the winning of its campaign and now claims to have organized 80 per cent of the Philadelphia market, but there have been repercussions in Washington because of the injunction's sweeping scope, which Senator La Follette of Wisconsin has called a "flagrant violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust act."

On which it was based. A La Follette obtained passage of a resolution to investigate the matter of the injunction and the situation is now before a Judiciary committee sub-committee, consisting of Chairman Norris of Nebraska and Senators Blaine of Wisconsin and Walsh of Montana.

Meanwhile, Kirkpatrick has had to give his reasons for the injunction. He says the Amalgamated took its case to the circuit court of appeals. The judge's opinion is both frank and remarkable. It sets forth that the organizing of the clothing workers of Philadelphia is an interference with interstate commerce because 80 per cent of the clothing produced in that city is shipped outside and that the effort to introduce union conditions and wages to Philadelphia workers results in the local manufacturers losing the advantage which a non-union field has given them.

Kirkpatrick does not contend that the wages sought in Philadelphia are better or higher than those prevailing in other unionized markets, but says the aim of improving the lot of Philadelphia workers is "at best a secondary and remote one" among the Amalgamated's "primary reasons" for organizing. The dominating reason, he says, was the fear that unless Philadelphia became a unionized market, it would be compelled to go back to a non-union basis with reduced wages to its employees.

It will be noted, the learned judge says, "that the orders are not enough to restrain the defendants from combining to bring about peaceable measures only." "I were so intended to be," says La Follette and labor leaders say this injunction and opinion do not represent an amazing climax to a series of injunctions against labor in the country which have, he says, been the intent of Congress. All labor organizations function in the United States and the product of industries in which they work are shipped to the states. If Kirkpatrick's principle is recognized it will prevent any non-union field being organized if other markets are already organized and are better conditions and paying better wages to workers.

W LEGISLATION PLANNED
The four largest of the eight employers obtaining the injunction have capitulated to the Amalgamated, but the effect here has been to sharply focus the interest in the proposed legislation designed to "blow" labor.

Such legislation has been held up so far by the failure of the American Federation of Labor to cooperate with Senator Norris, who two years ago presented an anti-injunction bill which represented the best thought of the Judiciary Committee chairman and some of the country's lawyers.

World Is Asked To Aid In Tracing Meteorites

In connection with the coming display of the Leonid meteors, Dr. Willard J. Fisher (inset) asks the world to aid in digging up old records of previous Leonid activities. In the diagram, the ellipse is the long path of the Leonids. In November the earth's orbit cuts this meteor path.

BY HOWARD E. BLAKESLEE
Cambridge, Mass.—(AP)—The "Meteor Fisherman" of Harvard astronomical observatory, Dr. Willard J. Fisher, asks cooperation of newspapermen in solving a mystery of the Leonid meteors.

These are vast swarms of meteors that for a thousand years have appeared about three times a century, every 33 years, sometimes producing dazzling displays. They are due again in November 1932 or '33; in fact, a few should be seen this year on the nights of November 13 and 14. But there is a mystery. The Leonids mostly failed to show up 20 years ago when last due. Astronomers suspect the gravitational attraction of the planet Jupiter was to blame then.

They think that in almost forgotten corners all over the civilized world, there exist written records that would go far to assist their predictions about the Leonids; that might help to show the world whether it is going to be worth while to sit up all night on a couple of chilly November evenings about three years hence.

Dr. Fisher asks the press of the United States, and of the world, to broadcast the information about these records, so that they may be dug out of hiding and given to astronomers. His faith that news publication will bring results is founded on his experience in receiving hundreds of letters of information about meteors in response to his notices occasionally given to newspapers in the past. His use of such notices gave him the sobriquet of "Meteor Fisherman."

Written descriptions of the Leonid displays in past centuries are believed to exist in many places, particularly in ships' logs. In Chinese, Indian and perhaps Egyptian literature, in the "Relations" of the Jesuit missionaries of Canada, civil and military reports from French possessions to the home government, reports of all sorts from Spanish America, Brazil and the Philippines, to church authorities and to the governments in Madrid and Lisbon, records of merchants, and Mayan astronomy.

Has the laxative in your home a family doctor's approval?

MOST of us value our health too much to purposely neglect ourselves when we are warned of constipation by bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, a headache, lack of appetite, or that weak, helpless feeling. The continuation of our trouble is more often due to the things we do rather than the things we leave undone.

Some things people do to help the bowels really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what things will cleanse the system without harm. That's why the laxative in your home should have a family doctor's approval.

A wonderful product now known to millions of people as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in his many years of practice at Monticello, Illinois. He proved it safe and reliable for women and children; thoroughly effective for the most robust men. He showed it actually corrects constipation. It is made from fresh herbs and other pure ingredients.

Since Dr. Caldwell first permitted his prescription to be put up in bottles and sold through drug stores, it has increased steadily in popularity until today it is the largest selling laxative in the world!

Illinois Will Open Big Ten Season With Iowa Saturday

ZUPPKE TROUBLED AS TEAM FAILS TO STOP HAWK PLAYS

Knute Rockne Expected to Watch U. W.-Irish Game from Wheel Chair

CHICAGO—(P)—Bob Zupke and his harrumphing Illinois packed their bags and prepared to hit the long trail which may bring them their third straight Big Ten football championship today.

Zupke's squad, regarded as possessing more potential strength than any he has groomed in a decade, pointed toward the hornet's nest of the conference—Iowa City, home of Burt Ingwersen's dangerous University of Iowa eleven.

The game renews a 30-year-old gridiron rivalry and dedicates the new $500,000 Iowa Stadium. It is the first conference start of the year for the Illinois.

Outwardly Zupke is greatly worried over the Hawkeye invasion. His team hasn't been able to stop Iowa plays satisfactorily this week in practice while one or two of his regulars are not in the best of condition.

Ill fortune has beset Northwestern, which is preparing for the invasion of Minnesota's haughty Gophers. Coach Dick Hanley was forced to rest yesterday by bronchitis and may not be able to direct his team Saturday. His brother, Pat Hanley, has picked up the coaching reins.

KIPKE MAKES CHANGES

Still seeking more punch in the backfield, Coach Harry Kipke has shifted Captain Joe Truskowski from the line to halfback and may use him there in place of the injured Alvin Dahlheim for the Iowa State battle Saturday. Coach William of Ohio State, in turn, has sent Allen Holman from halfback to quarter.

Demotions and promotions were flying so fast in Wisconsin's camp that only Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite had any idea of the Badger lineup for the Notre Dame struggle on Soldier field. Milo Lubratovich was shifted back to the line from fullback after a short tryout but landed on the second team for the time being.

The condition of Knute Rockne, suffering from a bad leg, was discussed more than football at Notre Dame although his assistants examined the coach yesterday and recommended a rest cure. Rockne probably will direct his team Saturday from a wheel chair.

BADGERS SHOWING A FIGHTING SPIRIT

Ketelaar and Lubratovich Shifted to Reserve Squad Wednesday

BY STANLEY E. KALISH
Associated Press Staff Writer
Madison—(P)—If football teams have the "right" psychological idea, Wisconsin has it now.

After a pathetic play in their last two games, the Badgers overnight have become football demons—aggressive and menacing—and will go into the game against Notre Dame Saturday bent on victory.

All season the Cardinal jerseys have been pelted, but in Wednesday night's workout, which was in the form of defensive scrimmage against freshmen using Notre Dame plays, the Badgers were fighting mad, chattering and set on stopping Rambler formations. They did stop them, and looked in better form than they have appeared in the last two weeks.

With a practice session's experience as fullback, Milo Lubratovich, giant tackle, was back at his old post Wednesday, but on the second eleven. Ketelaar, the other tackle in last Saturday's contest, also was with the sub-varsity. Tobias, Shenaker, Witter and Hal Smith functioned in their places.

In the defensive scrimmage, Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite scrambled his squad and gave nearly every man a trial.

The last game practice session will be tonight, and the varsity is expected to engage in a long scrimmage preliminary to leaving for Chicago Friday morning. Friday afternoon the Badgers are to meet out on Soldier field, where Notre Dame will be met Saturday.

KING TUT LOSES ON FOUL TO TENORIO

Sammy Mandell, Lightweight Champ, Views Bout from Ringside

CHICAGO—(P)—King Tut, Minneapolis challenger for the world's lightweight championship, today faces a suspension and a possible fine for fouling Lope Tenorio, Filipino, in the first round of their scheduled ten round bout in the Chicago Stadium last night.

Tut, rushing Tenorio to the ropes, cut loose with a low left hook that landed deep in foul territory. Tenorio fell to his knees and rolled over on his back. Dave Barry, the referee, immediately disqualified the weaving Minneapolis fighter.

Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, viewed the fight from the ringside trying to get a line on Tut's style. He may fight Tut during the winter season. Mandell signed to appear in the stadium, Nov. 4. Promoter Paddy Harmon is searching for an opponent.

FORMER APPLETON BOYS AT ELMHURST

Seven former Wisconsin prep and high school stars will appear in the Elmhurst, Ill., college Pirate's lineup Friday afternoon when the Illinois school makes its second invasion of Wisconsin this season. In its first game of the season, the Pirates earned a 2 to 0 decision over the White-water Normal team and are coming over to Wisconsin for their second Badger scalp when they tackle Milwaukee college.

Eli Coaches Use System They Know Nothing About

BY LAWRENCE PERRY

Copyright 1929

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It would not surprise the writer in any way were Yale to ditch her new wing back offense before very long and return to the attack devised by Tad Jones which had been her stock in trade since the war. Certainly, as the situation stands, it is difficult to visualize this present scheme of offense winning football games for the Elis.

Plain speaking at this time surely will not be resented by any man who is wholeheartedly interested in Yale's success on the gridiron. In any case, plain words are going to be set down by this writer. Primarily, then, it may be asked who is there coaching at Yale at the present time who is qualified to teach this wing back scheme of attack?

Warner's formations are, of course, public property. The wise old man of Palo Alto is always willing to send diagrams to any coach who writes for them. But there are merely utilities. Lying within is a maze of subtle boot movements and

ROCKNE HAS BEATEN THISTY THREE TIMES

U. W. Coach Lost Games While at N. W., Each Has Scored 38 Points

Madison—The battle through the seasons between Knute Rockne, Notre Dame mentor, and Glenn Thistlethwaite, guardian of Wisconsin grid destinies, is an even affair as far as points go, though Rockne has the edge in games won. Each coach has scored 38 points in four years.

While at Northwestern, Thistlethwaite's teams gave the Four Horsemen and their successors their toughest battle of the season for three straight years, although the Wildcats lost each time by scores of 13-6, 13-10 and 6-0, in 1924, 1925 and 1926.

Coming to Wisconsin in 1927, Thistlethwaite had to wait a year before the schedule makers again pitted him against the Bald Eagle. This time, in 1928, the result was different, the Badgers opening the season by taking Notre Dame for a 22-6 ride.

Fast friends of the field, Rockne and Thistlethwaite forget the amenities when a football game is concerned. Each is determined to increase that 38 and both would like to double it, though it seems unlikely that either the Irish or Wisconsin will run up much of a score in Saturday's struggle at Soldier's Field.

CAN'T TAKE CLOSE-UPS OF U. W.-IRISH GAME
Chicago—(P)—Rival scouts will have to do without close-up action pictures of the Wisconsin-Notre Dame football game at Soldier field Saturday.

The players pictured above are Frank Cookson, "Tiny" Roberts, Al Reed, Rube Getschow and "Swede" Johnston, all former Badger football players. Cookson, who formerly attended Appleton high school and Wayland Academy, is playing left half on the Pirate eleven, while "Tiny" Roberts another former Wayland player, who hails from Randolph, is holding down a tackle berth.

"Swede" Johnston, who is playing regular full back on a Rube Getschow who holds down center both from Appleton and are former Fox River valley all-conference players. Reed quarter back comes from Shawano where he played high school football and later played at Oshkosh Normal. He is attending Elmhurst to finish his coaching course.

VIKING FROSH ARE READY FOR FIRST GRID ENCOUNTER

Battle St. Norbert College Friday Afternoon at Whiting Field

ANOTHER workout Thursday night the character of which will be determined by the whims and fancies on varsity coach, Clarence H. Rasmussen, will complete Lawrence college freshmen grid practice for the yearling's game with St. Norberts Friday afternoon up on Whiting field.

If Rasmussen orders scrimmage for the varsity the yearlings will be the fodder and their last workout will be a scrimmage session. If Razz decides to let the varsity rest, the frosh will work on signals and dummy scrimmage.

The yearlings haven't much more information to absorb in the way of plays and the like for they have assimilated practically everything Coach John Roach has given them. They are a likely bunch of potential varsity players, eager to do everything they're told and therefore not very hard to teach.

Three Appleton boys will be seen in action with the yearlings. They are Elias and Marston ends and Billy Lee, a guard. Other of the eleven or more men Coach Roach will use are youngsters who know considerable about football and will not doubt make a good showing.

Among the chaps expected to star are Van Loo, a big husky center from Milwaukee, Joe LaGosh, quarter back from Milwaukee, Smiley Feind, half back from Jefferson who is a brother of another Smiley Feind of a few years ago, but who is an improvement, and John Clinky, Milwaukee, a fullback.

Friday's game will begin at 2:30, the gates at Whiting field being opened at 1:45. Admission to the game will be 50 cents, according to college authorities.

FROSH GRIDDEES RESPOND

Cavanaugh Tells Why Fordham Wears Jackets

NEW YORK—(P)—Clothes may not make the man but they make the Fordham university football team perhaps the slipperiest to be found anywhere.

Many of the 60,000 persons who watched Fordham upset New York University, 26 to 0, at the Polo Grounds Saturday, wondered at the ancient aspect of the Fordham players, who took the field garbed in canvas jackets that were worn away back in the stone age of the game.

The mystery was ended today by Major Frank Cavanaugh himself. The pictures head coach of the Fordham team explained that not esthetic but purely utilitarian motives led to the resurrection of the old-fashioned garb that other colleges threw on the scrap heap years ago.

"The other kind is prettier," observed the major, "but that's all."

PLAN HOMECOMING SUNDAY FOR OLD PACKER GRID STARS

Herb Joesting's Minneapolis Team Hopes to Make Trouble for Bays

GREEN BAY—Every indication points to a large "farewell" crowd at the National league football game at the city stadium here Sunday between the Packers and Herb Joesting's Minneapolis Red Jackets, the team that gave the Chicago Bears two battles and then trimmed the Chicago Cardinals, with Ernie Nevers in the lineup.

The clash with the Gophers is the last scheduled home game for the Bays. Following this contest, Capt. Lambeau and his hirelings will take the road on a jaunt that will lead them into Chicago four times, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, New York and Providence. The Packers have eight engagements on the road and there isn't a single setup scheduled en route.

PLAYERS' HOMECOMING
The spectators at Sunday's game will have a chance to glimpse the stars of yesterday for a minute or two between halves. The Green Bay Football corporation has extended invitations to forty players, who have done their part in other years to put Green Bay on the professional football map.

Such stars as "Cub" Buck, "Moose" Gorman, "Tubby" Howard, Richard (Doc) Murray, mayor of Marinette, Charlie Mathys, "Cowboy" Wheeler, Wally Neiman, Sammy Powers, the Zoll brothers, Secord, Ladrow, Bero, Buldoon, Roseoff and others have signified their intentions of being present.

INTRODUCED TO CROWD
These veteran Packers will be along the sidelines near the Packer bench and between halves they will assemble on the gridiron and through the Vite-Vox loud speaker, introduced to the crowd. It is possible that a banquet will be staged for the old timers after the game.

An extra feature of Sunday's game will be the distribution of the official Packer team picture to every purchaser of a program. This photo, done by Stillier, will be a 10 by 5 inch picture reproduced on high grade paper, which makes it suitable for framing. Each of these pictures will be inserted in a folder, which will carry the Packers' road schedule and some facts about the play-by-play service which will again be offered the fans at the Columbus club when the Packers are battling on foreign gridirons.

MINNEAPOLIS IS READY
Minneapolis—Judging by the showing the Minneapolis Red Jackets made against the Chicago Cardinals last Sunday, the Green Bay Packers are in for a most exciting afternoon Oct. 20.

The Gophers looked like an aggregation that found themselves against Ernie Nevers and his brilliant band of warriors. Green Bay fans must remember that the Cardinals gave them the battle of the year Oct. 6 and staged that fight without the assistance of Nevers.

Coach Dewey Scanlon said here after the Sunday game that the blonde Stanford giant added at least 50 percent to the drive of the Chicago club. Despite his presence on the field, Minneapolis played his eleven off its feet in every quarter and in every department of the game.

The half ended scoreless after one of the greatest and gamiest stands ever seen on any field when the Red Jackets held the visitors for four downs on the one foot line. Twice the mighty Nevers catapulted himself into the line for the 12 inches necessary and twice he was stopped dead in his tracks. McDonald and Hill also tried the concrete line without result. Minneapolis then kicked out of danger and the half ended shortly after.

The touchdown that won the game for the Red Jackets was one of the prettiest pieces of forward passing ever witnessed anywhere. Working the old combination they played with eminent success at Minneapolis. Joesting shot a long forward pass to Kenneth Haverack, another All-American performer. Kenny spearheaded it out of the air and ran 40 yards before he was downed on the two-foot line. On the very next play, Mally Nydahl shot through the line for a touchdown. The play proved that the Cardinal defense was not of the stonewall variety that Minneapolis showed in the first half.

"I think we have found ourselves," Herb Joesting said Tuesday, "and I also think that we are going to make some trouble for that terrible Green Bay team of which we have been hearing so much. Anyway, tell the fans down there we are going to furnish our share of a game that will be well worth watching."

THE WOMEN LIKE 'EM BETTER.
I don't. "I use these rough an' ready uniforms because you can't get hold of them. There's nothing 'opposing players to hang onto."

"I've seen it happen 500 times with the ordinary jerseys that a back would make his distance only to be hauled back by the slack of his shirt. I've seen players pull out whole handfuls of cloth. They can't do that with these canvas jackets that lace up the front. They've got to tackle the man."

These are just the same outfits they used to wear when I played football—except that I've added one or two little improvements of my own.

"But probably if the women have their way we'll have to throw these away after this season."

Viking Coaches Drive Team For First Game On Little Four Schedule

Report Lawrence Eleven Doesn't Like Going When It Gets Rough

AN evening of defensive play against the freshmen Wednesday was the second step in Coach Clarence H. Rasmussen's preparations for the first game on the field during the 1929 season. Beloit will furnish opposition for the afternoon and because critics rate the two elevens as inferior to both Carroll and Ripon, perhaps Saturday's battle will be for the cellar championship.

The only way to compare the two teams is to recall their scores with Northwestern college of Watertown. And that gives the Gold a defensive edge. The two teams ran up 25 and 26 points against the Lutherans, Lawrence having the edge.

But the Gooslings failed to cross the Beloit goal during the afternoon, something the Vikes cannot boast of. The particular feat would indicate that the Beloit line is just as strong as its best friends claim and that perhaps it will have the edge over the Lawrence eleven.

Coach Rasmussen seems to be satisfied with the showing of his

200 GOLFERS ENTERED IN EASTERN TOURNEY

New York—(P)—A field of more than 200 golfers, including most of the leading professionals and amateurs in the Metropolitan district, was entered for the Joseph J. Lavin memorial open tournament starting today at the Salisbury Country Club. The event consists of 36 holes today and 36 tomorrow.

Among the stars entered are Tommy Armour, Johnny Golden, Johnny Farrell, Bill Mehlhorn, MacSmith, Gene Sarazen, Bobby Cruickshank, Jim Barnes, Tom Kerrigan and Willie Klein. The amateur contingent is headed by Chick Evans, George Voigt, scratch man on the metropolitan handicap list, Phil Perkins, the British star and Eddie Briggs.

Not that he meant they were afraid of their opponents or that they were yellow—but they didn't go out there and batter through the other man's line to stop his plays and open holes for their own ball carriers. In other words they weren't fighting.

So on the eve of the first Little Four game, the Lawrence coaches are in more or less of a quandary about the entire situation. They hope the return to the home lot will instill something in the squad and enable it to go out and trample all over Beloit for they know Saturday's results will either make or break the entire season. It appears the situation is up to the students and the players, the former to cheer the Vikes on, the latter to "get tough" for at least 60 minutes Saturday afternoon.

IOWA STATE GRIDDEES LEAVE FOR M. U. GAME

AMES, Ia.—(P)—The Iowa State football team 27 strong, will leave tonight for the Marquette game at Milwaukee. A heavy signal drill was held last night, under arc lights.

SHIELDS ORDERS LIGHT WORKOUTS FOR H. S. ELEVEN
Coach Fears Scrimmage Will Injure More of His Ailing Proteges

WITH three of his star players injured and one physical condition for Saturday's question of a doctor's diagnosis, Coach Joseph Shields has been sending his Appleton high school team through easy workouts most of the week.

Wednesday evening he dished out a long signal practice which ended with a little dummy scrimmage. Not much of a workout in preparation for a foe like Manitowoc, but nevertheless all he could give without taking too many chances.

The injured members of the team are Tubby Reetz, a veteran guard who has a bruised hip and was forced to leave last week's game at the end of the first half. Winters, a veteran tackle who injured the muscles in his shoulder and has been taking treatment since Saturday evening; and Ray Crane, stellar halfback who took a battering Saturday that has kept him on the sick list all week.

Naturally all the boys feel they'll be ready to play Saturday or will at least try to play, but whether they are is another thing. If the men are missing it means the Orange chances of ringing up a third victory are mighty low—so low in fact they would hardly be visible.

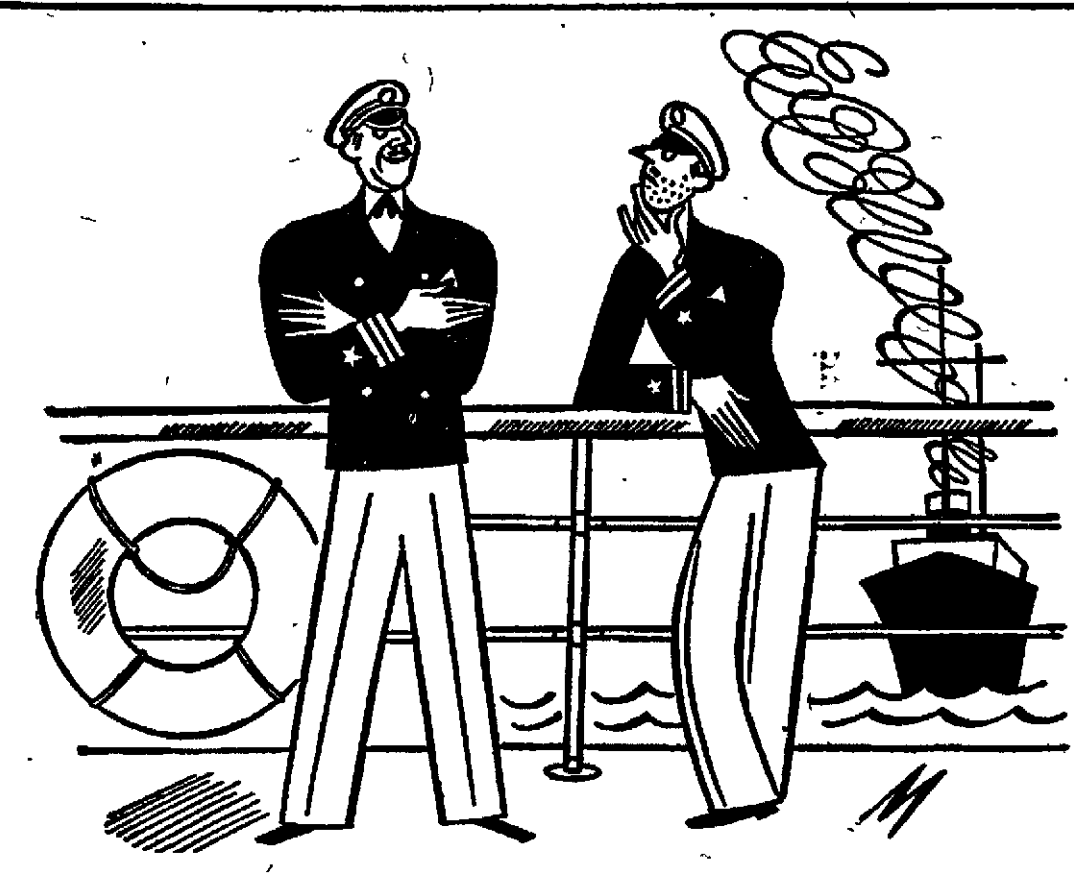

The Shipbuilders haven't fared so well this season, but that doesn't mean anything to Coach Shields who realizes the strength of the lake shore team. They battled Fond du Lac even until the last eight minutes of the game when the Cardinals scored on passes and won.

Gaithraith, veteran fullback and an all valley choice last season carries the brunt of the attack for the Ships. He is burning up the green again this season, but he is a charmed Peterson who also cuts meat capers on the grid.

In the line the lake shore team boasts as many veterans as the Orange. Early season games have shown their play sort of ragged but they appear to be improving and no doubt will give the Shipbuilders plenty to worry about.

As the season wears on it appears the Crimson Tide of East Green Bay again is headed for the valley title. The Bays have moved down everything so far by overwhelming scores, and because of the tie game Marinette was caught. In last week the Willymen have clear sailing for the championship for the second successive time.

OMAN AND BACH TO HAVE CHANCE IN W. BACKFIELD SATURDAY

Lubratovich Goes Back to Tackle; H. Smith May Beat Out Katalaar

MADISON — After trying Milo Lubratovich, 225 pound Serb tackle, at fullback with only semblance of success, Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite today found a new backfield combination that promises to gain plenty of yardage against Notre Dame at Soldiers' Field Saturday in the season's first 100,000-in game.

Tury Oman, the strong, silent athlete from the Minnesota Iron range, likely to see plenty of action as lining halfback. Oman has been lining along slowly, but apparently is ready to go and may take the play away from Ernie Lusby and Russ Katalaar when the Badgers and Irish engage.

The other shift brought Mickey Bach to blocking halfback in place of Pacetti. Bach has exhibited a lot of stuff since his eligibility was earned up last Friday, and he and Katalaar, alternating on the field, could be able to handle the blocking effectively.

The other two backfield positions remained the same with Sammy Ehr at quarterback and Harold Ebbels in his old full back position. Ebbels weighs but 166 pounds and is expected to be effective in the line. Thistlethwaite hoping that "Bach" could fill the bill. As is, the substituting job will be left to Walt Gnabach as in the past.

The Badger line also came in for shaking up. Harry Hanson, B am center, was drafted to the varsity and both he and Leighton Ahlberg are giving Moose Kruger, 205 pound Madison boy, a tough fight for a pivot position.

At right tackle Harold Smith, a phenom, is winning favor over Hitey Katalaar, being inserted in scrimmage against the B team yesterday after Katalaar had been kept out of several plays by Art Risch, reserve guard.

Dave Toblas, another sophomore who is rounding into shape after injuries in practice, has an eye on the full back berth owned by Lubratovich since last season. Big and strong and with plenty of speed, the rmer La Crosse boy may get his chance against Notre Dame.

"Beat Tom Lieb" has replaced the y of "Beat Notre Dame" on the isconsin squad. Every man is ger to trim the team coached by eh, who directed the Badger line r three seasons prior to the pres t one.

U. PROVES THAT RIPLEY WAS RIGHT

Milwaukee—How, they ask, does Riple get that way? Harvard Is Only Member Of Big Three Keeping Prestige

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK — (AP) — Three years ago Harvard, Princeton and Yale fell from the football march in October, with the passing of the fourth October Saturday the annihilation of the ancient triumvirate had been accomplished by Geneva, the Navy and Brown. SCHMELING MAY BE PICKED FOR MIAMI

Joe Jacobs Signs German Heavyweight for Annual Winter Classic

New York — (AP) — Another battle of Miami Beach this winter may help the untangling of the heavyweight situation and provide Max Schmeling with a means of evading the suspension imposed upon him and his manager, Joe Jacobs, by the New York state athletic commission.

Jacobs has signed with G. R. K. Carter of Miami Beach for the German boxer to meet one of four possible opponents at the Miami Beach Kennel Club next winter. The list is Young Strubling, Tuffy Griffith, Victorio Campolo and Otto von Porat.

The manager said that he did not think the ban placed on him and Schmeling by the New York governing body would be effective in Florida. They were suspended for Schmeling's refusal to go through with a bout for which his German manager Arthur Buclow, had signed. He was to meet Phil Scott at Ebbets field. The scene of the proposed bout is to be the Miami Beach Kennel Club, which Carter said could be made to accommodate 50,000 persons for the fight.

GOLDEN BEARS TO GIVE U. OF PENN PLENTY TROUBLE

Eastern Team's Scout Reports Californians Are Strong Eleven

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Big and rangy and exponents of a system of football that combines power, speed and smartness, the Golden Bears of the University of California are here for their battle with the University of Pennsylvania Saturday.

The squad numbering 29, with Coach "Nibs" Price at their head, arrived last night and went into retirement at the Manufacturers' Country club outside the city their headquarters during their eastern stay. A short sight-seeing trip was on the program for today, then a thorough workout and signal drill on Franklin Field, scene of the intersectional tussle.

Saturday will be the first time a University of California team has played in Philadelphia. "We succeeded in beating Penn in 1924 and 1927 when it came to California," said Coach Price, "and naturally we hope to win again. The Bears will do their best to make it three straight."

Cliff Duncan, who scouted the Bears in their last two games, returned to Franklin Field yesterday with high praise for the Californians.

"They look as strong defensively as the Navy was last year," said Duncan, "and more powerful on offense. It looks like one of the best teams that ever came here."

"Ben Lom, halfback, is one of the best passers I have seen and his presence alone would make an aerial offense powerful. California has some fine passes and if its running attack improves this week we are in for plenty of trouble."

Pennsylvania while winning all its games thus far this season, has been scored on by its three opponents, and in the opinion of critics has not displayed the scoring punch or defensive strength of other years.

What's Wrong With U W.

Notes Henry J. McCormick of the state sports staff in the following story tells why he thinks Northwestern beat Wisconsin. His comment is just part of several columns in the Madison paper since Saturday, comments of other scribblers like "Roundy" being much more to the point than the following.

A TEAM that won't fight cannot hope to win. Wisconsin did not fight against Northwestern.

Unless Wisconsin fights against Notre Dame, it will lose by a score that will make the Badgers a joke. A cherished tradition at Wisconsin is that Cardinal eleven always fight. Certainly this year's team has displayed nothing as yet to show that it intends to live up to this tradition.

Notre Dame teams always fight, and even when they were decisively defeated here a year ago, the Irish battled gamely to the finish. Northwestern defeated Wisconsin and even in the last quarter there was no real spirit in the Wisconsin team, there was no sagaciousness, there was none of that flaming courage such as Badger eleven of the past have displayed when fighting with their backs to the wall.

If there is a fighting heart in this year's Wisconsin eleven it will come out this week on the turf of Soldiers Field, a stadium dedicated to the memory of young men who carried on and won in the fight of fights.

If Wisconsin does not rise to the occasion this week, then the team is without a fighting heart—it is composed of bodies possessed of superb mechanical equipment but with no soul.

It isn't that Wisconsin backfield mind being defeated, it isn't that the Badgers lost to a foe much inferior in everything but courage and fight, but it does disgust one to see a team go down without fighting. It isn't natural for healthy youngsters to go down with their heads hanging.

The men on the Wisconsin team must take stock of things this week, they must check up on themselves.

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite is not to blame; he has proven his coaching ability here and elsewhere. Writers are not to blame for rating Wisconsin highly; they could only see the speed, power, and size of the Badger squad—they could not be expected to guess that these men were clad that had no imagination, no fighting hearts.

If the men have nothing in them of that courage that shows itself when hard pressed, then there is no hope for them, and one can only feel sorry for them.

But there are men there that should be fighters. Milo Lubratovich, a Serbian youth whose ancestors fought for their very existence, must have inherited something besides that huge body, but evidence is to the contrary.

John Marks, a son of the South, captain of a team that was to have been a pennant contender, he must have something of inspiration in his makeup; certainly he has more than he has shown.

Sammy Behr is a disappointment to me. I thought he was a fighting Jew, one of the toughest people in the world to down.

You can go down the line and pick out others, but the story is the same. Some teams fight for their school, others for their coach or captain, and others for the sheer joy of fighting; a team that won't fight under any circumstances may be made up of nice boys but they do not belong in athletics.

If Wisconsin fights against Notre Dame it will win our admiration no matter what the result. If the men don't fight, they are not a Wisconsin team, they are merely imposters masquerading in the Cardinal uniforms of a great school that has known few championships but many courageous teams.

A team that won't fight can't win.

Window Reveals Cause of Noise

Appleton, Wis. — The noise, rising from the Hughes store, was found today to be caused by the suit value at $50 being offered through the medium of Society Brand.

"Two pairs of trousers come with these suits, too," said Mr. Hughes.

Displayed in the window were two examples of the Society Brand suits, with two pairs of trousers, in the fifty dollar range. Inside were the other Society Brand suits in a range of from $45 to $95, and overcoats from $15 to $150. Along with them were the fine Braeburn values, with two pairs of trousers, at $35 and $40. Braeburn overcoats were from $35 to $50.

REAL VALUES START AT THIRTY FIVE DOLLARS

Appleton, Wis. — In an interview with the Post-Crescent today, Walter T. Hughes, local clothier, revealed his reason for refusing business under thirty-five dollars.

"Clothing below that price does not meet our higher standards of workmanship," explained Mr. Hughes, "And that is more important than fabric to the man who knows clothes."

It is firmly believed that there is more value received in a suit purchased at Hughes' prices than in a suit priced below thirty-five dollars.

NO INTEREST IN BUDGET

Appleton, Wis. — A check-up today revealed that there is no interest whatever to tangle up the Hughes Ten Payment Budget Plan.

As a result, more men with good credit and a good employment record are wearing better clothes than ever before, thanks to the Hughes Plan.

BULLETIN

Blue worsted suits in four patterns at $37.50 are a feature at the Hughes store now. Plain blue serge, plain blue basket weave, blue with white pencil stripe, and a blue with fancy stripe. The excellent trimmings, tailoring and linings make these suits outstanding.

THE Worsted-tex Suit

ALWAYS $40

Made of the kind of cloth you see at a fine custom-tailor's.

You may wonder how a cloth of this kind can be beautifully tailored into a fine suit of clothes and be sold at $40.

It is the result of intense specialization by one of the most famous clothing makers in America.

To the best of our knowledge there is nothing like it anywhere near the price.

CHAPTER 23

A CONFIDANT

I ADOPTED the affection which Veronica had set up. I asked no questions and showed no surprise. I accompanied Veronica docilely to a telephone and stood by while she told her story to Royle. I went with her and her mother to the inn and bargained for breakfast.

Royle and Somerfield came not long after we had breakfasted. Somerfield readily agreed to take the boat back. He said little during the colloquy between Royle and Veronica, but looked very hard at me. I thought, We waited while he waited out, climbed on board and started the engine.

Then Royle took Veronica in his car, and Mrs. Seabrooke drove me home. We were in Blackwater before lunch time, though long after the arrival of Royle and Veronica.

My mother's nerve was quite equal to receiving me as if I had just gone for a stroll after breakfast and come in to lunch. But when, later on, she told me what happened the night before her sang froid appeared literally astonishing.

"While Cousin John and I were in his room talking she heard a sound and saw somebody moving in the garden and went out in the direction of her rose garden. While she was there the electric bell in the house rang, but she continued her walk. Suddenly she heard thudding footsteps. Cousin John and I ran by her within a yard.

Then she guessed at an alarm. She delayed her return to the house for several minutes. Laxton was waiting for her in the drawing room. "Sorry I wasn't in, professor," said my mother. "Tom's gone to see my Cousin Merryweather off. I don't quite know when he'll be back."

"What did he say to that?" I asked her. "He inquired if Mr. Merryweather was returning to Blackwater."

"And you?"

"I said I rather expected him back tomorrow."

"Mother?"

"Well, Tom," said she, "so I do. I telephoned to him this morning. He'll be here this evening."

"John Merryweather, her cousin, was a rather amusing becheur, fond of her in his old-boyish way. But I should certainly never have dreamed of dragging him into this business."

"I suppose you know we're skating on thin ice," said I.

"I'm rather enjoying it," she answered. "I rely on your judgment, Tom, to justify all we've done."

But that was just the mischief. I could not even rely on my own judgment: it was so hopelessly deflected by the blue eyes of Veronica.

We seemed to have covered our tracks fairly well for the time. But you could never tell. I found myself hating to go into my studio merely because behind the door of my safe there was a certain black bag.

After lunch I went to rest in a hammock in the garden and in about five minutes I was sound asleep. I woke up hearing voices. I opened my eyes and saw my mother and Somerfield looking down on me. "Hello," said I. "Anything up?"

"Nothing up," mother replied. "Mr. Somerfield called to inquire about your foot."

I had forgotten the injured foot. "Foot's almost right now," I said. "Then come and take a cup of tea."

My mother left us over our tea. "Well, Grenofen," said Somerfield, "isn't it time to drop the lonehand stunt?"

"If you'd be a little more explicit--"

YOUNG COUPLES FIRST IN BERLIN DIVORCES

Berlin — (AP) — Statistics being assembled here show that the highest Berlin divorce rate is among couples between 25 and 35 years of age, the time of life when the cementing rather than the breaking of permanent family ties is expected in this land of solid home life traditions.

Recorders were nonplussed to find also that the next most numerous groups fell among those who were either not of legal age or had already passed fifty.

Within the year 417 couples who had managed to carry on together for more than 25 years, came to the parting of the ways. Whether they intended to remarry or wished to pass their closing years in solitude, was not divulged.

COUNCIL VOTES TO RAZE BILLBOARDS OBSTRUCTING VIEW

Ordinance Carrying Out Action Will Be Adopted by Aldermen

Kaukauna—Billboards which obstruct motorists' view along highways must be torn down in the city, and an ordinance will be adopted to that effect, it was decided by the common council Wednesday evening. The motion of razing billboards was brought to the attention of the council by Mayor W. C. Sullivan.

A billboard located at the junction of highway 41 and trunk line J at the north end of the city was mentioned as a menace to driving. Mayor Sullivan advised an ordinance which would give the city jurisdiction over erecting of billboards in Kaukauna. Alderman Bert Roberts stated that several complaints also have been registered with him and agreed that such an ordinance is necessary. Alderman E. A. Brewster said that a zoning ordinance would take care of the matter. The question of zoning the city is under consideration.

Outhouses in the city must be torn down and replaced with sanitary buildings with running water. This is required by state law, according to Mayor Sullivan.

BOARD INVESTIGATES
He said that the state board of health is investigating the city and may come to the city at any time and order all outhouses abolished within 30 days. This would be more expensive than if it is done immediately by the people. The mayor referred to Beaulieu Hill where many of the homes are still using outhouses when connection with the city sewer system is possible.

No word on the bridge problem has been received here from the state, it was reported. Mayor Sullivan said that it may be sometime before action is taken on the matter by the state highway commission because it is especially busy at this time of the year when most of the county boards of the state meet.

Alderman Brewster asked if the matter of receiving aid from the county for road improvements on highway 55 is settled. Mayor Sullivan stated that the matter is not yet settled but that the city expects aid. He said a public hearing may be held here with the county board and the state highway commission on the matter. The city is only waiting until the bridge question is settled, he said.

WIDEN ROAD AT LOWER END OF AVENUE BRIDGE

Kaukauna—The road at the lower end of the Wisconsin-ave bridge at the curve on Oak-st is being widened. The sidewalk on the west side is being removed at the curve to give more road space. The turn has been the scene of frequent accidents. The matter of widening the turn was brought to the attention of the council by Alderman E. Roberts. The work is being done by the McCarthy Construction company.

VOLLEYBALL TEAM TO PLAY MISSION HOUSE

Kaukauna—Twelve Kaukauna volleyball players will go to Plymouth Friday evening to play the Mission House volleyball team. Those who will go are Norman Gerhart, Percy Chamberlain, the Rev. P. Worthman, Joseph Krahn, H. Fisher, Stanley Smith, J. J. Haass, J. St. Claire, Clarence Castle, Harold Newton, Home White and A. Vandenberg.

PASTOR TAKES OVER BOY SCOUT OFFICE

Kaukauna—Kaukauna boy scouts met in Park school Tuesday evening when the Rev. Herbert J. Lane, new scoutmaster, took over the work. H. C. Bensch, former scoutmaster, introduced the new leader. Mr. Bensch will assist the Rev. Lane until the latter becomes acquainted with the work. Olin G. Dryer, head of the scout troop committee, also attended.

LEGION BOWLERS TO ROLL FRIDAY NIGHT

Kaukauna—The Legion Bowling league will roll the weekly matches on Hugenberg alleys Friday evening. In the first shift at 7 o'clock the S. O. S. versus the Aviators and the Artillery versus the Navy. In the last shift at 9 o'clock the Signal Corps versus the Marines and the Infantry versus Engineers.

REMODEL FRONT OF DODGE-ST MARKET

Kaukauna—The front of the Zehrer Meat market, 205 Dodge-st, is being remodeled. New show windows will be installed and the entire front of the building improved. The work will require about two weeks.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Lloyd Derrus. His telephone number is 184-W. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Derrus.

LEGION WILL TREAT GRIDDERS AT LUNCH

Kaukauna—Football players of the Kaukauna American Legion squad will be treated to lunch by the Legion at Legion hall after the practice Thursday evening. About 30 men are reporting regularly for practices.

Injuries have cost the team four men so far this season. Posson hurt his knee in last week's game and will be unable to play this week. Tillie is still out with an injured knee. Pahl and Brenzel, ends, also are on the injured list and probably will not play for the rest of the season.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Eagles will meet at S. O. O. hall Thursday evening in Eagles hall on Wisconsin-ave. After the business meeting, chicken booyah will be served.

A meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America was held Wednesday evening in Odd Fellows' hall on Second-st.

Lady Elks will meet at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon in Elks' hall on Second-st. Mrs. Gordon S. Mulholland will be hostess.

Ladies' Aid society of First Congregational church held a rally Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. P. McCain, Dixon-st. Mesdames A. Schrader, E. Zekind and A. Reith were hostesses.

A group of friends surprised Mrs. Charles Ristau at her home on Depot-st. on her birthday Wednesday A. 6.30 supper was served and cards were played. Honors were won by Mrs. R. H. McCarthy, Mrs. William Graves of Fond du Lac, and Mrs. A. Ulrich.

COMPLETE COVERING OF STREET CAR TRACKS

Kaukauna—Covering of the old street car tracks on Law-st was completed by workmen of the Wisconsin Public Service company of Green Bay Wednesday. The old tracks were covered at the request of the common council. All the old car tracks on Law-st and Wisconsin-ave now are covered.

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK ON BILLBOARD MENACE

Kaukauna—Harry Berger of Wausau was speaker at the meeting of Kaukauna Rotary club Wednesday noon at Hotel Kaukauna. He discussed the beautification of state highways, and branded billboards as a menace to beauty. Lumber companies of Michigan are cooperating with highway beautification committees and refrain from cutting virgin timber along the highways for a distance of 300 feet back from the road, he said. Some companies of the northern part of Wisconsin are also doing this.

JUNGLE EFFECTS USED WITH BEADS

New York Follows Paris in Adopting Latest Mode for Neckwear

New York—In the matter of beads, New York—following the footsteps of Paris—has gone absolutely jungle. On the whole the effect is good, since women of slender proportions can wear beads of imposing size with a result interestingly knobby. Perfectly round pearls as big as small onions compose a necklace of a trifle more than choker length shown in a Fifth avenue window. These wallowing pearls are handsome things of themselves and handsome yet on the long slim back for which they were designed.

Along the Rue de la Paix, the Champs Elysees and wherever the French style designers lurk, ermine is being put to use as nonchalantly as if it were not the traditional prerogative of royalty. A modern king's coronation robe would look pretty old-time beside some of the ermine evening wraps worn by people who never had so much as a coronet in the family. There are even bow-ties and jabots of ermine on various hats.

With the vogue for patterned chintz and other cotton hangings, it is fatal to easy to achieve a room that forms a confusion of colors from which the delectable flowered or striped curtains stand out like a sore thumb. But you can put almost anything in a room if you follow this simple rule: Select a shade, even an obscure one, in the chintz and match it there times in the room itself with, for instance, an upholstered chair, a painted table, and a cushion on the couch.

MOST OF NATION'S CARS OWNED IN SMALL TOWNS

Washington—(AP)—Fifty-five per cent of the automobiles in the United States are owned in towns of less than 10,000 population, according to a survey by the American Automobile association.

Cities of 50,000 and more have 11.4 per cent of the cars, and 11.7 per cent are found in cities of from 100,000 to 500,000. Towns of 1,000 and less, including rural communities, have 23.1 per cent of the automobiles of the nation.

The smallest percentage, 6, is found in cities of from 50,000 to 100,000 population.

GO-DISCOVERER OF RADIUM COMES TO U. S. WITHOUT POMP

Mme. Marie Sklodowska Curie Enters Country in Simple Style

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press
New York—Mme. Marie Sklodowska Curie, co-discoverer of radium with her late husband, Pierre Curie, entered New York quietly, without ticker tape, and without the ceremonies arranged for aviators and channel swimmers. As she came down the gangplank of the Ile de France, among nearly 1,700 passengers, there was, however, one almost worshipful admirer in the crowd at the dock, waiting to catch a glimpse of the great Polish woman.

It was Miss Edith Ketch, a bacteriological research worker of Brooklyn, who said she had stayed up nearly all night, for fear of missing Mme. Curie—just as the fans at Chicago and Philadelphia stayed up for the ball games.

Miss Ketch, however, was just one of the crowd, and so far as can be learned, there was no other woman scientist of the United States there for Mme. Curie's reception. Mme. Curie's own reticence and her dislike of public functions in part explain her perfunctory reception, and it happens that she arrives at a time when the records of American colleges and laboratories show that women are turning toward science and that, as Mme. Curie demonstrated, the highest field of scientific achievement is open to them.

INSPIRED NOTE
While Mme. Curie was inspired by the companionship of her husband, and assumed his chair at the Sorbonne after his death in 1906, in America it is the unmarried women scientists who are turning the lead. Of 637 women scientists listed in "American Men of Science," only 72 are married, with the average age of 42. Hence the figures show that, in the main, the most effective devotion of women to science has been with the sacrifice of matrimony.

As all but 26 of the women listed are college graduates, their college background is both illuminating and interesting. More than one fourth of them came from five eastern, privately endowed women's colleges. All the great state universities and other co-educational institutions contributed a comparatively small percentage to the total list. The obvious deduction is, of course, that the girls in the co-educational colleges married and hence were diverted from scientific career. The colleges which are shown to have been most successful in the nurture of women scientists are Mount Holyoke, Smith, Bryn Mawr and Wellesley.

MORE WOMEN
While no statistics of this year's college matriculations are available, last year's enrollment showed a considerably increased proportion of women signing on for scientific courses. The drift seems to be toward biology. There are many hundreds of women employed in bacteriological research laboratories throughout the country, while many are on the faculties of universities and colleges. Archaeology seems to run second to biology in the field of interest of young women taking up scientific careers. It is reported from the colleges that within the last year there has been an unheard of number of young women shopping for elementary courses leading into archaeology, with an intense interest, particularly in the Mayan civilization.

Mme. Curie who is now 62, will avoid the spotlight as much as possible in this country, attending only Henry Ford's dinner to Thomas A. Edison, the dedication of the St. Lawrence Hall or Chemistry at St. Lawrence University, and the dinner of the American Society for the Control of Cancer at New York. She also will go to Washington to receive a gift of $50,000 for the purchase of a gram of radium for the Radium Institute of her native city of Warsaw.

It was interesting to note that those two empirical scientists of the world of finance and diplomacy, Owen D. Young, and Charles Gates Davies, escorted Mme. Curie down the gangplank. Mr. Young, triumphantly returning recently from the reparations conference, also refused a public reception. With the new entrance between industry and science, quiet transformations are being worked.

MEN FIND CEMETERY SITE 3,000 YEARS OLD

Munich—(AP)—An ancient burial ground about 3,000 years old was discovered by workmen excavating for the foundations of a number of new buildings at Malsach, near Munich. They first hit upon a number of antique burial urns dating back to the Hallstatt period, about 100 B. C.

Further excavations under the supervision of archeological experts brought to light 33 of these urns, each containing besides the ashes of the dead a small leaden receptacle. Scattered among the urns were numerous bronze bracelets, necklaces, needles, knives and other implements.

STATE COMMERCE CHAMBER STABLE

Future of Organization Assured, R. S. Kingsley, President, Thinks

Kenosha—Although only a few months old, the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce is making consistent progress and its future is definitely assured, in the opinion of President R. S. Kingsley, of Kenosha. Latest reports to Mr. Kingsley from the chamber's headquarters at Madison show a total of thirty organizations already affiliated with the State Chamber.

The other officers and directors of the State Chamber join in expressing a sincere appreciation of the splendid manner in which the business men of Wisconsin have rallied to the support of this movement for unity in these matters of vital importance to this state," said Mr. Kingsley. "State unity seems to be the keynote that appeals. Many of us who have been wanting a state chamber of commerce for years past have always regarded unified action by our business interests as one of the important aims of such a body, but we never realized until we got into the actual organization work just how wide-spread the demand is for a state unity in Wisconsin.

"State unity is nothing more than team-work and it takes no prophet to predict the great good that will result for the entire state, her people and her commercial and industrial interests, if we pull together consistently over a period of years on such matters as legislation, taxation, conservation, tourist business promotion, highways, industrial development, agricultural development and water, rail and air transportation. Our state chamber is in the field to weld and guide such unified action. We are going forward in a most satisfactory way."

Kellogg's RICE KRISPIES

SOME PERSONS MUST WORK STILL HARDER IN COMING HOLIDAYS

Schools Now in Session Training People for Approaching Season

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright 1929, by Cons. Press
New York—Holidays are coming. To some they mean more work instead of less. Schools for the training of the extra salespeople and clerks by the department and other retail stores are now in session and the standard of scholarship in these schools will be higher than ever before.

Merchants now are convinced that profits must come from cuts in distribution costs rather than cuts of production costs or from higher prices. They are eliminating labor turnover among salespeople as much as possible and building up an entente cordiale between the clerks and customers which they feel will be worth huge sums to them annually. The clerks are now being taught how to establish and maintain these customer contacts.

At the call of the retailers the department of commerce has compiled a selected reading list for retail salesmen to aid them in their studies. The list comprises 22 publications and 44 magazine articles and covers sales psychology, store policy and knowledge of goods handled. The reading of this list is being strongly urged, for the merchants, according to the federal authorities, know that the clerk's attitude and ability represent to the customer the policy of the store.

The problem of holidays is also growing in importance. There are measures now before congress asking for new holidays which would subtract nearly two weeks additional time from the working year. It is unlikely that these measures will become laws but there are already so many holidays that their influence is keenly felt on business.

MUST WORK HARDER

While some workers have relaxation from work on these days, others work harder. The traffic lanes are jammed and streets and highways congested.

Two means of overcoming the holiday difficulties to some extent now are being considered by state and government officials and by businessmen and economists. One involves a change in the calendar providing for 13 months of 28 days each. The use of this simplified calendar would enable businessmen to stagger the off days of their employees so as to keep business going and still provide time for rest and recuperation, according to advocates of the measure. The national committee on calendar simplification declares a survey showed a big majority favor the change.

The objections to the present calendar are that the months do not contain the same number of days, that they do not contain a whole number of weeks and that the days of the week shift each year to a different date. Counting holidays, there may be a difference of 19 per cent in the working days of March and February.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis declares that he can see the universal five day week approaching. The establishment of a five-day week would enable the workers to take their time off in an orderly way, which would help both production and traffic for not all would pile out of town for the weekend period. It is declared that the calendar change would not affect religious observance.

JOY IN MEETING PEOPLE IS GREAT AID TO DOLLY GANN

Helps Her Withstand Vigors of Social Life in Washington

BY SUE McNAMARA
Washington — (AP) — Dolly Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis, has found the secret of withstanding the strain of official social life.

In the restful atmosphere of the 10-room hotel suite which she and her husband share with the Vice President I learned what this secret is.

"Enjoying every minute and liking to meet people is a sure antidote for late hours and crowded days," says Mrs. Gann.

Seated beside me on a broad couch,
Mrs. Gann talked of her experiences as second lady of the land. Her blue eyes sparkled. Her cheeks were smooth and pink. She looked rested, refreshed, exhilarated.

It was one of the quiet home exercises of this congenial trio — the vice president and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann. Subdued tones of a radio came from the adjoining room, where the Vice President and Mrs. Gann were smoking and reading.

"Being freed of the responsibilities of a big house, and still having a home to manage is delightful," said Mrs. Gann. "I have more leisure for social duties and for caring for my family."

Two negro servants, Minna and Johnson, act as cook and butler. The hotel service cares for all other needs of the Vice President's household. Mrs. Gann does her own marketing nearly every morning with her car and chauffeur. She arises about eight and drives down with her husband to his office. The Vice President is an early riser and breakfasts about seven.

In the big cheerful room where we sat were many evidences of the home-making instinct which "Dolly" Gann carries with her into the imposing hotel suite with its 10 rooms and seven baths. Huge bunches of goldenrod filled the vases. She showed me 10 paving bricks which she had covered with cretonne to hold back doors.

Everybody from the middle west would recognize those bricks. She pointed them out with a hand twinkling with diamonds and a bracelet studded with carnelians which a friend had brought her from Turkey.

It is easy to see why her friends are intensely loyal to "Dolly" Gann.
She has a keen sense of humor, is without affectation and likes people for their own worth. The homemaking instinct which is part of her she spreads out like a downy satin quilt to make soothing comfort for those around her.

In a recent month 11,800,000 barrels of petroleum were produced in Venezuela.

Capital's Social Pace Doesn't Bother Her

GOLD IN NEW GUINEA AIM OF NEW VENTURE

Sydney, Australia — (AP) — Extensive gold mining developments by various Australian and British companies in New Guinea have been stimulated by a merger involving

The new company will operate on alluvial deposits and quartz reefs and will hold valuable timber concessions.
In order to develop these resources to the utmost a railway has been surveyed from the coast to Wau, 60 miles inland and a town site has been projected at the terminus.

Motor roads and a light railway are being surveyed to the top of Edie plateau, 7,000 feet above sea level.

Letters from miners who have gone to this new gold field vividly describe their adventures on the fringe of the unexplored hinterland of New Guinea, a region inhabited by primitive native tribes.

photograph. The sight of a camera or phonograph sends them helter-skelter into the bush. They call at the camps of prospectors and barter foodstuffs for trinkets and knives.

Transport from the fever-stricken coast to the heights of the Edie plateau, where most of the mining ventures are located, is made largely by airplanes.

YES!
"Would you say 'Yes' if I asked you to marry me?" he asked cautiously.
"If I should say: 'Yes,'" she replied, with equal caution, "would you ask me?" — Tit-Bits.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified cresote that is pleasant to take.
Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs cresote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to cresote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the cresote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Young Hotel Chain Head Started As Dishwasher

Atlanta — (AP) — A young man of 34 who started learning the hotel business as a dishwasher will direct construction and operation of the south's largest hotel, a $10,000,000 structure.

He is Carling L. Dinkler, son of the late Louis Dinkler, who founded Dinkler Hotels, Inc. The company operates nine hostleries, six of them in the south, of which the young hotel executive is president.

The new hotel will be the Louis Dinkler, tenth in the chain, and will rise 20 stories on the site of the Aragon hotel, one of Atlanta's landmarks.

The 1,000-room structure will include a garage for 1,000 cars. Rent of the ground over 99 years will amount to $9,100,000. Construction will start March 1, 1930.

Pettibone's Will Open the New Appleton Street Windows This Evening

AN EPOCH-MAKING EVENT in the history of Pettibone's, marking a new era in service to the community as well as a notable contribution to making Appleton's business district both beautiful and modern. For merchandising of a high order is a distinct service to the community and the artistic display of what is new or lovely or authentically fashionable contributes not a little to those higher standards of living which we like to think are so characteristically American.

Nothing finer in display windows is to be found in the smaller cities of Wisconsin. They have been designed by architects of outstanding skill and experience in this particular field. They represent the most modern development in window design. They are suited to the showing of the richest merchandise. More important than these considerations, they are evidence of the progressive spirit of Pettibone's — a spirit which was dominant when the Store was established in 1860 and which continues to be a force to the present day.

The West Wall, Formerly a Mere Expanse of Brick, Is Now Ablaze With Light and Color

The modern trend is toward more color, more light, more life. This is as true for business institutions as it is for individual homes. What better thing could be done, then, than to turn this long expanse of brick wall, so uninteresting to the eye, into a panorama of beauty and color?
The west wall is no longer merely a wall, it's an important link between Pettibone's and the outside world.

The Materials and Labor Used In Building the New Windows Were Furnished Almost Entirely by Appleton Firms

Every bit of material used in the new windows which could be secured in Appleton was bought right here at home. Most of the labor was provided by Appleton contractors. The plate glass, copper setting and transom, and the pressed stone used for the ornamental frame for the windows necessarily had to be purchased elsewhere. It is the policy of Pettibone's to buy at home wherever it is possible.

Appleton Street, Its Growing Business Importance to the City

One of the most interesting phases of the growth of Appleton in recent years is the increasing importance of Appleton Street from a business standpoint. More and more business institutions are being founded along this important artery and the years to come will undoubtedly show a rapid development of the city to the north and west.
Pettibone's is in step with this progressive movement and the new windows will be a factor in enhancing the beauty of Appleton Street.

The 69th Anniversary Celebration A Fitting Time To Introduce This Notable Improvement

Sixty-nine years of successful merchandising for Appleton and the surrounding communities. Years in which new ideas, new plans, new improvements have supplanted those which the progressive spirit of the Store has declared outworn. What more fitting than that this 69th Anniversary should be the occasion of introducing this most notable improvement of many years?

Gorgeous New Displays Against a Unique Background

The window backgrounds are perfectly suited to the display of the finest modern merchandise. They are uniquely artistic. Notice the pleasing combination of walnut panels with the striking zebra wood, a product of South American tropics, so attractively used in pilasters and frieze. The cabinet making is so perfect that it is almost impossible to detect the entrance from the store into the window.

The Finest American and Imported Merchandise Will Be Constantly Displayed in These Windows

Modern merchandising is alive with romance as well as with business possibilities. What a fillip to the imagination to come constantly in contact with lovely things from every part of the world! How fine to be able to display them worthily! The new windows, with their rich, subdued backgrounds, form a setting of dignity and charm — a vital matter in modern display.

Displays of exceptional beauty have been arranged for this premier showing. The windows will be unveiled at seven o'clock
